

11.

C188719

By these measures we believe that the people of Canada, producers and consumers alike, will make available the utmost amount of food this nation of 12 million people can produce to help meet the needs of the people in the less fortunate parts of the world.