Powerful Denunciation of Coercion.

"An extraordinary gathering" (in Mr. Gladstone's words) met in Nottingham on Tuesday. The occasion was the annual meeting of the Natoral Liberal Associa-tion. In the Albert Hall three thousand delegates were a s-mbled from all parts of England and Scotland.

England and Scotland. MR GLADSTONE'S SPERCH. Mr. Gladstone in the course of a more than usually powerful speech said :-- If the English people are incapable of being roused to distrust, sy, and to indignation, by some of the things that have been dene in respect to Ireland within the last dene in respect to ireland within the last three months, they do not deserve the Hiberties they possers (cherre) 1 know persons of great impartiality—law abid-ing British citizens—who upon travelling recently in Ireland were greatously struck with the manner in which the people are treated, with the small respect shown to their feelings, the slight consideration apparent taken of them either as human beings or as citizens. # THE COOLGREANY MURDER

THE COOLGREANT MURDER I take such an event as the shooting of Kupsella, who with others had gathered to obstruct seizure of cattle in the name of the landlord on account of his rent No authority was exhibited to show that per sons who came to seize the cattle were doing so with the authority of the law. One of the peasantry had a pitchfork in his hard and struck with this pitchfork his hard and struck with this pitchfork upon the gate It is evident that he dd not strike any body. There were no fire-arms among the people. There was not a blow struck by the people. There was not a stone thrown by the people; but an emergencymsn upon Kinsella's striking the gate with his pitchfork, shot him dead (eries of "Shame and Murder") But you know as well as I do that no such act could by any possibility have happened is E gland, Scotland, or Wales (hear, hear)

BOY'S ESCAPE FROM BEING SHOT I will mention another event which hap pened at Gweedore, where evictions were going forward. The skent of the pro perty had a loaded rifls on his shoulder the agent, and the agent deliberately pointed his rifle at him, and was about to take aim at him when an officer of the com stabulary ran forward, and put the rifl-up, threw it up, or at any rate prevented the agent from fulfilling his object ( hame). THE GOVERNMENT MOON LIGHTER

I am going to give another illustration of the method of Government carried on in Ireland which we would not on any conditions tolerate in England (beer, conditions tolerate in England (near, hear). You are aware of the deplorable entrage that occurred in county Clare, when Head Constable Weleban wa- unf r-tenately murdered. Well, that was in when how murdered. Well, that was in ennerely murdered, as it was called, on the house of an obnoxious person Now.

REMEMBER MITCHELSTOWN !

REMEMBER MITCHELSTOWN! I was responsible for putting into an answer to a telegram the words, "Re-member Mitchelstown!" (Cheers) And Mitchelstown will, and must be remem-bered, and the country has an account to settle with the Government in re spect to Mitchelstown. When we learned that there had been a meeting, a turnuit, and loss of life as the conse. a tumult, and loss of life as the conse-quence at Mitchelstown, it was in the power of the Government to have depower of the Government to have de-clined the discussion of that matter until it had been judicially examined. The Government did not choose to de-cline the discussion. I lamented the imprudence on their part. I should have been glad to have sealed my own the seal over the base sealed my own lips, and never to have spoken of re-membering Mitchelstown, had not the Government sent forth its deliberate judgment—its solemn, strong, unequiv-cosl judgment—that the proceedings at Mitchelstown were justifiable and right (shame).

THE CONSEQUENCE.

The effect of the proceedings of that act on the part of the Government is that the actions done at Mitchelstown became the actions done at Mitchelstown became the model for the whole country (cheers), and in every meeting in Ireland, however innocent—and this meeting must be taken to be innocent, because the Government did not prohibit it-in every meeting the and not prohibit it—in every meeting the same thing might have occurred under the direct encouragement of the Irish Munis ters, which they received from the ex-pressed words of the Irish Munister delivered in the House of Parliament. Indeed with respect to meetings in Ireland the net has been cast very well. The Attorney General for Ireland stated that any meet General for incland stated that any mea-ing ought to be put down which was called for an improper purpose. Within the terms of that deficition I respectfully submit to you that beyond all doubt the meeting which we are now engaged in within these walls was called for a very improper purpose (loud laughter) For improper purpose (loud laughter) For it was called for the purpose, undoubtedly, of obstructing their action in the adminis-tration of the law as it was understood at M thebetore (descent) M tchelstown (cheers).

THE GOVERNMENT RESPONSIBLE FOR MIT

CHERFURN CHERFURN I am not going over the whole of the deciarations that were made, but I will give you enough to enable you to under-stand why I say that the Government advisedly and unequivocally and uncon-ditionally made themselves responsible for the proceedings at Mitchelstown (cheers). What did Mr. Balfour say when the Nationalist members brought up the more glaring part of the proceedings at Muchelstown? He said the whole action of the police was in face of the most tremendous provocation, and abso-lutely in self-defence. Well, now, gentiemen, though I regret it very much, it has become a matter of solute necessity not only to remember Mitchels town, but even to mention Mitchelstown (cheers). But the sanction given by the Executive Government, of which the power in Ireland is enormous, requires orward declarations, with a view to the formation of a sound opinion in England, o order that the pestilent declaration of Mr. Baltour may not be adopted with great excuse, as they might with great racuse, by his subordinate agents, and may not be a means for further invasion of Irish liberty, and possibly of further destruction of Irish life (cheers) THE BEGINNING OF THE MISCHIEF. THE BEGINNING OF THE MICHAEL Now, gentlemen, what was the begin-ning of the mischief in Mitchelstown i Why, in a meeting not arranged like this comfortably in seats, but in a meeting losely packed together, and standing closely packed together, and standing together in the open air, and amounting to four or fire thousand people, a wedge of fifteen or eighteen policemen were endeavoured to be driven into that meet-ing, with the view of bringing a Govern-ment reporter to the platform. Well, in the first place it is admitted that no such proceeding ever took place in Ire-land before (hear, hear). It is plain, from the instructions contained in the circular of the police, which with great difficulty at the next election. of the police, which with great difficulty and great effort was brought out to pub-lic view (hear, hear), that it was totally out of keeping with those instructions, which invariably contemplated a timely and friendly arrangement for placing the and intendly arrangement for placing the Government reporter in a position to hear the proceedings at the meeting. But, not only was it contrary to prece dent and instruction, but every mai knows who has seen these crowded meetings, that it was contrary to reaso (hear, hear)-that it was physically im possible suddenly for one body of men t force themselves in through the heart of another body of men. It cannot be done and wherever such an attempt was mad In this country you would immediately denounce it as a breach of order, as a breach of public peace (cheers) And it was a breach of the public peace and an infraction of the law which requires order at public meetings (hear, hear). WHAT IS & PUBLIC MEETING ! A public meeting is not an auarchical com bination. A public meeting is not a mob I that the way of accomministering the law in It is an assemblage of rational beings, to Ireland is totally different to anything which, if the invitation be general, every that takes place on this side of the mau has a right to go, and the Govern-Gaannel. It may be said that in all ment reporter, like others, had a right to that takes place on this side of the mean has a right to go, and the Govern-Ghannel. It may be said that in all ment reporter, like others, had a right to go only like share; but the first share of the Govern-ment did undoubtedly lead to and entail mean tagent to the ordinary law. If, instead of appearing to the promoters of the meeting, as they had done before, the method of violence is resorted to, I say that the law was broken by the agents of the law (cheers), and that it is idle to ask the Irish people to obey the law if the Government has agents which break the law by violently breaking the order of public meetings, and who are sustained in that illegal action (hear, hear) Welt, the pollce failed, as they ought to have failed. In driving their wedge right through the meetings they did get a cerfailed. In driving their wedge right through the meetings they did get a cer-tain way, but they did not get through the meeting, the whole mass of assembled human beings. Did they say, "Wby don't we send round for the promoter and arrange for his entering by another method, and not through the mass of the prople." Not they fail hask upon another object.

No; they fell back upon another object. They added forty four poleemen to the fifteen or eighteen that made the original fifteen or eighteen that made the original violent attempt; and then the police charged the people, and began to beat their horses in order to force through them, when a battle took place. The police were beaten. ("Serve them right.") The question is, who is responsible for that battle ? ("Mr Balfour.") The responsi-bility for that battle, in my jutgment, clearly lies upon these who have now declared that they defend this mode of driving in the wedge of police on the dense driving in the wedge of police on the dense masses of the people (cheers).

THE SLAUGHTER, Three human beings lost their lives through the fire of the police. I cannot say three men, for according to the ordinary sense of the word they were not men. Two of them had been men, and had come to harmless old age, and one of them was growing to be a man, and was still in harmless beyhood. Not one of those three persons is alleged to have thrown a stone, or even all ged to have a stick, and what are we to think of two old men who had ceased to be able bodied, and one who was but sixteen years o age—but according to the audacious account of Mr. Balfour, were those por-tions of the mob engaged in throwing stones

AN ACCOUNT TO SETTLE. The proposition I wish to sustain is that In proposition 1 wish to be set there is a very growing account to be settled between the nation and her Majesty's Government with respect to the outrage at Michelstown. I have not named a man in connection anything improper or irregular, but I have said and I say again "Remember Mitchelstown;" for there we have before us a series of facts from which we may reduce almost all that is necessary to launch us into vital political error or to keep us on the road to right and justice The lesson I seek to teach is that ad ministration in Great Britain is one thing, and administration in Ireland is another thing; that administration in Ireland requires to be thoroughly re formed in root and branch, and in my strong conviction it is idle and futile to talk of reforming the administrative Government of Ireland in root and branch without reforming the legislative Govern ment for the local purposes of Ireland, GOVERNMENT BREAKDOWN.

There has been a break lown of th Government in all its essential proceed ings. It has been before us as the champion of the hostility to liberty of the Press and to public meeting (cheers). I take that mode of treating the people of Mitchelstown as a sample of the view taken by her M. jesty's Government with respect to public meetings. It has proved so far as we yet know that the easure of the Government has been drawn with such clumsiness that it is impossible for them to carry into effect the purpose they had in view, and that Mr. O'Brien is master of the field of the present moment-(laughter and cheers) -but, Mr. O'Brien is not only master of the field within doors, but he is master without doors. He has shown that when the Government prohibits a meeting he can hold it, and will hold it, and doe hold it (laughter) On Saturday night he held a meeting at Woodford. It was purse, a large meeting, with a great collection of persons—when a certain number of icemen were present who looked on policemen were present who looked on although that meeting had been pro hibited by them; so that you have a failure in the courts and a failure in the places of assembly (hear, hear). Now after the gross failures of the Govern ment, both in framing the law and m their attempt to administer it, and the definate which has with impulty been exhibited in their case by the popular leaders, the law is in danger, besides teing more than ever hated, of being not only hated but likewise despised. Mr. Gladatone concluded with an eloquent appeal to the electors to do their duty the Rev. F. A. Rassaerts, who died on the evening of Taursday, 27 h ult , at fitteen minutes after six, fortified by the holy rites of the Church, administered by the Very Rev. Dean Laussie of Walker-

ton. The funeral took place on the day before the feast of All Saints and was attended by a large concourse of people of all denominations, who came to pay their tribute to the memory of the de parted, thereby showing the universal esteem in which he was held during his time.

The Very Rev. Vicar-General Heenan The Very Rev. Vicar-General H-enan, in the absence of his Lordship B shop Carbery, who is on his way to the E er-nal Cuy, to pay his homage to the Holy Father, conducted the obsequies and officiated at the solemn requeem mass, a-stated by Rev Father B cohuman, of Mildmay, as descon, and Rev. sive sermon on the occasion. "ne casket containing the honored dead in his privally attire was placed so as to be visible to the multitude present; the interior of the church and especially the altar was deeply draged in commemora-tion of the deceased.

tion of the deceased. The funeral procession to the ceme tery was beaded by Branch No 39 C M B A, consisting of forty members, from Carlsruhe, Neustadt, Mildmay and Formora, and also from Toronto and Walkarton in both and Walkerton, in a body, pr-ceded by their beautiful banner and followed by the deeply sfil cted mourners. Father Rassaerts was born in Riermond, Holland, in the year 1833, and, after very successful studies in his native city was ordained in 1858 and appointed Vicar in Basiloo, where he remained for several years. In 1864 he went to Rome, where he joined the Congregation of the Resurrectionists; from the Holy City he came to Canada in company with Fatners Funcken. After remaining for some time in New Ger-many and Hamilton, he came to the County of Bruce, taking up his residence in the village of Carisrube, where he taithfully duscharged the duties of his holy office for over twenty-two years, until God, in His inscrutable wisdom, called him away to receive his eternal crown. Some filteen years ago he began the erection of the sacred edu fice deficited to St Francis Xavier, h to-day in its completed splendo and solidity bear testimony to his in domnable spirit of perseverance, and the substantial and commodious stone residence erected under his super vision and the beautiful grounds attached thereto, all overlooking the country fai and wide, will remain an imposing and fitting memorial of his successful labors in this part of the Lord's vineyard, which but a few years before was a comparative wilderness

Our lamented pastor was the especial friend of the young, it being his delight to thoroughly imbue their minds with the beauties of our holy religion and make them unwavering soldiers in the cause of Christ. He was of commanding appearance and a truly noble-hearted

Last Sunday evening the congregation of St. Mary's Courch in this city were informed by the Roy. L A Duopby that their relations as pastor and flock would on that day cease. The announcement was, as might have been expected, re ceived with marked and universal evidences of grief. For a period of three years this good priest has performed his duties faithfully and well in the midst of his devoted flock. In all seasons-in the heat of summer, and in the most inclement of wintry weather-Father Dunphy was ever to be found at his post -giving consolation to the sin-laden and the sick and helpless-both in the hos-pital and in their own homes-bringing worldly comforts and a cheering word to the poor and abandoned and lowly. His e nature is of the most kindly and who affectionate type, and kindness and affection has he lavishly bestowed on those who for the past three years have worshipped our Divine Redeemer in the scrupulously neat Redeemer in the scrupilously next and devotional little church on Hill strees, a church indeed that could with justice be pointed at as a model habitation of our Redeemer in the B essed Evolution of the state of the for the for Bacharist. No wonder, therefore, that Bacharist. No wonder, therefore, that many bitter tears were shed on the eve of the severance of ties which has so long bound a faithful and good priest to a pious and devoted congregation. The Rev Father stated that a year ago he had requested his Bah p to give him leave to retire, but at the earnest solicita-tion of His Lordship he had consented to remain some time longer. This request was again renewed on the eve ot the Bishop's departure for Rome, and His Lordship was good enough to give his consent. On Tuesday morning R v Father Dunphy was presented with the following neatly worded address on behaif of the children of the separate school connected with the Sacred Heart Academy :

DEAR REV. FATHER. - As you look upon your intle children all gathered around you now, can you not read the thoughts which language cannot tell? Do you not feel the shartow which is chasing away our juy at the thought of separation ? Music or song would ill become an hour like this. No voice but that of the heart may speak in fitting tones to day. M mory would fain beguile us to linger with the past, She is telling us of a Father's constant care for the little ones of the fold She is counting over and fatigue. She is bidding us treasure in our hearts, and re produce in our daily lives the countless words of life, that fell from his lips. Sue recalls his kindly interest in all our little concerns. his encouragements, his paternal smiles, gratitude, too, demauds a hearing, and calls for a return, but alas; we are only hilden calls for a return, but alsa; we are only children, and we have nought to lay at our Father's feet, still we are long-ing to offer a tribute worthy of his love. Will not the invisible angels come to our assistance? Now gather-ing into one mighty censor all the filtal gratitude and love of the children of the Sacred Heart, may that has it he for the acred Heart, may they bear it before the Tabernacle, there to remain as the con-tinual prayer of grateful and loving children for a dear and deeply regretted

> Rev. Father Dunpby, who was much sflected by this evidence of esteem on the part of the little ones, replied to the address in very feeling and appropriate

Mr. W. H. Smith, the Government eader in the House of Commons, replies to Mr. Gladstone. The latter charged the Ministry with setting the example of lawbreaking in Ireland, to which Mr. Smith says "the Ministry are amenable to the country if it is a law-breaker." What was it, then, but breaking the law for the police to attack with bludgeons a peaceful people, and then to fire upon them when they began to resist, as they did at Mitchelstown? It cannot be said that the Ministry are not responsible for this, for Mr. Balfour, in the name of the Ministry, endorsed the conduct of the police. And now, while several policemen are under charge of wilful murder for this conduct, having been found guilty by a coroner's jury, they walk at large without being arrested! Are not the Ministry responsible for this? The only sense in which Mr. Smith's assertion is true, is that the country, in the shape of an arbitrary majority in Parliament, is ready to back up the Ministry in its most brutal acts: or else that in Ireland there is no law but the will of a barbarous police.

It was looked upon as a foregone conclusion that on appeal Mr. O'Brien editor of United Ireland, would be committed to prison; for the English Government cannot endure the publication of Irish news. He was placed in Cork jail, where the Mayor persisted in visiting him officially, and reporting his treatment to the Council. This so annoyed the Government that, as a piece of contemptble spite, Mr. O'Brien and Mr. Mandeville have been removed to Tullamore, 50 miles from Dublin.

The attempt was made to clothe Mr. O'Brien in the uniform of Tullamore jail, but he resisted: and the prison doctor then directed the governor to desist, on account of the unt vorable state of Mr. O'Brien's health. Mr. O'Brien has been, however, placed on bread and water diet. Mr. Dillou, speaking at Castlerea, entreated his hearers to swear with him that as long as they have life and liberty they will do everything in their power to make suffer the hateful class who have consigned this beloved and gifted Irishman to a felon's cell.

The Daily News says that the absurdity of Mr. Baltour's supposition that he can suppress Ireland is only equalled by the absurdity of the supposition that the Liberal party will remain silent. His ministry must fall amid general laughter or public execrations.

The Governor of Tullamore jail has expressed in strong terms his unwillingness to do any dirty work for the Dublin Executive. He was therefore summoned by telegraph to report himself at the Castle for an interview. He obeyed the summons, but he has not since returned to his post. The Government have evidently dirty work to be done.

Among them was a man paid and em ployed by the police, a man known to be from his confession of the worst character and remember I am now speaking of a case in which no one but the informer and police have had the opportunity of telling their tale. What appears according to the facts before us is that this informer was paid by the police two sums of money immediately before the meeting at which the raid was arranged, and that he went to that meeting. The was not the case of a man who, either struck with conscience or attracted by reward, informs against the with whom he has been in connection This was a case of a man who placed himself in concert with other criminal persons in sons in order to concert and arisinge case which ended in the murder of We don't like dealing with We cannot help it ; but the Wheleban. informers. informers. ### OBITUARY.

THE LATE MR. THOMAS FRANCIS STAFFORD With deep regret we announce the death of Thos. Francis Stafford, formerly a well known resident of Montreal, whi melancholv event took place at Green-wood, N. Y., Saturday night, 29th inst. were he had been sojourning for the benefit of his health Deceased was a William Stafford, of this city. He left here and took up his residence in New York about twenty years ago, where he entered into mercantile pursuits, in which he obtained considerable success. He was one of the brightest, most genial of the young Irishmen of his day in Montreal, many of whom bear testimony to his many noble qualities and sterling worth of character. His darling thought through life was to see Ireland, his native land, take her place among the nations of the earth. This idea with him was almost a consuming passion, and it he has not lived to witness its accomplishment, he had the satisfaction of knowing before he passed away that Irish liberation was in a fair way of speedy fruition. His broth-ers, Henry and Frank, have gone to New York to bring his remains to this city for interment. They are expected back position, his generous assistance being given in an unostentatious manner.

The distressed always received conso lation and relief at his bands; the strugg ling student found himself always bene fitted by his fatherly advice and open

The sufferings which he was called upon to endure in his last sickness were severe, but borne with Christian forti tude and resignation to the will of God indeed his life in our midst to the end was that of the zealous, earnest, self-sacrificing pastor of souls and devoted servant of God.

Being now destitute of a spiritual father we earnestly pray that the great loss we have sustained may in time be alleviated by the appointment of another resident priest to direct us in the way of salvation and dispense the Bread of eternal Life.

My recommendation does not extend to any political bias or views which it may ex--tor with these all are free to agree or differ as they may please -- but to the excellent Catholic instruction and edity excellent Catholic instruction and early ing lessons which in its weekly visits it brings to families. We read in Holy Writ that "they who instruct many unto righteousness shall shine like stars for all eternity. (Dan xii, 3). So also news-papers that abound in good reading papers that ster, and eliminates evil from its col umos, deserves our most cordial and

success, I remain, dear sir, Yours faitufully in Jesus Christ, +JAMES ROGERS, Bishop of Chatham,

On Tuesday evening a number of the parishioners met at the house of Mr. Fin-ley M Neil, where the following address, accompanied by a well-fitted purse of ented to Father Dunph money, was presented to Father Dunp by that gentleman on behalf of the con mittee

REV. AND DEAR FATHER .-- On b-half of the Congregation of S. Mary's Courch, on the eve of your departure from amongst us, we take the opportunity of expressing the very great regret felt by the entire congregation at the everance of those friendly relations which have so long existed between us. From the day yo were first appointed to take charge of th aviritual affairs of this mission it may with truth be said you have in every regard proved yourself a worthy and faithful priest of our holy faith. Not in the broad expanse of this Dominion we feel assured, can be found a parish in which existed a more kindly feeling between pastor and flock. While all your energies wrre employed for our spiritual advancement, special care was bestowed on the proper training of the children attending our Catholic school. Believe party fisher, it is with deschool.

us, rev. father, it is with deep regret we have to bid you farewell Tae good works you have performed in our midst will long remain as evidence of your untiring z-al. Be good en ugh, rev. father, to accept this small token of our esteem and gratitude, and believe us when we say that we tude, and believe us when we say that we will never forget the deep obligations under which you have place i us because of your kind and fatherly interest in our spiritual welfare during the past three

Rov. Father Dunphy replied in the most feeling terms, and promised he would never forget the good people of the parish for this as well as many other acts of kindness which he had received at their hands since he had become pas tor of St. Mary's church.

In conclusion, we may add that not alone those who were under his immediate pastoral charge will, with deep regret, hear of Father Dunphy's depar-ture. In the Cathedral parish, and indeed among all classes of our citizens he was most highly esteemed, and noth-ing save good wishes and fervent prayers for his temporal and ternal happiness will follow him wherever he may labor as a priest of our holy mother the Church.

declared that the Orangemen of U-ster will appeal to the rifle, if the Union be tampered with. When it is considered that the Union will be tampered with only by law, the character of bossted Orange loyalty to the laws may be in ferred.

It is now reported oy cable that prominent Government supporters intend to introduce a new Home Rule scheme, whereby a Cabinet responsible only to the Queen will constitute the Government, while the Irish Parliament to be constituted shall have full powers of Legislation. The appointment of Mr Parnell, Sir T: E-monde and other Liberal and National peers is to gild the pill. T. P. Gill, M P., telegraphs to the New York Tribune that he has seen a draft of the scheme. We feel assured that should it see the light at all it will be received by Liberals and Nationalists with contempt. It is also reported that the Government intend to introduce a land purchase bill.

The Hon. Edward Blake, ex-Cabinet-Munister of Canada, in a speech at Glen Snarrold, the scene of the evictions from the estate of the Rev. John Delmege, a rich landlord of County Limerick, said the evictions enforced by Mc. Delmege were shameful in every detail. It was a burning shame and humiliation, he said, to find man living in luxury while his tenants were in a state of misery, such as should invoke God's curse on its author and abettor. He earnestly advised his hearers to combine against the landlords, declaring that they had everything to justify them in that course in the sight of God and man.

We are pleased to hear that Thes. O'Hagan, E-q, B A, Classical and M dern Language Master in the Mitchell High School, has been elected a mem. ber of the Oslite Society of Montreal, an honor entirely unsought by him.
