OUR BOYS AND GIRLS.

The Sinner and the Sacred Heart.

BY ELEANOR C. DONNELLY. O sacred flames, that dazzling shine From out the Sacred Heart divine, Come, flood this dusky, soul of mine, And fill it with your light! Reveal to me each spot and stain That in its guilty depths remain, Illumine, as with a fiery rain, My spirit's murky night!

t) rosy Wound, whence floweth free, The Precious Blood poured out for me, Give me the sorrow born of Thee, A sorrow deep and true; A supernatural, sovereign woe, (Beyond all grief that mortals know), Which, day by day, shall keener grow, And rend my heart anew:

O thorny crown! O cross, the crest Of this brave Heart, beloved and blest, Implant within my feeble breast A purpose from above. A resolution firm and strong, To shun all sin, to hate all wrong, and persevere my whole life long In God's pure grace and love!

ENVOY .- THE SACRED HEART Come, now, dear child—confess thy guilt within My sweet tribunal. Dost the past deplore? Rgo absolvo te! For this, thy sin, Do penance Go in peace and sin no more:

An Irish Squire's Last Words. When one speaks of O'Connell's popularity a qualification or distinction needs to be noted. It was almost exclusively confined to one section of the nation, though no doubt, counting heads, that was the overwhelming preponderance of the nation. Not only was O'Connell unpopular with the Irish Protestants, he was absolutely a terror to them. Many other Irish national leaders before his time, in his time, and since his time, might be named whose following was somewhat distributed through the various sections, creeds and classes of Irishmen; notably Henry Curran, John Martin, and Isaac Butt. But to the Protestants of his day O'Connell seemed a combination of Guy Fawkes, the Pretender, and the Pope of Rome. While his trial was proceeding, or rather concluding, in 1844, an old gentleman, named Ffolliott — a good type of the staunch old Tory gentleman of the day in Ireland—lay dying in a southern country. "Do you rest all your hopes in the merits of your Saviour, Mr. Ffolliott?" asked the rector, who stood by his bedside. "Yes, I do, all," murmured the dying man. "And are you directing all your thoughts at this moment to the heavenly Jerusalem.

Mr. Ffolliott?" "And no where else." yet?" "Yes sir, about an nour eg. stantly and said with eagerness, "How the trial? Is O'Connell con-?" "Found guilty, sir." Thanks be to God!" was the last pious ejacula tion of the worthy old squire.—A. M. Sullivan's New Ireland.

this

ades etter cor-will

E, MD.

e Alarm d Peals.

NDRY,

CHIMES.

RDS

& CO.

My Little Server.

BY FATHER WILLIAM. I wish you knew my little server. Between ourselves, I think he is one of the brightest chaps that ever counted ten birthdays, and one of the trustiest altar boys that ever donned cassock and surplice, He was ten years old last St. And a sweet valen-Valentine's day And a sweet valen-tine he is to his mother, you may be sure, for he tries to make her happy all the time. And no wonder he succeeds, for his merry face and amiable temper spread sunshine wherever he goes. am ten years old to-morrow," he said to me on that particular birthday, and I am glad of it. I was tired of being nine all the time."

Now, this little server of mine, besides attending to the daily Mass, has another good quality: he is a diligent scholar of the parish school. Nine o'clock every morning, rain or shine, finds hin at his desk, and when the class is dismissed, you will find him the first in those sports and games in which good, healthy boys of his age delight But just as soon as it to indulge. after he had finished supper, out he brings his books and slate, and so earnestly does he work that you would not think he had ever guided a coasting bob down a steep hill in winter, or raised the highest kind of a paper flyer in kite-time.

But, of course, he is not at all perfection, with no failings at all. no; he is only a boy, after all, not an angel. His answers to some of the questions given him at school are not always correct, but they are sometimes very amusing.

The other day, as I was making my daily visits to the class-rooms, I was surprised to see that his face wore a look of indignation, and evidently something had happened in the class-room that ruffled his spirits. In fact, he was as full of "mad" as his little body could hold. The boys in the class laughed at me," he said, in answer to my question as to the cause of his troubled look.

"Yes; they went and laughed right out loud. "I guess you did something to make them laugh," I said.

"No, Father William, I didn't do anything."
"Well, how did it happen?"

"It was in geography class, and Sister Mary asked me what was the principal production of the Sandwich Islands, and I just said 'sandwiches,' and they all laughed."

But my server is a good, sensible boy in the main, and before class was over he had forgotten about his

Some time since in a Western village a few workmen were busily engaged action. They even made it a subject in cutting down an oak tree. One of boast and glorification. the workmen, whose cottage was close The affair shocked my moral sensi-

at hand, called the attention of his fellow-laborers to the singular shape into which the oak had grown. From about half its height it had divided into what looked like two distinct trees, which stood quite apart from one another, forming a "grippelin," or fork like a gigantic clothes-peg. Now it happened that a child, a boy of about four years of age, the son of the same workman, in his play had thoughtessly crept near them without being perceived. Chop, chop, went the hatchets; a crack was heard. "There it goes; look out!" cried the men as they stood clear, when, oh! horror! what does the father see standing im-mediately in the line the tree was taking for its fall but his little son! One cry, and then they cover their faces with their hands; there is no time to do more before crack, crack, crack, and down falls the tree with a thunder ing, smashing noise. It is a moment before they dare to uncover their eyes to see the piteous sight that they imagine must await them. But see how What is it that has happened : There stands the child, pale indeed, and looking very scared, but quite un-injured. The two tops of the tree injured. The two tops of the tree form, as it were, a wall on each side of him, whilst he stands in the fork be tween the branches, untouched by either side! Now, notice this. That very morn ing his mother, when saying their morning prayers, wished to omit some, because she was very busy with her household affairs and wanted to set to work; but this little boy had called out loudly: "Oh, mother! but I must pray to my Angel Guardian;" and so con cluded his customary devotions. Le older folks who go into the woods and elsewhere learn a lesson from this little

THE MASONS.

A Little Light Thrown on Their Ways by a One Time Member.

An ex-Mason writing in the Lutheran Standard (non-Catholic) relates a case in which Masons defeated Justice.

Our story takes us back to the year 1870, and is located in one of the mountainous regions of a neighboring State. I was living then in the town of one and feel at peace with all men?" in which it is situated. Some time genial old fox-hunter. There was a solemn pause. "Mr. Halliday," he half whispered, "is the Dublin mail in yet?" "Yes sir, about an hour ago." S., which was the capital of the county in which it is situated. Some time which I belonged. A railroad was in process of construction through the county, and hundred of men were employed upon it as laborers.

Among the many contractors was a Mr. M. from Ohio. It happened that Mr. M. from Ohio. It happened that one day two of his laboring hands, whilst in a state of intoxication, took it into their heads that they would have some sport. They went to Mr. M's. house, M. himself being absent, to ask the loan of two horses, intending to the loan of two horses, the request visit a neighboring town. The request was refused, and some sharp words hotween the parties. When passed between the parties. When the horses were denied them the men went and took them without permission, mounted them and rode off.

When M. was told of the occurrence, which was soon after, he at once started in pursuit of the men, and soon came up close to them. When they noticed his approach, they dismounted and fled, taking refuge in a farm house near by the road. Coming up to the house M. noticed one of the men at the window. drew his revolver and shot and killed him. The offence committed by the two men was a provoking one, but not such as deserved death. The killing was an unjustifiable act of homicide, and was so viewed by all just and reasonable men, at the time.

The case came up for trial in court in the town of S. attended and watched the proceedings.
The trial attracted a great deal of attention, and was largely attended by grows dark he follows the example of the birds who return to their nests, and people from the town and country. As usual, the sentiment as to the degree of the guilt of the accused was somewhat divided. There were those who pronounced the act one of willful and premeditated murder, while others judged of it with more leniency. There yet was third party, who demanded the man's acquittal, these were the Free-masons. M. himself belonged to the Masonic order. He was a brother of theirs, and, guilty, or not guilty, they were bound to have him acquitted. Being myself a member of the Masonic lodge in S., I had every facility of knowing all the tricks and intrigues that were resorted to by the Masons to clear this murderer.

The sheriff of the country was a Mason; M's attorney was a Mason, and the foreman of the jury was a Mason. All these were instructed to know and do their duty, and they did it. While the trial was in progress, the Masons were busy working up sentiment in favor of the accused. They packed the court-room to impress the jury: they visited hotels and stores, and stood on street corners, to talk up the case of their client. When the final pleading was done they were again at hand, and, with a view of influencing the jury, showed their approval or disapproval of all that was said or done. Meanwhile, few if any of the uninitiated knew or suspected anything of these secret proceedings. All was done in such a manner that no one but Masons knew that anything was going wrong. The end aimed at was accomplished. The murderer was acquitted over he had forgotten about his troubles, and was as light-hearted as ever.—The Orphans' Friend.

A Lesson for the Young and Old.
Some time since in a Western village

A Lesson for the Young and Old.

Some time since in a Western village

A Lesson for the Young and Old.

Some time since in a Western village

Company of the Masons made no concallent of their share in this transportation.

ADMINISTRATION OF THE PARTY

bilities. I asked myself, Is it possible that you are identified with an order that aids and abets the crime of homicide by shielding and protecting the murderer? The occurrence opened my eyes to the enormity of the iniquity of this secret each hound society. But of this secret oath-bound society. But England as long as he honestly could. I somewhat condoned it by thinking it When Newman commenced his semiwas an isolated case, the unauthorized monastic community at Littlemore, work of a few conscienceless men. I have, however, learned better since then. To dispose of a case in the manner above related, is a universal pracmains but scantily described, was a considerable of the constant o tice among Masons, and not in conflict course of prayer, fasting, and study with Masonic law. It is the next thing They rose at midnight to say the Divine to impossible to convict a secretist of Office. They fasted always until noon crime, no matter how guilty he may except on Sundays and great festivals, be. Men wonder why justice so often miscarries in our civil courts. Here and Lent. For a time Lockhart re-

FATHER LOCKHART.

London Catholic News, May 24.

vivors of that great movement which pained by my secession. shook the law established Church in considered himself so compromised by this country to its foundation, and opened to so many a path into the true Church. Father Lockhart, who died last sermon — his last sermon in the on Sunday last, was a typical specimen of the Tractarian convert, but there was is entitled 'The Parting of Friends. an additional feature of interest attach- In more than one place ing to him by the circumstances under which he entered the Church. He had Lockhart's departure. He looked upon entered Oxford in 1828, much as many entered Oxford in 1828, much as many another young English gentleman had his opponents that he was leading his done, without anything in his earlier done, without anything in his earlier disciples out of the Church of England. training that disposed him to Catholicism. Passing down the High street one day with a friend, the latter had," he says, "cared to associate with pointed to a remarkable figure walking along the street with a peculiar gait, "like a man walking very fast in slippers and not lifting his heels." To taken; but we were the outcasts of the continue, in Father Lockhart's own people." Lockhart went straight to words, "It was not dignified; but you saw at a glance that he was a man intent on some thought, and earnest in in pursuing some purpose, but who never gave a thought as to what impression he was making, or what people thought about him." It was of the University, but had never seen him before. By degrees he became atgrowing wider, of followers of the for a splendid object-lesson future Cardinal. At first, drawn growing wider, of followers of the future Cardinal. At first, drawn purely by curiosity, he went to listen to the parish sermons preached every Sunday evening at St. Mary's—sermons which were attended by the flower of the University, and which have been described in glowing language by Sharp and Gladstone. The impression made on young Lockhart was deep and lasting. His impression of them, given lasting. His impression of them, given fifty years after, were as vivid as if but a few weeks had passed since hearing them. "They were wonderful, not because of any studied rhetoric or acts of elevators on the required of their quiet in looking back on this long and wellbecause of any studied rhetoric or acts of eloquence, not because of their quiet earnestness. They spoke of God, as no man, I think, could speak unless God were with him, unless he were a Seer, like the Prophets of old, and saw God." It was but a short step further to become an ardent disciple of Newton become an ardent disciple of Newton become an ardent disciple of Newton become an ardent disciple of were solven best at the epoch of the solven best at the epoch of set forth in the Office for the visitation to him than that what was his gain No Other Sarsaparilla possesses the Com-bination, Proportion, and Process which make Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar to itselt. bination, Proportion, and Process which make Hood's Sarsaparilla peculiar to itselt.

As a cure for cold in the head and catarrh has al Balm is endorsed by prominent meneverywhere. D. Derbyshire, President of the Ontario Creamery Association, says:

"Nasal Balm beats the world for catarrh and cold in the head. In my own case it effected relief from the first application." Sold by dealers or sent by mail on receipt of price—50 ets. and $1 a bottle. Fulford & Co., Brockville, Ont.

A. A. Des Rochers, Arthabaskaville, P. Q. writes: "Thirteen years ago I was seized with a severe attack of rheumatism in the head, from which I nearly constantly suffered, until after having used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil for nine days, bathing the head, &c., when I was completely cured, and have only used half a bottle."

Mr. G. W. Macully, Pavilion Mountain, B. C., writes: "Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil is the best medicine I ever used for Rheumatism. Nearly every winter I am laid up with Rheumatism, and have tried nearly every kind of medicine without getting any benefit, until I used Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil. It has worked wonders for me, and I want another supply for my friends, &c."

Minard's Liniment cures Diphtheria.

that the practice of auricular confes-

and for the first is the secret. The work is done by the dark and unseen intrigues of oathbound fraternities.

mained, but the strain became at last insupportable. He tells us, "At last leading became at last insupportable insupportable insupportable insupportable insupportable." with great grief I left my dear mas ter, and was received into the Catholic Church in August, 1843. Newman and One by one we are losing the sur- Littlemore and Oxford were dreadfully alluded to the shock caused to him by hurt himself. "Few of the friends we us. We had become, I will not say the scorn of men, for most men be lieved we were sincere, however mis-studied for a time, and entered the Order of Charity, after his ordination coming back to England, where he was almost immediately sent on a mis sion through the country. people thought about him." It was Newman. The young student had heard of him as one of the great men of the University, but had never seen him before. By degrees he became athim before. By degrees he became attracted into the circle, which was ever his fellow-men. He was responsible the fountain-head-to Rome. Here he man, advancing with him and relying minds were beset at the epoch of upon his wisdom and inspiration. By the time Tract 90 had been published, the conviction was growing stronger Lockhart himself must be looked on as the conviction was growing stronger every day on young Lockhart and others that Rome was, after all, in the right, and that the Church they belonged to was wrong. Dr. Pusey's sermons on Baptismal Regeneration their secession, and can never again their secession, and can never again server the prestion it once held. Hishad awakened queries in many minds to which no response could be found in the Church of England, but to which the Catholic Church offered satisfactory after long and arduous enquiry and and convincing assurances. A friend heart-searching, were convinced that —who is now known as Father Ignatius they were not in the one and only true death. The killing ble act of homicide, by all just and rease time.

Up for trial in court With many others I Catholic. Lockhart read the book, and for the first time realized they were not in the one and only true Church: and that record cannot be obtained they were not in the one and only true Church: and that record cannot be obtained they were not in the one and only true Church: and that record cannot be obtained they were not in the one and only true Church: and that record cannot be obtained they were not in the one and only true Church: and that record cannot be obtained they were not in the one and only true Church: and that record cannot be obtained they were not in the one and only true Church: and that record cannot be obtained they were not in the one and only true Church: and that record cannot be obtained to church: and the path of and for the first time realized them to an identical conclusion. What Catholic doctrine was, and Many more are still following them that "in the Church of England Prayer Book the whole doctrine of the power of absolution conferred by Father Lockhart may seem to be over, might be the gain of all his fellow-men. May he rest in peace!

power can shut it out forever. He was one who strove after the truth down in the Ordination Service, and power can shut it out forever. He was sion in order to obtain absolution was found it, and no wish could be dearer

RHEUMATISM.—Cot. DAVID WYLIE, Ont., says: ST. JACOBS OIL.

In the morning I walked without pain. MEURALCIA.—Mr. JAMES BONNER, 158 Yonge St., Toronto, Ont., me of neuralgia, and it effectually cured me."

IT IS THE BEST.

SURPRISE

While the best for all household uses, has peculiar qualities for easy and quick washing of clothes. READ the directions on the wrapper. 156 St. CROIX SOAP M'rg. Co., St. Stephen, N. I

PROVINCE OF QUEBEC LOTTERY AUTHORISED OF LEGISLATURE

Next Bi-Monthly Drawings in 1892—June 15th and July 6th and 20th.

3134 PRIZES WORTH - $52,740.00 CAPITAL PRIZE WORTH - $15,000.00

- - $1.00 | 100 999 999

APPROXIMATION PRIZES - - 25 cts. 3134 Prizes worth $52,740.00 S. E. LEFEBVRE, MANAGER, 81 ST. JAMES ST., MONTREAL, CANADA.

ASK FOR CIRCULARS.

Make a Note of it!

When preparing for PIC-NICS, SUMMER EXCURSIONS or CAMPING-OUT always procure some of

It is compact, convenient, always ready for use. It makes delicious Sandwiches, and strengthening Beef Tea.

HOLLOWAY'S PILLS&OINTMENT

Purify the Blood, correct all Disorders of the LIVER, STOMACH, KIDNEYS AND BOWKLS.

Manufactured only at Professor HOLLOWAY'S Establishment, 78 NEW OXFORD ST. (LATE 528 OXFORD ST.), LONDON-And are sold at 1s. 14d., 2s. 8d., 4s. 6d., 1s., 2s. and 3s. each Box or Pot, and may be hear of all Medicine Vendor, throughout the world.

Perchasers should look to the Label on the Pots and Boxes. If the address to not Oxford Birest. Lundon, they are spurious.

GREAT OFFER CAUTION.

The CATHOLIC RECORD FOR ONE YEAR

Webster's - Dictionary FOR $4.00.

By special arrangement with the publish ers, we are able to obtain a number of the above books, and propose to furnish a copy to each of our subscribers.

The dictionary is a necessity in every home, school and business house. It fills a vacancy, and turnishes knowledge which no one hundred other volumes of the choleest books could supply. Young and Old, Educated and Ignorant, Rich and Poor, should have it within reach, and refer to its contents every day in the year.

As some have asked if this is really the Original Webster's Unabridged Dictionary, we are able to state that we have learned direct from the publishers the fact that this is the very work complete, on which about 40 of the best years of the author's life were so well employed in writing. It contains the entire vocabulary of about 190,000 words, incl ding the correct spelling, derivation and definition of same, and is the regular standard size, containing about 309,000 square inches of printed surface, and is bound in cloth.

A whole library in itself. The regular sell-inches of printed surface, and is bound in Cioth.

A whole library in itself. The regular selling price of Webster's Dictionary has here tofore been $12.00.

N. B.—Dictionaries will be delivered free of cost in the Express Office in London. All orders must be accompanied with the eash. If the book is not entirely satisfactory to the purchaser it may be returned at our expense, if the distance is not more than 200 miles from London.

I am well pleased with Webster's Unabridged Dictionary. I find tha most valuable work.

JOHN A. PAYNE, Chatham, Ont.

Address, THE CATHOLIC RECORD,

Men's Underwear ..... 25c. each Balbriggan Underwear .... 50c. each Black Cashmere Socks .... 25c. each

PETHICK & McDONALD.

393 Richmond Street.

COMMERCIAL HOTEL, 54 and 56 Jarry, street, Toronto. This hotel has been refitted and furnished throughout. Home omforts. Terms $1.99 per day. M. DONNELLY. Proprietor

IN BRONZE LETTERS. NONE OTHER GENUINE.

WILSON & RANAHAN GROCERS.

265 Dundas St., near Wellington. NEW TEAS — Ceylons, Congous, Japans, Young Hysons, Gunpowder and English Breakfast. NEW COFFEES-Chase & Sanbourne and New CURRANTS, Raisins and Figs. SUGARS of all grades.

Finest and Cheapest Goods in London ALEX. WILSON, THOS. RANAHAM.

JOHN FERGUSON & SONS. The leading Undertakers and Embalmers. Open night and day.

Telephone-House, 373; Factory, 543. THE DOMINION

Savings & Investment Society MONEY TO LOAN

In sums to suit at lowest rates, and on most convenient terms of repayment. Payments made at the option of the borrower if desired Apply personally or by letter to

H. E. NELLES, Manager. Offices - Opposite City Hall, Richmond st., London, Ont.

SMITH BROS. Plumbers, Gas and Steam Fitters, Have Removed to their New Premises 376 Richmond Street,

Opposite Masonic Temple. Telephone 538