

BRANT HOUSE CLERK HAD HIDDEN MONEY

Confessed After Examination
by Detective—Produced
it From Garden.

BURLINGTON, Aug. 1.—He was rather a pathetic spectacle when they found him, bruised and beaten and still in a dazed and semi-conscious condition, lying outside the Brant Hotel at 5.28 o'clock this morning. Attendants at the hotel rendered first aid to the injured and he was gradually revived.

Then he told his story—this battered and bleeding night clerk and watchman—told it in a dazed and puzzled way, punctuating the tale with groans and sighs.

He was on duty last night—dual duty of clerk and watchman. At a late hour Mr. Charles Harris, who had spent the afternoon at the Hamilton race course, reached the hotel and summoned him to take $1,450 in cash to deposit in the hotel safe. He took the money, he said, and placed it in the safe.

Just at 2.45 o'clock this morning two men, who must have witnessed the transaction, suddenly entered the hotel and held him up at the point of a revolver. They marched him outside, and no sooner had they done so than one of them struck him a staggering blow on the back of the head, felling him to the ground. For a time he struggled manfully, but the assault was too vicious, and he lapsed into insensibility. He remembered no more until they found him after daybreak in a sadly bruised and beaten condition. Incidentally, the whole deposit of $1,450 had disappeared.

There was much excitement and much sympathy for the brave and battered man. Early in the afternoon Provincial Inspector Henry Reburn appeared on the scene and set about investigating. The Inspector seemed much impressed with the watchman's story—so much so that

PRESIDENT'S DAUGHTER HEROINE OF FIRE

MISS MARGARET WOODROW WILSON

Miss Margaret Wilson, daughter of the President, is the heroine of Eaglesmere, Pa., and the local fire department intends to make her an honorary member of the organization. At a fire in a cottage adjoining the hotel at which she was stopping she acted the part of a fireman and braved flames and a rainstorm to help save the goods of the tenants. Miss Wilson was assisted by a half dozen other girls, who, inspired by her fearlessness, worked with no apparent thought of their own safety.

The burned cottage belonged to Mr. and Mrs. W. C. Dodge, of Washington, who are well acquainted with the Wilson family. Mrs. Murphy, their married daughter, was living with them, and her baby, two months old, was carried out of the burning house by a fireman.

he got him to repeat it several times, with all its gruesome and tragic details. The officer also interested himself in the affairs of the watchman, his little cottage home on the grounds and his diligent gardening proclivities.

Then Inspector Reburn had another talk with the watchman. At its conclusion early this evening they summoned Mrs. A. Coleman, wife of the proprietor, to accompany them to the watchman's garden. Here the latter interested the Inspector and puzzled the lady by taking a spade and proceeding to dig. Bye-and-bye he struck something. When excavated it proved to be a package which he promptly handed to Mrs. Coleman. Within was the $1,450 in bills intact.

Mrs. Coleman took the money and Inspector Reburn took the watchman. His name is Fred Cleish and he has a wife and two children. He will come up for trial on Monday next.

How Cleish succeeded in beating himself into a state of semi-insensibility after burying his boots is a mystery. Everyone declares it is an artistic job, and but for the alertness and sagacity of Inspector Reburn would have proved successful.

LLOYD GEORGE ATTACKS LORDS

Delivers Strong Speech Before a Large Gathering in Wales.

(Canadian Press Despatch)

LONDON, Aug. 1.—Mr. David Lloyd George, Chancellor of the Exchequer, addressing an audience of ten thousand people at Carnarvon, in Wales, yesterday, delivered a remarkable speech, in which he made an appeal to democracy against the House of Lords. The Chancellor did not spare language in denouncing the Peers and his enemies among the press, who again seized the occasion to characterize his speech as a further example of "limehouse."

The speaker in demanding the abolition of the Lords said that the Premier had already announced that next year he would introduce a measure for a new second Chamber. It would be a Chamber in which all parties, or sections, and all creeds would have equal freedom.

Another of the Chancellor's utterances was that democracy stood in greater peril than for generations in this country. By-and-bye the Liberal Governments would have no powers except such as the Lords vouchsafed to them. The Liberal Premier would have to go round to Belgrave and ask the butler to tell him "my Lord's orders for the day." The Peers were prepared to resort to violence to prevent the Commons even discussing a measure which they disliked.

Tory Bills Family Affairs
Tory bills were treated as members of the family in the Lords. Liberal measures had to leap viers at intervals unless they were speared in the meantime. There were to be two constitutions, one for "Tory Governments and another for Liberal Governments. The Tories wanted to choose their laws a la carte. The Tories were negotiating revolution, but the men who precipitated revolutions rarely saw them through. No self-respecting country could tolerate any longer the arrogant claim of these Peers that they have a hereditary right without authority from the nation to fashion to their own tastes the ideas and the laws under which 45,000,000 people are governed.

AVIATOR DESTROYS MEXICAN GUNBOAT

The Mexican federal gunboat Tampico was destroyed by a bomb dropped from an aeroplane over Guaymas Har- bor, according to an official message from the constitutionalists.

Didier Masson, aviator, who on June 19 flew over the field at Ortiz and dropped bombs that killed fifty-two men in the command of General Ojeda, made the flight that resulted in the loss of the war ship. He made three journeys over the harbor, it is reported, before he finally landed a bomb on the vessel.

SECTION WORKERS MAKE DEMANDS

Three Thousand Grand Trunk Men Want Better Living Wage.

OTTAWA, Aug. 1.—The labor department has received from 3,000 maintenance-of-way employees of the Grand Trunk Railway, an application for a board of conciliation. The points at issue are wages and conditions of employment. The Grand Trunk Pacific trackmen are not involved. There have been no recent strikes or walkouts of any importance, and where the men have struck in small numbers for increase of wages and shortening of hours there has been little trouble by the railway companies in filling their places under the old working conditions.

For an Organization
Formerly the only redress possible for section men was from the railway companies, and if they declined to listen to the complaints the men had no appeal. It is with a view to changing all this that the men here and elsewhere have been quietly organizing, and the appeal to the labor department at Ottawa is the first step in a campaign to get the same rights for section men as the train men have with regard to employment conditions. There was a walkout of a few maintenance men on the Michigan Central Railway at St. Thomas a few weeks ago, the men asking for an increase over their wage of $1.65 a day, with no reference to length of working hours. The men were given no redress whatever and their places were easily filled at the old conditions.

Big Mill Destroyed.
CRANBROOK, B.C., Aug. 1.—The Standard Lumber Company Mill, two miles south, one of the largest in the district, with a daily output of thirty thousand feet, was totally destroyed by fire. The cause is supposed to have been a hot accentric on an edger machine. The loss is estimated at thirty five thousand dollars, partially insured.

Weston's Walk.
ST. PAUL, Minn., Aug. 1.—With in twenty nine miles of the end of his walk from New York to Minneapolis, Edward Payson Weston left Stillwater, Minn., to-day expecting to arrive in St. Paul late this afternoon. He will remain here to-night and depart for Minneapolis to-morrow morning.
