

All Gone

The $25.00 Parlor Suites are all sold out, but I will promise those who came too late that there will be lots in about two weeks.

At LORD'S

THE CHEAP FURNITURE MAN

Admire our styles. Hats for every body. New Fall and Winter stock. Our artist indicates that one and all are well suited.

CRAIG, The Hatter and Furrier

Next to D. W. Downey's

3 STOCKS

Of Boots and Shoes to be made out to make room for Fall Goods.

D. W. DOWNEY

AGENT FOR BUTCHER'S PATTERNS.

O. W. DOWNEY

ROCKVILLE

Business College

SHORTHAND A SPECIALTY

Send for Illustrated Catalogue for free including where you will go.

Karley & Seymour

ARE FRIENDS OF THE Farmer and Builder

They have the Best Assortment of Hardware, Tinware, Paints, Oils, Varnishes, Galvanized, Glass, Silver, and prices to suit the times.

COAL OIL

Best Quality. Low Price

KARLEY BLOCK ATHENS

JOS. LANE, BROCKVILLE

Carries the LARGEST STOCK OF WATCHES of any house in town

Will be sold right

Repairing by Skilled Workmen Our Specialty.

Give us a call when wanting anything in our line. We can suit you.

LOCAL SUMMARY.

ATHENS AND NEIGHBORING LOCALITIES BRIEFLY WRITTEN UP.

Events as Seen by Our Knight of the Pen.

The entrance examinations to civil service will be held on Nov. 13th.

Car of coarse and fine Liverpool salt just arrived at Mott & Roberson's.

The first heavy frost of the season visited this section on Tuesday night of last week.

Carriage repairing of all kinds done in first class style at lowest prices—at A. James'.

Crossley and Hunter have been invited to Carlton Place. They visit it in 1895.

G. E. Judson is reconstructing his cabinet shop so as to give more space for the display of furniture.

Last week the House of Industry committee met at Athens and staked out the site for the buildings.

$10,000 private money to loan on real estate security. Apply to JOHN CAWLEY, opp. Reporter office, Athens.

Mr. Heber Kilborne is now installed as pastor of the Baptist church at Stunsted Junction, P. Q., where he will remain for a year before resuming his college course.

October 10th, 11th and 12th are the dates of the Provincial Christian Endeavor convention to be held at Kingston. Lord Aberdeen will be in attendance.

Jesse Thomas, committed last week on a charge of stealing a watch, was brought up for trial in the Court House, Brockville, on Friday last and was let go on suspended sentence.

Cash.—$28,000.00 worth of crockery, china and glassware at Bankrupt prices. Sale continues for a short time only—T. W. Dennis, Tea Store and China Shop, Brockville, Ont., nearly opposite the Bank.

According to the report of the secretary, 501 adults and ninety-six children over eight years of age are required to lead a new life as a result of Crossley & Hunter's services at Smith's Falls.

At Portsmouth, Thursday, James Downey was fined $40 and costs; James Johnson was fined $20 and costs and John Byler was fined $20 and costs, for sending adulterated milk to the cheese factories.

At Ottawa fair the aeronaut failed to make proper connection with his parachute and was obliged to cling to the balloon until the rope cut and it descended. He had rather a fast ride to terra firma but escaped without injury.

On Thursday evening Mr. Joseph Crow, residing on the Mallory street, was taken to the hospital so large that the flames made Athletes think that his firm buildings were being destroyed, and he was the subject of many expressions of sympathy.

Remember one of our old reporters, to new subscribers, for balance Bright's Kidney Pills and Tablets. The only of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

A remarkable cure.—A. W. Jennings, Gifford, spent last week $200 and $100 in consulting Doctors; tried Diagnostics and all other treatments but got no benefit. One box of Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills cured him.

The sovereign grand lodge of the Independent Order of Oddfellows is in session at Chattanooga, Tenn. The net increase in the order during the past year is $3,000. It is being introduced into Italy and Sweden, in Europe, and Newfoundland, the only Canadian colony not hitherto occupied. The growth of Oddfellowship in Canada in 1893 was unprecedented.

On the Ottawa fair a stranger with a common pocket knife offered to let a farmer that he could not open it in ten seconds. The farmer, after examining the knife, took the lock and placed all the money he had in the hands of the stranger's companion. He then handed over the knife and the blade opened up with his teeth; but when he looked up to collect his winning he found that the two men had disappeared.

The fall styles from the subject of "styles" for October. It is being prepared the change from the light and cool attire of the summer to the warmer clothing suitable for a lower temperature. What ever is novel and approved is found in the illustrations of this number containing designs for women and children for every part of their wardrobe.

A lion to women at this season are the ten cent patterns sold by the publishers of the magazine and specially intended for the use of their subscribers. "Follies" can be obtained from Newsletters, or direct from Publishers, Publishing Co., 125 West 23rd St., New York. Single copies 10 cent; yearly subscriptions $1.50.

A Moral Influence. From Kempville comes a ghost story of the old fashioned sort. It is said that in the house of a farmer named Cole, a man well-to-do and intelligent, mysterious noises are heard by night, resembling the rattle of wagon wheels. The scene of these strange occurrences is Oxford Mills, a small place not many miles from Kempville. It is said they have been going on these three years, but unwilling to make the objects of rural curiosity, the Coles kept the matter to themselves. The family secret, however, was betrayed by a visitor. Alarmed by a dreadful racket in the dead of night, the stranger hastily inquired the cause. He was told that the mystery of these sounds had never been fathomed. About three years ago, as said, these nocturnal rappings commenced, and every possible means was applied to ascertain and locate their source, without avail, and it was not until all theories and devices had been exhausted that the family agreed that the sounds were of ungodly origin. The rappings were said to resemble the sounds made by a heavy wagon driven rapidly over a long wooden bridge, quite as loud and distinct as if produced in the very centre of the house.

Frankville Fair

A Great Gathering of Farmers and Visitors Assembled at Kitley's Famous

Success, in capital letters, was written over Kitley's annual fall exhibition held at Frankville on Thursday and Friday last.

The weather on both days was superb and the result was a large exhibit and a great crowd of visitors.

It was thought by some that the Lyndhurst fair taking place on the same day would be felt in a decrease of both exhibits and gate receipts; but as a matter of fact the attendance was fully up to the average and though the number of entries fell slightly behind that of last year no one who examined the big display in all departments would have been so sure of the case.

The lower half of the main building contained its usual quota of exhibits, the only decrease noticeable being in the display of flowers, and the very poor light provided was in part accounted for by a wire, and a new big one, should be placed so as to bring the flower stand out of the semi-darkness in which it now rests; then, no doubt, the ladies would more than fill the room.

The roof and gutters were generally pronounced excellent. As usual at this fair, there was a great show of potatoes, over thirty different samples being on exhibition.

Some of them were very large and three were informed, were grown from sample packages sold by Nelson Hawkes, of Athens, last spring.

The show of hard and soft soap was such as to attract attention, and this enemy to the small boy's happiness is far from being a lost art in Kitley.

The exhibit of grain was small but the sample was fair, quite as good as we have seen this year. There was a good display of cheese entered for society and special prizes, but its twin sister, butter, was not very much in evidence.

A generous provision for supplying the needs during the winter is one of the admirable characteristics of Kitley ladies was shown by an immense display of canned goods. They looked very tempting and we were glad that the quantity was quite equal to the appearance. The honey display was the subject of much favorable comment, being very tastefully arranged, under good conditions as to light and fixtures in the new wing of the building. Messrs. W. D. Livingston, F. I. Moore and W. G. Lee were the exhibitors in this department.

Upstairs there was a great aggregation of articles of the lower Everts Domestic manufacturers first claim attention. The white goods were the chief attraction to many, and they were beautiful samples of nineteenth century needlework, and their execution of the work devoted to their ornamentation. Counterpane, quilts and woolen goods were shown in abundance, while in carpeting nearly a score of samples were on display.

Japan and China are trying on war on a gigantic scale. Dutch are having trouble with the Boers in their colonial possessions. Russian troops are pursuing in Chinese territory, a gang of marauders have been driven from the Amur river; French and British expeditions have been dispatched for the purpose of taking possession of some territory in Africa, and France is preparing for operations which are clearly intended to reduce Madagascar to the status of a French colony. There is plenty of inflammable material for a big conflagration.

Fall Fairs. October 24 Lansdowne. October 24 Smith's Falls. October 25

This is Concentration. One pill a day, one box 25 cents. This pill relieves a constipation. One box costs an ordinary case. One pill taken weekly neutralizes formation of uric acid in the blood and prevents Bright's Kidney disease and Diabetes. The only of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The annual meeting of the Athens High School Football Club was held last Wednesday, at which the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Captain, E. King. Field Captain, Ed. Mads. Sec. Treas., M. C. Arnold. Gaudin, Geo. Sharnan. Executive committee, B. McArthur, Hy. Knox, C. C. Nash, Geo. Sharnan. Beaten to Make a Lyndhurst Holiday.

It was with high hopes of victory that Athens baseball team went to Lyndhurst on Thursday last to meet the Westport team in the contest in playing the "rubber" match of the season. The day was fine, the crowd impartial, the ground new to both teams in short, it was a fair field with no favor so that it could reasonably be expected that the best team would win. The game, from start to finish, belonged to Westport, and at the close the score stood in their favor at 12 to 3. It was a very odd ball game, the Athens boys and their defeat by such figures was a great surprise to their friends.

John Chinaman's Novel Oath. A few days ago Ting Kee, a laundryman of Montreal, appeared in the judge in response to a demand for a suit which he had entered for damages to his property. The case was very interesting to the spectators on account of the unique manner in which the Chinese is to take the oath. Ting Kee stepped into the box, a china saucer, by way of potty pattern was handed to him, he broke it on the floor and Judge Jagers retired the following formula: "You swear to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth. The saucer is broken, may your soul be cracked into as many pieces as the saucer is if you do not tell the truth."

Then Ting Kee told his story. Who Tuck, his assistant, took the oath and corroborated Ting Kee's story. In taking the oath he was unfortunate, a piece of the saucer cutting his hand.

An Oxford Mills Ghost. From Kempville comes a ghost story of the old fashioned sort. It is said that in the house of a farmer named Cole, a man well-to-do and intelligent, mysterious noises are heard by night, resembling the rattle of wagon wheels. The scene of these strange occurrences is Oxford Mills, a small place not many miles from Kempville. It is said they have been going on these three years, but unwilling to make the objects of rural curiosity, the Coles kept the matter to themselves. The family secret, however, was betrayed by a visitor. Alarmed by a dreadful racket in the dead of night, the stranger hastily inquired the cause. He was told that the mystery of these sounds had never been fathomed. About three years ago, as said, these nocturnal rappings commenced, and every possible means was applied to ascertain and locate their source, without avail, and it was not until all theories and devices had been exhausted that the family agreed that the sounds were of ungodly origin. The rappings were said to resemble the sounds made by a heavy wagon driven rapidly over a long wooden bridge, quite as loud and distinct as if produced in the very centre of the house.

Frankville Fair

A Great Gathering of Farmers and Visitors Assembled at Kitley's Famous

Success, in capital letters, was written over Kitley's annual fall exhibition held at Frankville on Thursday and Friday last.

The weather on both days was superb and the result was a large exhibit and a great crowd of visitors.

It was thought by some that the Lyndhurst fair taking place on the same day would be felt in a decrease of both exhibits and gate receipts; but as a matter of fact the attendance was fully up to the average and though the number of entries fell slightly behind that of last year no one who examined the big display in all departments would have been so sure of the case.

The lower half of the main building contained its usual quota of exhibits, the only decrease noticeable being in the display of flowers, and the very poor light provided was in part accounted for by a wire, and a new big one, should be placed so as to bring the flower stand out of the semi-darkness in which it now rests; then, no doubt, the ladies would more than fill the room.

The roof and gutters were generally pronounced excellent. As usual at this fair, there was a great show of potatoes, over thirty different samples being on exhibition.

Some of them were very large and three were informed, were grown from sample packages sold by Nelson Hawkes, of Athens, last spring.

The show of hard and soft soap was such as to attract attention, and this enemy to the small boy's happiness is far from being a lost art in Kitley.

The exhibit of grain was small but the sample was fair, quite as good as we have seen this year. There was a good display of cheese entered for society and special prizes, but its twin sister, butter, was not very much in evidence.

A generous provision for supplying the needs during the winter is one of the admirable characteristics of Kitley ladies was shown by an immense display of canned goods. They looked very tempting and we were glad that the quantity was quite equal to the appearance. The honey display was the subject of much favorable comment, being very tastefully arranged, under good conditions as to light and fixtures in the new wing of the building. Messrs. W. D. Livingston, F. I. Moore and W. G. Lee were the exhibitors in this department.

Upstairs there was a great aggregation of articles of the lower Everts Domestic manufacturers first claim attention. The white goods were the chief attraction to many, and they were beautiful samples of nineteenth century needlework, and their execution of the work devoted to their ornamentation. Counterpane, quilts and woolen goods were shown in abundance, while in carpeting nearly a score of samples were on display.

Japan and China are trying on war on a gigantic scale. Dutch are having trouble with the Boers in their colonial possessions. Russian troops are pursuing in Chinese territory, a gang of marauders have been driven from the Amur river; French and British expeditions have been dispatched for the purpose of taking possession of some territory in Africa, and France is preparing for operations which are clearly intended to reduce Madagascar to the status of a French colony. There is plenty of inflammable material for a big conflagration.

Fall Fairs. October 24 Lansdowne. October 24 Smith's Falls. October 25

This is Concentration. One pill a day, one box 25 cents. This pill relieves a constipation. One box costs an ordinary case. One pill taken weekly neutralizes formation of uric acid in the blood and prevents Bright's Kidney disease and Diabetes. The only of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The annual meeting of the Athens High School Football Club was held last Wednesday, at which the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Captain, E. King. Field Captain, Ed. Mads. Sec. Treas., M. C. Arnold. Gaudin, Geo. Sharnan. Executive committee, B. McArthur, Hy. Knox, C. C. Nash, Geo. Sharnan. Beaten to Make a Lyndhurst Holiday.

It was with high hopes of victory that Athens baseball team went to Lyndhurst on Thursday last to meet the Westport team in the contest in playing the "rubber" match of the season. The day was fine, the crowd impartial, the ground new to both teams in short, it was a fair field with no favor so that it could reasonably be expected that the best team would win. The game, from start to finish, belonged to Westport, and at the close the score stood in their favor at 12 to 3. It was a very odd ball game, the Athens boys and their defeat by such figures was a great surprise to their friends.

John Chinaman's Novel Oath. A few days ago Ting Kee, a laundryman of Montreal, appeared in the judge in response to a demand for a suit which he had entered for damages to his property. The case was very interesting to the spectators on account of the unique manner in which the Chinese is to take the oath. Ting Kee stepped into the box, a china saucer, by way of potty pattern was handed to him, he broke it on the floor and Judge Jagers retired the following formula: "You swear to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth. The saucer is broken, may your soul be cracked into as many pieces as the saucer is if you do not tell the truth."

Then Ting Kee told his story. Who Tuck, his assistant, took the oath and corroborated Ting Kee's story. In taking the oath he was unfortunate, a piece of the saucer cutting his hand.

An Oxford Mills Ghost. From Kempville comes a ghost story of the old fashioned sort. It is said that in the house of a farmer named Cole, a man well-to-do and intelligent, mysterious noises are heard by night, resembling the rattle of wagon wheels. The scene of these strange occurrences is Oxford Mills, a small place not many miles from Kempville. It is said they have been going on these three years, but unwilling to make the objects of rural curiosity, the Coles kept the matter to themselves. The family secret, however, was betrayed by a visitor. Alarmed by a dreadful racket in the dead of night, the stranger hastily inquired the cause. He was told that the mystery of these sounds had never been fathomed. About three years ago, as said, these nocturnal rappings commenced, and every possible means was applied to ascertain and locate their source, without avail, and it was not until all theories and devices had been exhausted that the family agreed that the sounds were of ungodly origin. The rappings were said to resemble the sounds made by a heavy wagon driven rapidly over a long wooden bridge, quite as loud and distinct as if produced in the very centre of the house.

Frankville Fair

A Great Gathering of Farmers and Visitors Assembled at Kitley's Famous

Success, in capital letters, was written over Kitley's annual fall exhibition held at Frankville on Thursday and Friday last.

The weather on both days was superb and the result was a large exhibit and a great crowd of visitors.

It was thought by some that the Lyndhurst fair taking place on the same day would be felt in a decrease of both exhibits and gate receipts; but as a matter of fact the attendance was fully up to the average and though the number of entries fell slightly behind that of last year no one who examined the big display in all departments would have been so sure of the case.

The lower half of the main building contained its usual quota of exhibits, the only decrease noticeable being in the display of flowers, and the very poor light provided was in part accounted for by a wire, and a new big one, should be placed so as to bring the flower stand out of the semi-darkness in which it now rests; then, no doubt, the ladies would more than fill the room.

The roof and gutters were generally pronounced excellent. As usual at this fair, there was a great show of potatoes, over thirty different samples being on exhibition.

Some of them were very large and three were informed, were grown from sample packages sold by Nelson Hawkes, of Athens, last spring.

The show of hard and soft soap was such as to attract attention, and this enemy to the small boy's happiness is far from being a lost art in Kitley.

The exhibit of grain was small but the sample was fair, quite as good as we have seen this year. There was a good display of cheese entered for society and special prizes, but its twin sister, butter, was not very much in evidence.

A generous provision for supplying the needs during the winter is one of the admirable characteristics of Kitley ladies was shown by an immense display of canned goods. They looked very tempting and we were glad that the quantity was quite equal to the appearance. The honey display was the subject of much favorable comment, being very tastefully arranged, under good conditions as to light and fixtures in the new wing of the building. Messrs. W. D. Livingston, F. I. Moore and W. G. Lee were the exhibitors in this department.

Upstairs there was a great aggregation of articles of the lower Everts Domestic manufacturers first claim attention. The white goods were the chief attraction to many, and they were beautiful samples of nineteenth century needlework, and their execution of the work devoted to their ornamentation. Counterpane, quilts and woolen goods were shown in abundance, while in carpeting nearly a score of samples were on display.

Japan and China are trying on war on a gigantic scale. Dutch are having trouble with the Boers in their colonial possessions. Russian troops are pursuing in Chinese territory, a gang of marauders have been driven from the Amur river; French and British expeditions have been dispatched for the purpose of taking possession of some territory in Africa, and France is preparing for operations which are clearly intended to reduce Madagascar to the status of a French colony. There is plenty of inflammable material for a big conflagration.

Fall Fairs. October 24 Lansdowne. October 24 Smith's Falls. October 25

This is Concentration. One pill a day, one box 25 cents. This pill relieves a constipation. One box costs an ordinary case. One pill taken weekly neutralizes formation of uric acid in the blood and prevents Bright's Kidney disease and Diabetes. The only of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The annual meeting of the Athens High School Football Club was held last Wednesday, at which the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Captain, E. King. Field Captain, Ed. Mads. Sec. Treas., M. C. Arnold. Gaudin, Geo. Sharnan. Executive committee, B. McArthur, Hy. Knox, C. C. Nash, Geo. Sharnan. Beaten to Make a Lyndhurst Holiday.

It was with high hopes of victory that Athens baseball team went to Lyndhurst on Thursday last to meet the Westport team in the contest in playing the "rubber" match of the season. The day was fine, the crowd impartial, the ground new to both teams in short, it was a fair field with no favor so that it could reasonably be expected that the best team would win. The game, from start to finish, belonged to Westport, and at the close the score stood in their favor at 12 to 3. It was a very odd ball game, the Athens boys and their defeat by such figures was a great surprise to their friends.

John Chinaman's Novel Oath. A few days ago Ting Kee, a laundryman of Montreal, appeared in the judge in response to a demand for a suit which he had entered for damages to his property. The case was very interesting to the spectators on account of the unique manner in which the Chinese is to take the oath. Ting Kee stepped into the box, a china saucer, by way of potty pattern was handed to him, he broke it on the floor and Judge Jagers retired the following formula: "You swear to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth. The saucer is broken, may your soul be cracked into as many pieces as the saucer is if you do not tell the truth."

Then Ting Kee told his story. Who Tuck, his assistant, took the oath and corroborated Ting Kee's story. In taking the oath he was unfortunate, a piece of the saucer cutting his hand.

An Oxford Mills Ghost. From Kempville comes a ghost story of the old fashioned sort. It is said that in the house of a farmer named Cole, a man well-to-do and intelligent, mysterious noises are heard by night, resembling the rattle of wagon wheels. The scene of these strange occurrences is Oxford Mills, a small place not many miles from Kempville. It is said they have been going on these three years, but unwilling to make the objects of rural curiosity, the Coles kept the matter to themselves. The family secret, however, was betrayed by a visitor. Alarmed by a dreadful racket in the dead of night, the stranger hastily inquired the cause. He was told that the mystery of these sounds had never been fathomed. About three years ago, as said, these nocturnal rappings commenced, and every possible means was applied to ascertain and locate their source, without avail, and it was not until all theories and devices had been exhausted that the family agreed that the sounds were of ungodly origin. The rappings were said to resemble the sounds made by a heavy wagon driven rapidly over a long wooden bridge, quite as loud and distinct as if produced in the very centre of the house.

Frankville Fair

A Great Gathering of Farmers and Visitors Assembled at Kitley's Famous

Success, in capital letters, was written over Kitley's annual fall exhibition held at Frankville on Thursday and Friday last.

The weather on both days was superb and the result was a large exhibit and a great crowd of visitors.

It was thought by some that the Lyndhurst fair taking place on the same day would be felt in a decrease of both exhibits and gate receipts; but as a matter of fact the attendance was fully up to the average and though the number of entries fell slightly behind that of last year no one who examined the big display in all departments would have been so sure of the case.

The lower half of the main building contained its usual quota of exhibits, the only decrease noticeable being in the display of flowers, and the very poor light provided was in part accounted for by a wire, and a new big one, should be placed so as to bring the flower stand out of the semi-darkness in which it now rests; then, no doubt, the ladies would more than fill the room.

The roof and gutters were generally pronounced excellent. As usual at this fair, there was a great show of potatoes, over thirty different samples being on exhibition.

Some of them were very large and three were informed, were grown from sample packages sold by Nelson Hawkes, of Athens, last spring.

The show of hard and soft soap was such as to attract attention, and this enemy to the small boy's happiness is far from being a lost art in Kitley.

The exhibit of grain was small but the sample was fair, quite as good as we have seen this year. There was a good display of cheese entered for society and special prizes, but its twin sister, butter, was not very much in evidence.

A generous provision for supplying the needs during the winter is one of the admirable characteristics of Kitley ladies was shown by an immense display of canned goods. They looked very tempting and we were glad that the quantity was quite equal to the appearance. The honey display was the subject of much favorable comment, being very tastefully arranged, under good conditions as to light and fixtures in the new wing of the building. Messrs. W. D. Livingston, F. I. Moore and W. G. Lee were the exhibitors in this department.

Upstairs there was a great aggregation of articles of the lower Everts Domestic manufacturers first claim attention. The white goods were the chief attraction to many, and they were beautiful samples of nineteenth century needlework, and their execution of the work devoted to their ornamentation. Counterpane, quilts and woolen goods were shown in abundance, while in carpeting nearly a score of samples were on display.

Japan and China are trying on war on a gigantic scale. Dutch are having trouble with the Boers in their colonial possessions. Russian troops are pursuing in Chinese territory, a gang of marauders have been driven from the Amur river; French and British expeditions have been dispatched for the purpose of taking possession of some territory in Africa, and France is preparing for operations which are clearly intended to reduce Madagascar to the status of a French colony. There is plenty of inflammable material for a big conflagration.

Fall Fairs. October 24 Lansdowne. October 24 Smith's Falls. October 25

This is Concentration. One pill a day, one box 25 cents. This pill relieves a constipation. One box costs an ordinary case. One pill taken weekly neutralizes formation of uric acid in the blood and prevents Bright's Kidney disease and Diabetes. The only of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The annual meeting of the Athens High School Football Club was held last Wednesday, at which the following officers were elected for the ensuing year: Captain, E. King. Field Captain, Ed. Mads. Sec. Treas., M. C. Arnold. Gaudin, Geo. Sharnan. Executive committee, B. McArthur, Hy. Knox, C. C. Nash, Geo. Sharnan. Beaten to Make a Lyndhurst Holiday.

It was with high hopes of victory that Athens baseball team went to Lyndhurst on Thursday last to meet the Westport team in the contest in playing the "rubber" match of the season. The day was fine, the crowd impartial, the ground new to both teams in short, it was a fair field with no favor so that it could reasonably be expected that the best team would win. The game, from start to finish, belonged to Westport, and at the close the score stood in their favor at 12 to 3. It was a very odd ball game, the Athens boys and their defeat by such figures was a great surprise to their friends.

John Chinaman's Novel Oath. A few days ago Ting Kee, a laundryman of Montreal, appeared in the judge in response to a demand for a suit which he had entered for damages to his property. The case was very interesting to the spectators on account of the unique manner in which the Chinese is to take the oath. Ting Kee stepped into the box, a china saucer, by way of potty pattern was handed to him, he broke it on the floor and Judge Jagers retired the following formula: "You swear to tell the whole truth and nothing but the truth. The saucer is broken, may your soul be cracked into as many pieces as the saucer is if you do not tell the truth."

Then Ting Kee told his story. Who Tuck, his assistant, took the oath and corroborated Ting Kee's story. In taking the oath he was unfortunate, a piece of the saucer cutting his hand.

An Oxford Mills Ghost. From Kempville comes a ghost story of the old fashioned sort. It is said that in the house of a farmer named Cole, a man well-to-do and intelligent, mysterious noises are heard by night, resembling the rattle of wagon wheels. The scene of these strange occurrences is Oxford Mills, a small place not many miles from Kempville. It is said they have been going on these three years, but unwilling to make the objects of rural curiosity, the Coles kept the matter to themselves. The family secret, however, was betrayed by a visitor. Alarmed by a dreadful racket in the dead of night, the stranger hastily inquired the cause. He was told that the mystery of these sounds had never been fathomed. About three years ago, as said, these nocturnal rappings commenced, and every possible means was applied to ascertain and locate their source, without avail, and it was not until all theories and devices had been exhausted that the family agreed that the sounds were of ungodly origin. The rappings were said to resemble the sounds made by a heavy wagon driven rapidly over a long wooden bridge, quite as loud and distinct as if produced in the very centre of the house.

Frankville Fair

A Great Gathering of Farmers and Visitors Assembled at Kitley's Famous

Success, in capital letters, was written over Kitley's annual fall exhibition held at Frankville on Thursday and Friday last.

The weather on both days was superb and the result was a large exhibit and a great crowd of visitors.

It was thought by some that the Lyndhurst fair taking place on the same day would be felt in a decrease of both exhibits and gate receipts; but as a matter of fact the attendance was fully up to the average and though the number of entries fell slightly behind that of last year no one who examined the big display in all departments would have been so sure of the case.

The lower half of the main building contained its usual quota of exhibits, the only decrease noticeable being in the display of flowers, and the very poor light provided was in part accounted for by a wire, and a new big one, should be placed so as to bring the flower stand out of the semi-darkness in which it now rests; then, no doubt, the ladies would more than fill the room.

The roof and gutters were generally pronounced excellent. As usual at this fair, there was a great show of potatoes, over thirty different samples being on exhibition.

Some of them were very large and three were informed, were grown from sample packages sold by Nelson Hawkes, of Athens, last spring.

The show of hard and soft soap was such as to attract attention, and this enemy to the small boy's happiness is far from being a lost art in Kitley.

The exhibit of grain was small but the sample was fair, quite as good as we have seen this year. There was a good display of cheese entered for society and special prizes, but its twin sister, butter, was not very much in evidence.

A generous provision for supplying the needs during the winter is one of the admirable characteristics of Kitley ladies was shown by an