THE PAROLE SYSTEM.

According to the last report issued by the Department of Justice, the parole system is said to be working satisfactorily at Kingston Penitentiary. The system is but a modification of the ticket-of-leave system in vogue in England since 1849. It was initiated owing to the opposition of the penal colonies to the continued transportation of felons. Penal servitude being substituted for transportation, power was given to pardon offenders under certain conditions and to license others to be at large; such license to be revoked if necessary.

The system is said to have originated in Australia under the superintendence of Captain Macdonald. It was much assailed in 1882 on account of violent crimes being traced to "ticket-of-leavers." The law was modified in 1884 by the Penal Servitude Act, and in 1871 and 1879 by the Prevention of Crimes Act. Since then it has been a milder success.

The results in England so impressed the late Hon. David Mills when he was Minister of Justice that he introduced the parole or ticket-of-leave system into Canada with effect. The department claims to be gratifying success. For instance, we find that during the years 1900-05 the number of convicts paroled from Kingston was 712, and from other places of confinement 370. Of these 1,082 prisoners released 76 had their licenses cancelled for non-compliance with the stipulated conditions; 24 had them forfeited by subsequent conviction; 677 completed their periods while on parole, and 325 have still part of their time to put in. In other words, 51 per cent. justified their paroles; 37 per cent. have still a chance to do so without prejudice; 7 per cent. were re-committed within one year; and only 21-4 per cent. relapsed into crime.

The work of parole is under the supervision of a capable officer employed by the Department of Justice and chosen for his intimate personal knowledge of criminal character, and of the working of the prison game missions of the Salvation Army. The difficulty of finding employment by a paroled prisoner is one of the chief obstacles to reform, which, however, is greatly overcome by the efforts of the officer referred to above, one of large experience in the Salvation Army. He knows all the peculiarities of the person liberated on parole, the places each one might be expected to fill satisfactorily, and in a measure becomes surety for good behavior. At the outset of the system in England, no such aid in getting a fresh start in life was provided. The paroled prisoner was left to fight his own way, and his difficulties and disappointments were put into a powerful drama by Tom Taylor, entitled "The Ticket-of-Leave Man," which had enormous vogue at the time.

NEXT WEEK AT THE GRAND.
"Idaho," the title of the play which the H. Wilmut Young's Big Bijou Comedy Company open a week's engagement here with it, as the name would naturally suggest, is a western drama, but differs from the ordinary run of western dramas in as much as there is not a shot fired during the whole play. The Bijou Comedy Company has made rapid strides since its last appearance in this city, and to-day is considered one of the strongest repertoire companies travelling in Canada. G. Steen Flinders, who will be seen as Alex. Fairfax in Idaho, is an English actor who comes well recommended, having been connected with some of the best productions in London and Glasgow, and last year was manager for Marie Tempest throughout the provinces. With actors of this calibre supporting such well known stars as H. Wilmut Young and Margie Adams, the patrons of the Grand may look forward to one solid week of enjoyment.

Following are the plays that will be produced during the week: Monday night, Idaho; Tuesday, The Banker's Daughter; Wednesday, matinee and evening, Nell Gwynne; Thursday, Under Two Flags; Friday, Monte Carlo; Saturday, matinee, The Banker's Daughter; Saturday evening, "Chick."

Popular prices will prevail, 10, 15 and 25 cents. Ladies ticket Monday night.

THE LETTER BOX

RALEIGH FINANCES.

To the Editor of The Planet:

Sir,—Ugly whispers are heard relative to the Township of Raleigh finances. In the writer's opinion the books of the township should be opened to a thorough investigation. It must be understood, of course, that something more is expected of the auditors than an examination that will merely determine the accuracy and business and comparisons of vouchers, with a view to reporting to show expenditures, showing the totals that have been expended.

These are classified as that any ratepayer can make for himself, by taking the data from the published reports. But there should be an investigation more far-reaching. All monies should be traced from the start till it finds its way to the party that is legally entitled to receive it; and if there are any spent townships with a faulty pedigree, which I claim there are—the ratepayers should be it. If the books of the township were put in such a shape as to show exactly what we owe, and what it would take to pay the debt, the ratepayer would have that most satisfactory; but in looking over the auditors' report of 1904 the writer can see nothing but over-drafts and by-laws to raise money. It looks as if the poor fellows either went in for systematic plunder or very bad state. In fact, the report is made up mostly of interest, over-drafts, law, and no one solitary case won by the township solicitor, here are some of the cases that were tried:

Smith vs. Raleigh—Judgment in favor of plaintiff, two hundred dollars, appealed by township and lost.

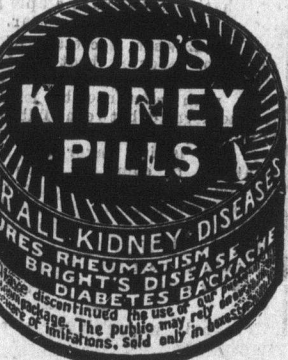

Dolsen vs. Raleigh—Settled out of court, eight hundred dollars; and a great many others, that would be too lengthy for me to write up at the present time.

It looks very much as if the Township of Raleigh is the cat's paw of law for a township solicitor to fleece, or that the parties who report sent the township are not competent to carry on the affairs of the municipality. At the coming nominations the parties who of late have a reputation should be made to tell what they know about all those intricate affairs, and be made to give their views and tell what they know about the financial standing of the Township of Raleigh.

Look at the over-draft on Raleigh Plains drain alone—six thousand dollars! How does this come in? The Treasurer, Mr. Harvey, went to Toronto, the debentures were sold, he got sixty-two thousand dollars. That was sufficient funds to pay for the construction of said drain and pay all the expenses. Mr. Harvey is a man that I have confidence in. He stated to me, when asked how this over-draft came in, that it was squandered.

I would also like to ask someone who ought to know, what became of the two thousand dollars that Mrs. Williams had judgment for? The judgment was for two thousand and four hundred. I got four hundred. Did the Council lay it out on Gov. Drain No. 1? No. Did they give it back to the ratepayers from whom it was collected? No. Well, I just would like someone who knows to tell me what became of it. If it is in the hands of the treasurer, it most certainly belongs to me.
