Editorial Notes

The statement recently made by THE ACADIAN that Wolfville is very inadequately advertised as an ideal summering place was fully established—if necessary—by a conversation which a local merchant had recently with a lady visitor to our town. The lady, who was apparently a somewhat extensive traveller, expressed wonder that she had not before heard of the beauties of this delightful town. It was only by chance that she heard fellow travellers mentioning Wolfville as a place with scenery and decided to make us a brief call. So pleased was she that she decided to extend her visit and after spending three weeks had determined to remain two weeks longer. Wolfville she declared as one of the most charming places she had seen in all her travels and wondered that its citizens did not do more to make its attractions more widely known.

The present season appears to be a most favorable one for the propagation of insect life, and the grasshopper, the house-fly and the mosquito have become a burden to an unusual degree. This last mentioned and most despised is exceedingly in evidence in all sections, and even Wolfville, the favored, has this summer been invaded by the disturber of human comfort. The continuous rainfall which has prevailed throughout practically the whole season is no doubt responsible to a very large degree for the evil. It may be well, however, for those in authority to make due investigation and ascertain if the plague cannot be to a degree otherwise accounted for. The pond at "the bridge" furnishes food for reflection. It may bear no relation, whatever, to the abundant crop of mosquitos but the THE ACADIAN begs to suggest that similar conditions elsewhere in bygone days are said to have produced such a result.

One of the matters discussed at the recent meeting of the Commissioners of Public Utilities held here was the cost of electric current supplied to motors. It was suggested by the management of the hydro-electric company that they were willing in the case of large motors used for industrial purposes to co-operate with the town in making a substantial reduction in order to encourage the use of electric power. It would be decidedly wise both from the standpoint of the company and the town to do all in their power to promote the use of electric motors during the hours of daylight until a sufficient load has been provided to make the service pay. Both might very well afford to provide a reasonable rate, and the town would benefit to a very large degree by the establishment of industrial establishments. In the town of Woodstock, N. B. current for power is furnished by the generators at one-half the price charged for domestic purposes, and the town gives most of the advantage of the reduction to the customer. Wolfville is particularly well adapted for the establishment of many small lines of industry and cheap and satisfactory power would be a great inducement for these to locate here.

Now that such a large proportion of our summer visitors travel by automobile and remain just so long as they are comfortable and something is to be seen or enjoyed, it will be necessary for Wolfville to make some new plans for their entertainment in view of the changed conditions if our town is to continue to be the most attractive summering place in the valley. This year there has been a large influx of visitors and these have unanimously expressed their delight over what nature has provided in this vicinity. We must do our part, however, in the way of comfortable and not too costly hotel accommodation, the improvement of our streets and roads and the providing of such conveniences as they may need. The present season furnishes abundant evidence that now that the world is getting back to normal Wolfville may again enjoy her old-time summer activity interrupted during the war. Among some of the requirements most desirable to promote this end THE ACADIAN would suggest an automobile park in some convenient location where cars may be safely parked, tents pitched and visitors furnished with whatever they may require at a reasonable cost. In many other towns in other lands the auto park has become a regular institution and is widely advertised as an attraction, and motorists on long or short journeys naturally look for it. Now is none too soon to be considering this proposition for next year.

GREENWICH NOTES

The many friends in this place of Mr. and Mrs. J. E. Morse, Kentville, were very sorry to learn of the illness recently of Mrs. Morse, but glad to learn she is much better now. Mr. and Mrs. Morse being former residents of this place for many years, are well remembered with high esteem by all.

Miss Joyce Harvey, who was so successful in the twelfth grade work also the M. P. We feel sure Joyce will make a success in the teaching profession.

Miss Christine Harvey is taking a Business Course at Acadia Collegiate and Business Academy, Wolfville. She was successful with the tenth grade work at Kentville last year, making a high pass mark. We wish her further good success.

in the new course of study.

Miss Rena Cox, who finished the eighth grade work last year, is not attending school this year, but taking a course in basketry, etc. along the vocational line, at the Seminary, Wolfville, going down each day for the study period and enjoying the work.

Miss Annie Pearson, who is taking a year from her school work, is busy with the study of her music.

Miss Bessie Fraser, accompanied by her aunt, Mrs. Eaton, went to Weymouth, Digby Co., last Wednesday, to attend the wedding that evening of her cousin, returning home the next day.

Mrs. J. Kaye and daughter Phyllis, of Jamaica Plain, Mass., who were former residents of Wolfville, arrived on Monday afternoon and are guests of Mr. and Mrs. T. A. Pearson, for a time.

Our school pupils are very busy and interested in the preparations, for their yearly school exhibition, which will be held, we understand, at the usual place in Port Williams, the 22nd of this month. We wish for our school the best of success this year.

Greenwich is very soon to have another of those interesting events, namely, a wedding. One or two a year is the average of this place, the last few years.

Our farmers are very busy picking and shipping their gravenstein apples, which are a good quality this year.

Windsor, Sept. 11.—Another seam of coal has been struck by the Gore Coal Co., it is announced here today, at a depth of 398 feet. The company has been operating a six inch drill in a different place from that last reported and today the intelligence is received that a five foot seam has been struck at the depth intimated. The company will not continue boring, it is said, and in all probability shafts will be sunk and further development undertaken.

The news of the strike has been received with extreme satisfaction in Hants County, suggesting as it does that the local supply of fuel will no longer be uncertain.
