The crowd surrounding the speaker comewhat dispersing, Jack was enabled to make out the squat figure of Nobbles, who assisted by the boy, was busily eagaged loading the musket which had been used with so much effect the night provious at Petcombe Park. A basketini of plaster casts of General Bonaparte steed beside him, while on an empty barrel set on end, shout fifteen paces of, was one of the figures in question.

Jack waited to see no more, but went on elbowing his way through the rollicking, merry making throng, past some strings and droves of horses exhibited for sale, and arrived at the more select and arrived at one of the fair.

Here, in commodious tents and more substantial wooden sheds, were displayed articles of millinery and drapary, lineas, silks, and calicos, fancy work in wool and worsted, expensive trinkets, and chip and wicker baskets of every colour and device.

There was a marked difference also in the company—gentlemen and ladies on horseback, well appointed carriages with their freights of gaily dressed occupants, and a number of decent folk an foot.

His attention was now directed to a stylish mail phaeton and pair which rapidly approached.

The horses, though evidently excited, were under control, and were on the point of being brought to a standstill, when a brass band struck up a noisy air. The horses plunget vidently, and sere about to bott when Jack leapt to their heads.

"Thank ye, young man. You understand this sort of oraft better than I do My stars! I've had a job, with my one arm to manage the ship," oried the cheery voice of Captain Fairfield. "Ruth, lass, you're not frightened?"

"A little, father—only, a little," replied the girl, pressing closer to him, and gazing incredulously at Jack, who stood trembling from head to foot, and who dared not raise his eyes.

ROCKY MOUNTAINS GEOLOGICAL SURVEY.

—Mr. Geo. M. Dawson, of the Dominion Geological Survey, has returned to Ottawa, from prosecuting his geological researches in the Rocky mountains. He states that he and his party, who have been in the mountains since last June, have been finishing the work begun last year to secure the date for a general reconnaisance geological map of the country from the Red Deer river down to the boundary line. The map will be issued this winter. It will be of great service to prospectors in Red Deer river: down to the boundary line. The map will be issued this winter. It will be of great service to prospectors in that part of the country. In Mr. Dawson's opinion it is desirable to have a trigonometrical map of the country, and such a map will likely be prepared before long. The following is from J. W. Ptolemy, of Winnipeg, formerly grain buyer for Wm. Gillespy, of Hamilton and Grimsby: "I was for many years much afflicted, with costiveness, billiousness; and ultimately dyspepsia. I suffered very much and tried many different medicines, which gave me only temporary relief and then I was as bad as ever again. I was recommended by a friend, who had been restored to health by it, to bry McGregor's Speedy Cure. I did so, and it was not long before I felt like a new man, and I have enjoyed excellent health ever since. I first commenced taking it on February th. 1879. Sold by W. G. Smith & Co.

The value of wine, spirits and beer consumed in the United States last year is estimated at over $800,000,000. Within the last forty years the population of the country has trebled, but the increase in the consumption of liquors has been in a very much greater ratio as may be gathered country has webled, but the increase in the consumption of liquors has been in a very much greater ratio as may be gathered from the following figures showing the increase in the number of gallons consumed since 1840. Thus in 1840, there was consumed 71,000,000 gallons of liquor, in 1850, 94,000,000 gallons; 1860, 202,000,000 gallons; 1870, 293,000,000 gallons; 1880, 506,000,000 gallons; 1883, 655,000,000 gallons.
