London Markets, August 21, 1835.

Sugar.—The Sugar market has become very dull, but the prices are fully supported; the estimated sales for the week are 2600 hids and tierces. On Wednesday and yesterday there was little or no business, but this afternoon there is a great revival in the trade; the Refiners particularly have purchased extensively; the sales today are above 1000 hids and tierces, making the purchase for the week about 2600 hids and teres. There is not the slightest alteration in the puolic sale this day, 60 55s a 5-9a, bright brown in Refined there is nearest price for fine Lunps are 6d higher,

The following notice of the proceedings in the Lords on the Irish Church Reform Bill, is copied from Gore's Advertiser of the 27th August:—
House or Lords, Menday.—The House, on the motion of Lord Melbourne, being in Committee on the Church of Ireland Bill.—The neveral clauses down to eight were adopted, after a deutlery conversation and some verbal amendment, to be effect that the tithe, or charge an amendment, to be effect that the tithe, or charge an ascount thereof, he received by the degastment of Woods and Forest, and theme handed over to the Ecclesiantical Commissioners, an arrangement that he believed would be perfectly satisfactory to the Clergy. After an extended conversation, in which Lord Duncannon, Lord Plunkett and other noble Lords took part, the Duke of Wellington said he had no objection to postpone the amendment till they arrived at another portion of the Bill. The clause allowing the opening of the compositions, should that he deemed requisite, also called forth resistance.—There was a division upon it. The numbers were, Ayes 35. Noes 126. Majority against the clause 31.

All the Clauses to 60 inclusive were then adopted. Clause 61, That beginning the series of "Appropriation" clauses, was opposed by Lord Haddington, who moved its rejection, declaring that he should move the rejection of the series. There ensued an extended and animated debate. Lord Plunkett in particular, strongly defeeded the principle of "appropriation," Lord Brough am pointed out the consequence of rejecting such provisions of the Bill: that the clergy of Ireland must be immediately called upon to repay the
