

Week's War News

Montreal, June 24—The steamer Megantic, with 1,800 Canadian soldiers, all from the West, arrived in Liverpool yesterday.

Havre, June 24—Belgian troops operating in German Southwest Africa have captured Kunisenge, an important station on Lake Kiva, the Belgian office announced today.

Copenhagen June 24—Several Italian cruisers have left their base at Taranto for Tenedos Island, to join the Allies in attacking the Dardanelles, according to a Berlin despatch today.

Rome, June 24—An intense artillery battle has developed along the entire Austro-Italian front. The enemy has been shelling the Italian positions in the mountain districts and along the Isonzo for twenty-four hours. The Italians are replying with great vigor.

Tokio, June 24—Official report having been received from Rome that seven German submarines have successfully entered the Mediterranean through the Strait of Gibraltar has caused Japanese companies to issue a warning to all steamers traversing the Mediterranean and also to extend war insurance on vessels from Marseilles to Port Said.

London, June 24—The London Times' military correspondent declares that neither Great Britain nor Russia has yet been able to put their full strength into the field for identical reasons, shortage of ammunition, and owing to this it may be necessary to postpone until next spring the final settlement with the Teutonic powers.

Meaford, Ont., June 24—An attempt to set fire to the Meaford Armories was discovered here yesterday by the caretaker. A can filled with rags, saturated with coal oil, and a fuse with the end burned off, were found on the ledge of the collar window on the east side of the building along with some sticks of kindling wood. Apparently the fire failed to get a proper start as only the end of the fuse was burned.

London, June 24—Discussing the situation which necessitates the Russian retreat in Galicia, the Morning Post's Petrograd correspondent says: "The Russians now realize that the war is still in its preliminary stages. The enemy's national military organization is so admirable and complete that the Allies must have time, many months, perhaps years, to wear down the enormous initial advantages of Germany's aggression. The Russians believe the end is more than ever sure, but still very far off."

Rome, June 25—Two hundred thousand Austrian troops are concentrated around Trieste, according to the Giornale D'Italia, which cited refugees arriving at Ancona as its authority. "Many gun batteries command the approaches to the city," the newspaper asserted. "From the outskirts of Trieste the boom of Italian guns around Monfalcone may be heard. An Italian dirigible recently bombarded and seriously damaged the ammunition factory at Trieste."

Paris, June 25—With fiery liquid and asphyxiating bombs, the Germans are violently attacking the French trenches on the Meuse heights near Calonne. The battle raged all day yesterday and at midnight the enemy re-attacked in large force. The first onslaught drove the French from a row of trenches they captured from the Teutons some time ago, the French troops retiring in good order when their positions were sprayed with liquid flame. Immediately afterward, a counter attack threw the enemy out of the works and they fled with shrapnel beating down upon them.

Safe Landing of the 26th Batt. In Plymouth Harbor

New Brunswick's Fine Body of Men Safely Across Ocean After Ten Days

The St. John Telegraph gives the following account of the sailing of the 26th Battalion, and the Divisional Ammunition Column from that city on the morning of Sunday, June 13th, which will be of interest to many of our readers: The heart of the 'Loyalist City' throbbled in sympathy as the Anchor Line Steamer Caledonia swung out the harbor at 11.30 o'clock on the morning of Sunday, June 13, bearing on her heaving decks, New Brunswick's First Battalion of Infantry, 1,150 in all, commanded by Lieut.-Colonel J. L. McAvity and the Divisional Ammunition Column, commanded by Lieut.-Colonel W. H. Harrison. The crowd on the docks of the Custom House, where the troop ship had been lying, around the Exhibition Buildings has been variously estimated at from 10,000 to 20,000, while the West Side wharves, a point of vantage, were also crowded. All over the city the bare of whistles lasting for half an hour brought people to the roofs with glasses and drained the churches of their congregations, while here and there a gramophone or piano caught up the strains of the National Anthem. The departure of the steamer came as a fitting climax to a feverish two days, which had preceded embarkation. It was not until Thursday, June 10, that members of the 26th Battalion were definitely informed that Saturday or Sunday would be the date of departure. On that day the Caledonia arrived, straight from the Dardanelles with Turkish bullet wounds showing fresh on her work, and after that all heart-burnings on the part of officers and men over what seemed to be unnecessary delay in getting to the front were eased, all doubts and fears were set at rest. Those with friends in the city in the expectation of their being no leave Friday, called to say good-bye on Thursday. The task was hard but in the tear-filled eyes of those who remained there alone always the glory of sacrifice and pride in the manhood of the loved ones while in the hearts of those who were going was a stern determination to go through with the choice to do their duty and on anticipation of stirring events. Friday passed quietly at the armory, with little or no drill and
