A Bond of Unity.

The movement undertaken by the International Magna Charta Day Association has for its initial aim the setting aside of one day in the year "to be observed as a memorial of the great outstanding event in human liberty, the influence of which is felt in every nation."

Seven hundred and nine years ago, in an assemblage at Runnymede the rights and privileges of the people of England were promulgated in a Charter to which their Sovereign Lord was compelled to give his assent.

From time to time other measures have been enacted with a view to extending the liberty of the subject, but one and all of the compilers have found their inspiration in, and have modelled their legislation upon the basic principles laid down in the historic Charter of British Liberty.

In these days when democratic institutions are no longer considered privileges but are claimed as a right, we fail to appreciate how remarkable was the action of those people who compiled the document which has indisputable right to be regarded as the most momentous in the whole of the annals of British History.

The most significant feature about Magna Charta is that it did not profess to introduce novel ideas, but in simple phraseology expressed what were the inalienable rights and privileges of the English people. In sentiment it was democratic without in any sense being revolutionary; it was the common voice of the people of every rank of society, and the fact that it originated with, and was carried into effect by the barons is striking testimony of that mutual sympathy and fellowship which have ever been, and it is to be hoped ever will be the cohesive force which binds together the foundation stones of Freedom and Liberty upon which our constitution has been firmly built.

Since the days of the 13th century, English speaking peoples have established themselves in almost every corner of the globe. Many of them, in spite of their new environment and the distances which separated them from the Mother Country remained loyal to her institutions and her flag; others in course of time became an independent state, but all cherished and jealously guarded the great principles which were their common heritage, handed down to them by the same race.

It is too much to expect that these peoples of the same blood and sentiment, prompted by the same motives, and working for the same objects, should not unite their forces in the interest of humanity and give to the world a lasting peace? With such an idea in view, the Seven Nations, Great Britain and Ireland, Newfoundland, Canada, the United States, South Africa, New Zealand and Australia will celebrate to-morrow as Liberty Day. In the different churches of the Empire and the Great Republic appeals will be made for closer co-operation, and the prayer for unity and concord will be heard with a new significance by the thousands of worshippers, and will strike a responsive chord in the hearts of everyone.

Of Interest to Auto Owners

Goodyear Balloon tires make your car ride much easier, you are cushioned by a yielding pillow of air under each wheel.

Having so much wider surface in contact with the road they give remarkable traction and with their greatly improved cushioning they protect your car reducing vibration, bolts and nuts stay tight, rattles don't develop as quickly.

Goodyear Balloons give at least mileage equal to regular tires and do not puncture as easily; they do not affect gear ratio, power, speed, or hill climbing ability, and can be fitted to your present rims.

Fred V. Chesman of Goodyear Agencies Ltd., will gladly furnish further information regarding interchangeable tires, etc., and to introduce Goodyear Balloons will quote prices very close to those you pay for regular tires, and also arrange for disposal of your old tires.

Goodyear Balloons are on display at J. Coker's Showroom, Goodyear Agencies, Ltd., 178 Water Street, Phone 586-347.

Mr. Weaver letter as read to the committee by W. Varley ran in part, "last fall approximately 32,000 pairs children's shoes of good quality leather and well made in every respect were imported into Montreal. Our Dumb Animals.

REPORT OF CHIEF AGENT FOR WEEK ENDING JUNE 1924. Attended to the landing of twenty head cattle from the "Sable I." All the cattle were watered and taken care of by Mr. Halliday for the St. John's Abattoir Co. Also attended to the landing of 4 carloads cattle at the Railway Station. All the cattle were in good condition and were driven to pasture. I attended two sales of cattle at the St. John's Abattoir Co's yard. All were taken away immediately after the sale. Much difficulty has been experienced in leading these cattle through the streets singly, but the owners do their best to get them along without trouble. The Secretary of the Society has been corresponding with the agents of cattle and poultry which are often shipped here in an overcrowded condition, and they have insisted to give this matter their best attention. I humanely put to death a horse suffering from a fractured hip for a resident of the West End, also a cat for a lady on Pleasant Street, she afterwards subscribing $1 to the Society. Sent in two horses for treatment during the week. It has been remarked to me by a lady who has been a resident of St. John's for five years that she has taken a great interest in the dumb animals of the city, and she feels safe in saying that the horses of this city are to-day in better condition than they were five years ago when she came here. I am pleased to be able to endorse this statement. This is very creditable to owners of horses who are taking increased interest and pride in their teams as evidenced by their better physical condition, grooming and polished harness. The Hon. Tasker Cook, Mayor of St. John's and Mrs. Cook, have kindly placed their grounds Forest Road, at the Society's disposal for a garden party on Tuesday next. It is felt that all lovers of animals be present to encourage the work of caring for those who cannot speak for themselves.

Bring your friends, for Afternoon Tea, to the S.P.A. Garden Party next Tuesday. Tea tables in charge of Ladies you all know.

Misplaced Eloquence

At a race meeting a bookmaker was busy paying out a crowd of impatient creditors, and the combined effect of temperature, avoidpools, and financial losses was beginning to manifest itself in a growing shortness of temper. A few minutes after settling up a very timid-looking man came up to him and, in a trembling half-whisper, said: "I'm afraid there's been a mistake about the money I won." The bookmaker gave a pungent and trenchant summary of the man's intellectual shortcomings. The flow of oratory terminated in one long celestial burst of rhetoric. "The little man was the centre of many pitying glances from the crowd, but he screwed up courage to speak. "Well, I'm sorry, very sorry," he said, apologetically, and with many nervous glances around him, "but you see, you gave me ten shillings too much."

30,000 Miles for an Operation

Mr. P. Lockhart-Mummary, chairman of the British Empire Cancer Campaign, travelled 30,000 miles to the forbidden city of Khatmandu to perform an operation on the Maharajah of Nepal.

According to a member of the party, the trip was full of incident. The engine of the express train carrying Mr. Lockhart-Mummary broke a connecting rod when travelling at fifty miles an hour, which, however, only caused a slight delay.

From Raxaul the party were conveyed by motor car along the dry bed of a rivier running at the base of a deep ravine. A guard of armed horsemen accompanied them.

Later in the day the party were transferred into pilkaks and carried by coolies to Bhi Padi. They were again carried by coolies the next day, and crossed a pass in the Himalayas at an altitude of 8,000ft.

Among the many wayfarers whom they passed were men carrying their wives strapped on their backs. Strangers are not permitted to enter or leave Khatmandu except with the special permission of the Maharajah.

'Some' Fish

No man living has caught bigger fish than Mr. P. A. Mitchell Hodges, the sea angler, whose fame is worldwide. He is fair to admit, however, that even the biggest he has landed—and he has caught a sawfish weighing 5,700 lbs.—are quite small fry in comparison with some fish that other anglers say have got away from them. For instance, a man told a story in his hearing of how he once tackled a fish so big that no ordinary line was any use.

"At last," this champion fish went on, "I tried three-inch rope, and hooked him. He was too strong for me to land, so I tied the rope round a huge oak tree in a field while I went for help. When I got back the fish had gone."
