A Big Audience Will Hear Talmage.

There was a big rush for seats at the Opera House yesterday, and several hundred tickets were sold in a few hours. A few good seats are left. Indications are that Dr. Talmage will be greeted by a packed house to-night This is the first time he has visited London, and people have heard so much of him that they are anxious to see the renowned divine. He is in person a little above medium height, has deep blue eyes, and sandy complexion. His face, in parlor as well as in pulpit, is mobile to the last degree—expressive of not only the difference between the grandestemotions of the heart, but that of the most delicate shades of feeling. He has a warmth of manner and a rush of conversational power which make young and old immediate the tenewith him. In rivertable is here with the form the properties of the tenewith him. In rivertable to the properties of the properties o manner and a rush of conversationar, power which make young and old immediately at home with him. In private life he has more the appearance of an easy, off-hand merchant than of a clergyman. His dress there, as indeed in the pulpit, is exceedingly plain, but always neat and centlement.

by the St. George's Society of Teronto.

To the President of St. George's Society:

By the report of your meeting on Friday last I see that while the attack which Mr. Castell Hopkins was allowed in my absence to make on my character has fallen to the ground, a resolution was passed, pointed at me and condemnatory of political opinious which in common with many Canadian oitizens I hold. The object of the Continental Union Association to my connection with which exceptionis taken, is to procure by constitutional means and with the consent of the Crown the submission of the question of continental union to the Canadian people. If this is treason let the law be put in force against it; unless it is treason let the characters of honorable citizens remain unassailed by reckless imputation. Independence, to which many, including the Premier of our Province, look forward, would be, not less than continental union, the severance of Canada from allegiance to the British Crown.
