atter being housed in an office for a week, to run out to satisfy ourselves of the truth of the many current disparaging comments relative to the above spot. It is to be regretted that such extravagant advertising would be tolerated to gull the pleasure-seeking public without some protective advice from those who have been there; for if a Sunday impression of the spot and its authorities can be monly with the divine law both mat? I think not; if the Street should run cars on Sunday it is o suppose they would run for ore, except for money, would be the grand scheme, and all become of all our laws for of Sunday traffic? All places it right to make money on Suncive would soon lose its good come like many cities in the mach. are all out of the city except two, I have been requested to correct several errors you have fallen into.

In the first place, the Rev. Hugh Johnston and Mr. R. I. Walker w-re not absent when Mr. Adamson, the late choir leader, sent in his resignation. They were both present at the board meeting when Mr. Adamson's resignation was received and accepted. You are also quite in error in saying the church is without a choir, for they have in Mr. Armstrong, the leader of the Metropolitan Sunday School orchestra, an efficient conductor, as well as, a well-equipped choir, of which you can satisfy yourself more fully by attending any of the services of the church.

Mr. Chapleau on Commercial Union.

We find the following in The New York Tribune of Saturday:

The Secretary of State for Canada, J. A. Chapleau of Ottawa, is a well-formed, handsone man, of perhaps 50 years of age, with a smooth-shaven, classical face, iron-gray mustache and long black hair. In manners he is somewhat French and extremely polite. He is at the Fifth-avenue Hotel with his wife and her parents, Colonel C. King and Mrs. King of Sherbrooke, Canada. The party will sail for Europe to-day by the French line of steamers to spend two months in France. Mr. Chapleau in answer to inquiries about Canadian affairs said among other things:

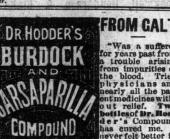

"There is no matter of great public moment at present engaging attention in Canada. There is considerable talk about commercial union with the United States and about reciprocity. But I think, there is a great deal more ras about it on both sides of the line than there is solid progress toward such a union. The statesmen are not inclined to support it."

"What do the statesmen want?"

"Well, I do not think your statesmen are inclined to give Canada commercial union, because they would rather have annexation. Our statesmen are not inclined to have annexation, and there the matter will rest. I am curious to hear from Mr. Wiman what encouragement to hear from Mr. Wiman what encouragement be met with in his tour through Canada. We have heard considerable about Senator Sherman, and the announcement of his proposed visit to Canada this fall has been favorably received."

Mr. Wall was a journalist in Ireland, a fellow prisoner with Parnell in Kilmainham jail, and he accompanied Wm. O'Brien on his crusade through Canada against the Marquis of Lansdowne During the riot at Toronto he was struck on the head by a stone while standing next to O'Brien. Bryan McSwyny made the presentation, which took place at Rogers' cafe, No. 6 Parkplace, and speeches were also made by the Poet Geoghegan, Judge McCarthy, John Mulaly, Major Haggerty, Judge Brown, Z.
