Bome of the Woodbine Stable's string also took their work in the Park. Many lacrosse enthusiasts wended their way to see the new lacrosse oval. President Suckling was there and he proudly pointed fo where the new club house would soon rise. That's been his hobby ever since the scheme was started, and how happy he was when $1500 were raised mainly by his own efforts at the annual meeting last Wednesday night? A brace of amateur baseball matches oc-curred. 'Varsity students to the number of a dozen appeared on the lawn in uniforn and practised batting and fielding. St, Michael's baseball students also had a good practice outing.

A dispute prevented the football match at Old Rossedale, but the round leather was kicked vigorously in this field and also in the Oricket grounds by the ambitious amateurs. The Gore Vales visited Bramp-ton and tasted defeat lively Good Friday ruh. The hounds were thrown off to the north

Direct, Margaret S. and others. "We are carrying this standard business to extremes," he continued, "and the busi-ness of breeding trotters must eventually suffer from it. I expect the breeders of the country to throw up their hands when I say that I do not care a rap for pedigree unless the horse can perform. In our baste to pro-duce extreme speed we are leaving out the important elements of style and roadster qualities. "In my opinion the sure money to be made in horse breeding will be found in producing a superior roadster class, such as we used to have. "Tpresume I hold peculiar views on the breeding question. I want plenty of hold blood in my trotters-the winning blood of the runner as exremplified in the blood of Boston and his great son Lexingtom-blood that can stay four miles at a high rate of speed. Then, as to trotting blood, I want the best, but only enough of it to control the gait. My greatest success as a race-hors-man has been largely due to the fact that my stake winners were fich in running blood. Di rect is bred in that way through his dam, whose sire was thoroughbred Jack Hawkins, like, too, the Thad. Stevens mares which I am breeding to a trotting horse, and from which I expect great results." "What phenomenal horses will you spring on the public for the racing season of '92?" "I have two green pacers that I expect will go out and win some money when the time comes to cut them loose. One is called San Pedro and the other Flying Jio. While meither may be a Direct, I expect them to make a noise. Then I have a Yenture oot that I expect will try to lower the 3-year old record. I do not care to state how fast he has trotted quarters, but he is a goot one." "How about Direct?"

"The owners of Axtell are very conservative men and will take few chances. If the horse proves all right they will seek a match trace, and if they try conclusions I think Axtell will be the two and always stuck to the trot better than Allerton when pressed. With Doble to condition and drive him the chances are greatly in Axtell's favor. I should not be at all surprised if Axtell de thrones Palo Alto before snow fies again."
"Is it true that you have purchased Marshall Hall, on the lower Potomac, and in tend to use the property for breeding purposes?"
