

PUBLIC WORKS TO
BE RUSHED AHEADPremier King's Promise To Help
Unemployed

ANSWERS DEPUTATION

Says Government Cannot Help By Any Other Means

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—(Canadian Press Dispatch.)—Unemployment relief is a provincial responsibility and the Federal Government is not authorized to spend money for that purpose, except indirectly through the construction of public works. This attitude was taken by Premier King yesterday in answer to two separate delegations which waited on the cabinet to urge the necessity for federal intervention unemployment relief.

When the delegation from the Trades and Labor Congress of Canada was presenting its annual legislative proposals to the cabinet, John W. Bruce, representative of the Plumbers and Team Fitters' Union, urged that unemployment relief had become a problem so big as to constitute a national emergency. The Federal Government powers borrowing money which transcended those of the provinces and should take up the task where the province, for lack of money, had been forced to abandon it. The prime minister pointed out that under the constitution of Canada such matters were not within the jurisdiction of the provinces, just as the burden of war debts had fallen to the Federal Government. The latter was faced with the necessity of providing interest on the national war debt, none of which was the concern of the provinces.

CONSCRIPT WEALTH. There was a sharp interchange between members of the delegation and the premier on the question. Returned soldiers and their livelihood were discussed. Hon. Dr. H. S. Bland interjected a reminder that the Federal Government also was paying all the war pensions and similar expenses of the war. Mr. Bruce, however, urged that the unemployment problem called for drastic remedy and suggested a capital levy. "You conscripted men, why not conscript wealth?" he demanded.

The premier replied that he had not conscripted men and the incident closed in general laughter. The unemployment question came up again later in the day when a delegation from Toronto's Hamilton St. Catharines waited on the cabinet to ask federal assistance in those districts. Mr. Bruce, of Toronto, who headed the delegation, urged that the Government should at least proceed with the necessary public works in the Toronto district to provide for unemployment. The St. Catharines delegation, headed by Ald. J. D. Wright, had a special plea. The Federal Government had brought hundreds of men to work on the Welland Canal, then suspended construction in the winter months. Provision for men who were thereby thrown out of employment should not be left to the municipality.

PUBLIC WORKS. Premier King said the Federal Government could not take the responsibility of refusing to allow grants from the treasury for unemployment relief. Everything would be done to expedite the construction of public works, and in this respect the Government had gone a long way in the direction of the Toronto viaduct. But certain restrictions had been placed on the Federal Government under the British North America Act. "Whatever we do for Toronto, Hamilton, and St. Catharines we must do for every town in the country."

The premier deplored the drifting of agricultural workers into the cities. "When it comes to dipping into the public treasury for unemployment relief," said the premier, "we have not the right to do so."

Referring to the Welland Canal, the premier pointed out that the Government did not promise anything of the sort, but he reiterated his promise to do whatever he could to expedite public work construction in these districts to provide employment.

NEW YORK, Feb. 1.—When a water boiler exploded in a Broadway Chinese restaurant yesterday, a Chinaman was blown through a window, several others were injured, and a traffic policeman standing half a block away was cut by flying steel.

The explosion rocked several buildings in the vicinity. Traffic Police Officer Horaty, who was slightly injured, went to the aid of Wong Sing, the Chinaman who was blown through a window to cling, in a semi-conscious condition, to a large electric sign.

RACE ANTAGONISM
IN CANADA DEADHas Been Eliminated, Says Prof.
Caldwell, of McGill

OTTAWA, Feb. 1.—(Canadian Press Dispatch.)—"Only by all working together, and only by our getting over, as we certainly are, our provincialism, sectionalism and alleged antagonism between French and English will we make progress," stated Prof. Caldwell, of McGill University, in his address on "Friendship Between Races" here yesterday before the Canadian Club.

"There is no such thing as a feeling of race antagonism between the average French and the average English-speaking man in this country. Race antagonism in Canada is entirely dead, and no political, educational or national questions should be faced along these lines, and no section of Canada should impute to any other section a desire to work for anything other than the true interests of this country."

Prof. Caldwell, after referring to his stay in Czechoslovakia, where he had induced to go to study the racial, political, social and educational reconstruction questions of Europe, pointed out that dangers of racial conflict in Central Europe were serious if efforts which are now being made to moderate these conditions are not continued and if the new world racial, political, social and educational questions are not solved.

The British Empire was known abroad for the diversity of development it allowed to the different peoples that make it up; but if this was not conserved we would drift apart and go to pieces. "The relations between the different sections of our people," he declared, "should no longer be determined merely by attempts to local definitions, statutes, the B. N. A. Act and so-called politics, but by the necessity of our common life."

GROCCERS SUGGEST
BOARD ON TAXESSupervision of Various Levies
Needed, They Claim.

FIRMS ARE HANDICAPPED

Profits On Groceries Less Than One Per Cent.

Special To The Free Press
TORONTO, Feb. 1.—The creation of a permanent provincial commission upon taxation was the suggestion made by the wholesale trade of Ontario to the Statute Revision Commission, which held its usual sitting on Saturday at the Parliament buildings. Such a body was recommended because of the keen competition existing in business, which has clearly made it essential that Ontario municipalities and the province itself should avoid imposing levies that were more burdensome than those exacted elsewhere. Statistics were cited to the commission showing that Toronto taxes upon wholesale firms were 22 per cent, higher than those of Montreal and 22 per cent, higher than those of Winnipeg.

Interesting light upon the profits upon groceries was thrown during the session by testimony from William Turnbull, of London, president of the Ontario Wholesale Grocers' Association, who recited to the commission the figures disclosed by a survey covering the United States and Canada, made by Harvard University, which showed that the average net profit of the wholesale grocery trade was 2-10/100 of one per cent, and that the average gross profit of the retail trade was 20 per cent, the expenses in this latter case totalling about 15 per cent.

DISCRIMINATION. The presentation for the wholesale trade was made by Hugh Blain, of Toronto, who declared that Ontario imposed an unreasonably and enormously greater municipal business tax than was imposed by any other province and that the Ontario business tax further discriminated because it was often substantially different in different communities, which, nevertheless, afforded practically equal facilities for the conduct of business.

"Altogether," Mr. Blain stated, "the tax is oppressive, unequal and uncertain and is unfair to the Ontario trader." He pointed out that the business tax in other provinces is not subject to fluctuations from year to year as is the case in Ontario. Mr. Blain cited as an example the case of the City of Toronto, which assessed at $161,250 a fund until the 10th day of next session of the State Supreme Court after sentence has been imposed. If the longer delay, it was explained to Thos. Scott, Windsor, Ont., father of Russell, who was asked to hand in a fund until the 10th day of next session of the State Supreme Court after sentence has been imposed. If the longer delay, it was explained to Thos. Scott, Windsor, Ont., father of Russell, who was asked to hand in a fund until the 10th day of next session of the State Supreme Court after sentence has been imposed.

After Judge Thomas Lynch had declared there had been too many delays in the trial of the former Canadian promoter and had refused to grant the longer delay, it was explained to Thos. Scott, Windsor, Ont., father of Russell, who was asked to hand in a fund until the 10th day of next session of the State Supreme Court after sentence has been imposed. If the longer delay, it was explained to Thos. Scott, Windsor, Ont., father of Russell, who was asked to hand in a fund until the 10th day of next session of the State Supreme Court after sentence has been imposed.

ECONOMIC FACTOR. Mr. Blain also believed that the wholesale trade was saddled with taxation beyond the manufacturing industry. He pointed out that the manufacturer was assessed on a 60 per cent, instead of a 75 per cent, basis, even if he should be operating a distilling branch and doing exactly the same work as a wholesaler. He also stated that the manufacturer enjoyed the further advantage of being able to locate on cheap property, whereas the wholesaler required a prominent location upon a principal street.

Mr. Blain stated that the wholesaler is not an economic factor in distribution. Mr. Blain stated, adding: "But we state with the utmost confidence that with intimate knowledge of conditions that in conveying the products of the world from the producers of the world to the consumers of the world there is only one profitable system which embodies safety, economy and convenience, and that system is through the wholesaler and retail trade. All other methods are more or less abortive and furnish only partial service. In this great world-wide movement of products from the producer to the consumer there are two outstanding stations on the way—the wholesaler's warehouse and the retailer's store. Everything that protects and facilitates assembling the world's products in large quantities so as to obtain the lowest transportation charges from the point of production into the wholesaler's warehouse and then delivering them into the retailer's store, is a contributory factor in this system. We gather from all, deliver to all, no other system does. Our system is universal among all civilized people."

"Business, local, national and international, is subject to the keenest competition, and in view of the business tax inequalities in the various municipalities in Ontario, as well as in the several provinces, we would suggest the appointment of an efficient provincial permanent board or commission on taxation with ample authority and means to compare and harmonize the operation of the tax to local and provincial conditions and decide appeals in connection therewith."

WAR-TIME UNITY

Solving Present Issues

PARIS, Feb. 1.—President Doumergue, speaking to-day at a banquet of the Association of Republican Journalists, made reference to the ruin inflicted on France and the destruction of her riches by the World War and the insufficiency of security that followed as giving her a right to ask her friends to understand exactly and with a noble spirit of justice the greatness of the difficulties she has been forced to face.

"The solidarity whence came our victory and theirs in November, 1918," said the president, "ought to be maintained for the good of all."

He cited as proofs of France's deep attachment to that solidarity, her immediate adhesion to the Dawes plan, "striking testimony of her conciliatory spirit," and France's attitude at the last assembly of the League of Nations at Geneva, "brilliant affirmation of her will for peace."

SURPLUS IN N. B. FREDERICTON, N. B., Feb. 1.—The provincial financial statement for the fiscal year ended on October 31 last is published in an extra of The New Brunswick Royal Gazette. On operation of the St. John Valley Railway, which account is kept separately, there was a deficit during the year of $258,252.

On Murder Charge.

Special To The Free Press
CHICAGO, Feb. 1.—Russell T. Scott's motion for a new trial for the murder of Joseph Maurer was continued again yesterday until to-morrow. Absence of Assistant States Attorney Smith was the reason given for the continuance, but the defense wanted it deferred until next Saturday. Important affidavits of newly discovered evidence not in their hands until that date, Attorney Leslie P. Whelan said.

After Judge Thomas Lynch had declared there had been too many delays in the trial of the former Canadian promoter and had refused to grant the longer delay, it was explained to Thos. Scott, Windsor, Ont., father of Russell, who was asked to hand in a fund until the 10th day of next session of the State Supreme Court after sentence has been imposed. NEW ELECTION TO FOLLOW

Judge Believes Disclosures Have Been Sufficient.

Special To The Free Press
KITCHENER, Feb. 1.—The resignation of the members of the Kitchener City Council in a body is now only a matter of hours following the granting by Judge Hearn on Saturday afternoon of a fiat allowing service of motion to make the aldermanic election set aside. The aldermen will be served with the summons to appear at a scrutiny on February 24 to show why they are holding their seats. Rather than incur the risk of having to pay the bills that would be passed by the Council the aldermen will likely take the easiest course and resign their seats, thereby necessitating a new election and making a scrutiny unnecessary. The fiat that has been granted does not apply to the majority nor to the two by-laws that were voted on, as none of these have been in dispute.

The course adopted, however, will not enable the citizens to secure a thorough investigation of all polls because with the resignation of the members of the Council there will be nothing further that can be investigated legally.

FAVORS COMMISSION. The applicants for the recount on Saturday alluded to the fact that the voters wanted a complete investigation, which brought forth the remark by Judge Hearn that they should secure a royal commission for the job as the regular work of the county judge of this county was too heavy to enable him to find time to hold such an investigation. It is, therefore, not likely that any further investigation will be held, although the applicants said that one or two cases of alleged criminality should be placed in the hands of the attorney-general, who ought to make a probe.

Judge Hearn, in granting the fiat, said he had been satisfied that sufficient irregularities had been disclosed to warrant setting aside of election, but he would have to look into the question deeper before he came to a decision.

"I believe that there have been a sufficient number of disclosures to upset the election," he said. "However, I only think so and am not certain. This is a case where the voters are entitled to the hands instead of using the Bible, unfortunately, seems to have become general and the sooner it is gotten away from the better. The cost of the recount will be repaid if it will teach the people how to vote properly and the officials how to properly perform their duties."

RECOUNT STAYED. The recount of the ballots has been stayed by the Judge pending the outcome of the quo warranto proceedings to upset the election. The count of the ballots of the poll that was investigated on Saturday resulted in no change. A few days ago, the deputy returning officer of this poll, Martin Mikel, road superintendent, of the statement made by W. H. Pan, another deputy returning officer, on a stand a few days ago. Pan had stated that he had told Mikel some time after the election in a jocular way that he had marked some ballots himself, his remark being corroborated by another official who claimed the remark of Pan had become general following the conversation with Mikel. Mikel refused the claim that the remark had been made in a jocular way and also that he had been responsible for circulating the rumor about it.

Grand Duke Boris, of Russia (above) has landed in America. How long he will remain is problematical. Representative La Guardia, of New York, has asked that special care be taken in checking up the papers of the grand duke. Boris is the brother of the Grand Duke Cyril, self-proclaimed czar of Russia.

A. C. C. Hahn in connection with the alleged irregularities in the elections were adjourned one week in police court fore on Saturday by Magistrate J. J. A. Weir. Gottfried's counsel, E. H. Dowdell, and the crown counsel, D. S. Bowley, asked for the adjournment, while Nicol Jeffery, counsel for Hahn, was ready to proceed with the case. Gottfried, who is charged with fraudulently altering a number of ballot papers, had his bail renewed for one week. The charge against Hahn is that of unlawfully counseling or producing the commission of offense under subsection A. of section 128 of the Consolidated Municipal Act, 1922, by William H. Gottfried, deputy returning officer. Hahn's bail was also renewed.

He referred also to the recent exchange of notes between the allies and Germany, saying he regretted the tone and temper of the German reply to Chancellor Luther's speech on Friday. "It is not by speeches that great international affairs will be settled," said Mr. Chamberlain, "and I am not going to enter into a controversy conducted in that manner."

PSEUDO AGENT'S
SHOT AT HERRINPoliceman Kills Man Who Posed
As Official.

HERRIN, Ill., Feb. 1.—(Associated Press Dispatch.)—A man who had represented himself as a Government agent and given various names, was shot dead early to-day in the Lyons Hotel by Policeman Rufus Whitson while he was seeking to get in touch with Klan leaders and newspaper men. In the shooting, another policeman, Sam Stephens, was injured, but not seriously.

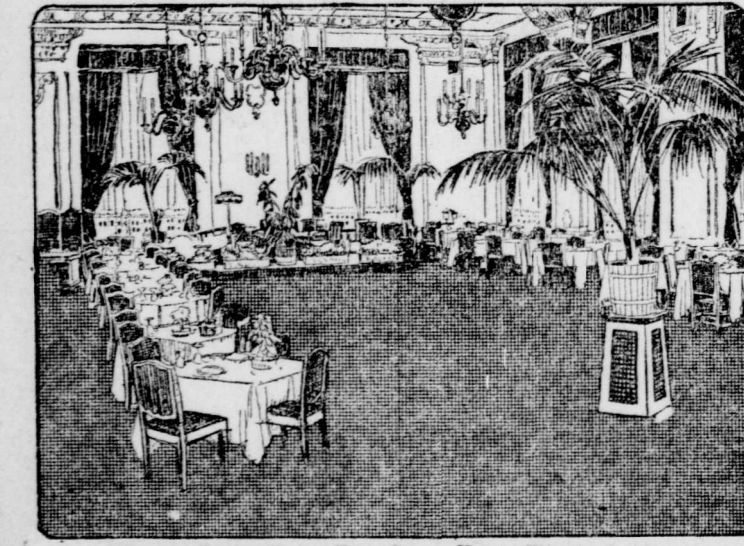

The man slain by Whitson had given his name as Joseph Phillips and also as Johnson and once said that he came from Springfield, Illinois. He was accompanied by two men when he was slain, but they escaped. They were recognized by the officers who were present.

Phillips, when slain, wore a cap the belonged to Sheriff Galligan, of Williamson County, and it was said that he had called on the sheriff several times lately. Phillips and his companions were said to be terrorizing the hotel staff.

Sheriff Galligan, who had gone to a capital to confer with Gen. Black about the need of troops, had said the Phillips had called several times, but did not divulge any particular business. The shooting to-day came on the heels of the slaying of S. Glenn Young, Deputy Sheriff Ora Thomas, who did not divulge any particular business. As soon as their funerals had been held and a coroner's jury had returned a verdict that they slew each other Sheriff Galligan requested troops to return. Herrin to prevent a serious outbreak.

One Class of Food Elements is Your Chief
Source of Bodily Strength and Vigor

If they come to you in the proper form

WHAT is it that enables some people to play as hard as they work? What is it that allows some people to give hour after hour of effort to the day's tasks—without destroying their ability to enjoy life to the full?

Human vigor! Power!

And today we know that not only does our motive power depend directly on our food—but that it comes largely from one class of food elements called "carbohydrates." At least one-third of all we eat should be made up of them.

Yet—and this is what most of us do not know—these foods in the form in which we often get them may be the cause of our commonest troubles. They must come to us in the proper form, or, instead of giving bodily energy and power, they may actually turn into harmful acids and poisons. Grape-Nuts is a perfect source of energy and power. Three-fourths of Grape-Nuts is the precious carbohydrates in the form of dextrine—the most acceptable to your body of all food substances.

Grape-Nuts, made from whole wheat and malted barley, is a wonderfully delicious and nourishing food. Serve it just as it comes from the package, with milk or cream. It is very economical. Four teaspoonsful, sufficient for each helping, costs less than one cent. All grocers have it—in the wax-wrapped package.
