LONDON PRINTERS VICTORIOUS

The Shorter Work Day Conceded After a Brief Strike.

Splendid Results of Thorough Organization

The London Industrial Banner says: The strike of the London, Ont., printers for the eight-hour day was sharp and decisive, and resulted in victory for the printers. The employing printers held out against the reduction as long as possible, but the splendid organization of the local Typographical Union was too big a proposition to get over. The struck shops, with one exception, were among the largest in the city, and when the order was given for the men to walk out they immediately responded. At the present time Lawson & Jones is the only firm where a settlement has not been reached, and it is probable that even before the Banner is in the hands of our readers they may be in line. Less than half a dozen printers, all told, are now out on strike in the city. The Typographical Union is to be congratulated on the brief duration, and will work eight and one-half hours instead of nine until June, 1907, when the eight-hour standard will come into effect without further trouble.

All lovers of fair play should remember that the London Printing and Lithographing Co. is not included in this arrangement. It is a concern that is unfair to organized labor, and has persistently refused to employ a union man. Its staff is bound by contracts that they will have to carry out, and so they will enjoy the distinction of working one-half hour per day more than union printers. Guess they will think up a bit now. Steps are now being taken to organize an Allied Printing Trades Council in London, to include all branches of the printing trade, when it is intended to place the union label of the allied printing trades on all union work, and an active advertising and educational campaign will be undertaken to shove it to the front. In the meantime all business men who believe in well paid customers and fair conditions are asked to patronize the firms that use the union label. The result of the late struggle cannot but be beneficial to the Typographical Union, and the labor movement at large. It is something for the fellows to paste in their head-gear and study up.

A RAILROADER'S PRAYER.

O Lord! Now I have lagged Thee lift my feet from off the road of life and plant them safely on deck of the train of salvation. Let us use the safety lamp of prudence, make all couplings in the train with the strong link of Thy love, and let my headlight be the Bible. And heavenly Father, keep all switches closed that lead off on sidings, especially those with a blind end. O Lord, if it be Thy pleasure, have every semaphore block along the line to show the white light of hope that I may make the run of life without stopping. And Lord, give me the ten commandments as a schedule, and when I have finished the run and have, on schedule time pulled into the great station of death, may Thou, our Superintendent of the Universe, say with a smile: "Well done, thou good and faithful servant. Come in and sign the pay roll and receive your check for eternal happiness."—Ex.

WHAT ARE LIVING WAGES.

A living wage ought to be sufficient to secure for every able-bodied, right-minded, sober and industrious working man: 1. Enough to keep not only himself, but also a family, in a healthy state of mind and body. 2. Enough to permit all his children to take advantage of the public school system. 3. Enough to enable him to acquire a home of his own. 4. Enough to permit him to accumulate a bank account sufficient to furnish some security against sickness and old age. Is there any one prepared to say any working man, no matter how humble his work may be, ought to be content with less? Can we boast of our American freedom if we know that there are not only a few men, but millions of them, whose wage is so meager that it is an absolute impossibility for them to have a home or educate a family?—The Electrical Worker.

Maintain your union and you will maintain high wages.

"Could Not Afford It."

When your child gets ill, what do you do? Wait until "you can afford it" to call in a Doctor, or do you send for him at once?

When your rent becomes due, do you wait until "you can afford it" or do you pay it when due?

If you are a property owner, do you pay your taxes when they fall due, or do you wait until "you can afford it."

3c. A WEEK UPWARD and we call for it.

You meet those obligations promptly, we know, because you HAVE TO. Don't you HAVE TO provide for the welfare of your children after your death?

Perhaps your idea of the Value of INDUSTRIAL INSURANCE, as a method of saving money, and when to take it, need tuning. In that eventuality, drop us a card or call on our Dist. Manager and he will explain why our
