Poetry.

Tired of life, art thon? Tired alway? Then come and rest, dear one-Rest thee to-day,

Flee from the haunts of men.

City and mart;
Lift up thy downcast eyes,
Courage, dear heart! Out from a life of care,
Sorrow and dread;)
Out from all doubt and pain,
Sweet soul be lead.

Out of life's battle-field. Out of the din; O soul, come in.

Into a perfect peace,
Into a rest,
Sweet as a little child's,
On his dear breast. Into a life of joy
That shall endure;

Into unending bliss
Holy and pure. Come then, O fainting soul, Look thou above !

Jesus, thy brother calls, Hearken, dear love! Answer his gentle knock. Open the door; Rest thou in His embrace, Rest evermore.
