

I am not vain enough to suppose that I have done anything specially remarkable in the course of my public life though I do take credit for having during my tenure of office promoted some important reforms and placed upon our statute book a large amount of useful legislation

Very sincerely, Yours,

Wm. L. G. Davis