

SCRAP BOOK.

They went fishing. She looked languidly at him and said, "I wish the fish would bite at your hook. If I was a fish I would."

"What is Heaven's best gift to man?" asked a young lady the other night, smiling sweetly on a pleasant-looking young man. "A Horse," replied the young man with great prudence.

Cardinal Mazarin was one day dictating a letter to his secretary, who fell asleep from incessant work. The Cardinal noticed this after a while and gave him a slap on the ear to awaken him. The secretary returned the blow, whereupon Mazarin, quite unmoved, said: "Now that both are awake let us proceed with the letter."

A person was remonstrating with a friend on the absurdity of following foppish fashions. "They are really contemptible," said he; "and I am sure all who see you must think you ridiculous." "I don't value the opinion of the world," answered the irritated puppy. "I laugh at those who think me ridiculous." "Then you must be the merriest man alive," was the reply.

The first seeds of matrimonial discord are usually sown immediately after going to housekeeping. It is not because the tender wave of harmony no longer pulsates from soul to soul. It is because she insists on his doing the marketing immediately after breakfast on a full stomach, when he doesn't care whether he has a canvas-back duck or a boiled dish rag for the next meal.

It is truly said by some one, that the mysteries of matrimony should be explored with great care. While the bond is only a bean not it can be easily untied, and the consequences are simply a few tears, an hour of parting and a flesh wound in the heart which is quickly healed. But, when the priest puts his hand on the bean and converts it into a marriage tie, then the "richer or poorer," the "better or worse," admits of no compromise.

A physician who lived in London visited a lady who resided in Chelsea. After continuing his visits for some time the lady expressed an apprehension that it might be inconvenient for him to come so far on her account. "Oh, by no means," replied the doctor: "I have another patient in the neighborhood, and I always set out hoping to kill two birds with one stone."

The flirt is the painted hyena of society; the half-dressed, disguised, ravaging wolf of the affectional fold. Her fangs drip with the gore of the footling fond and true. Like the hideous spectre that of the Orinoco, she drains the last purple drop from the veins of her spell-bound victim, while her soft blandishments lull him to rest and fill his dreams with dazzling scenes of beauty and felicity. More cruel than the great war-god of the Aztecs, she feasts upon the torn and bleeding hearts of her own most ferocious worshippers. With savage ferocity she craves the tenderest feelings and emotions of the human soul!

THE MEANEST MAN YET.—Some gentlemen were talking about meanness yesterday, writes "Eli Perkins," when one said he knew a man on Lexington avenue who was the meanest man in New York. "How mean is that?" I asked. "Why Eli," he said, "he is so mean that he keeps a 2 cent piece with a string tied to it to give to beggars; and when their backs are turned, he jerks it out of their pockets!" "Why, this man is so confounded mean," continued the gentleman, "that he gave his children ten cents a piece every night for going to bed without their supper, but during the night, when they were asleep, he went up stairs, took the money out of their clothes, and then whipped them in the morning for being late!" "Does he do anything else?" "Yes the other day I dined with him, and I noticed the poor little servant whistled all the way up-stairs with the desert, and when I asked the mean old scamp what made her whistle so happily, he said, "Why, I keep her whistling so she can't eat the raisins out of the cake."

IT ALTERED THE CASE.—A Detroit Alderman, who is quite notorious for holding that citizens have no rights which the city is bound to care for and respect, was waited upon by a constituent, who passed the time of day and remarked: "Alderman, suppose that an old swill-cart driving past my—" "Swill-carts are a necessary public nuisance, and I can't interfere with them," interrupted the Alderman. "Well, hear me out, anyway. Suppose an old swill-cart comes banging along, the two boys on the seat in a fight, and the horse runs over my nice lawn, bangs into my fence, and three barrels of swill are upset at my gate! Have I any redress?" "Not a bit, sir, not a bit. Accidents will happen in spite of all precautions." The constituent didn't seem to be greatly cast down, but one reason why was because the swill had been upset at the alderman's gate. When the official reached home and saw the muss, he wasn't fifteen seconds deciding that: "This is the grossest outrage of the century, and I'll abolish swill-carts or die in the harness!"

SMALL-POX.

MAJOR J. T. LANE'S

Mic-Mac Remedy for the Prevention and Cure of Small-Pox.

It has never yet failed to effect a cure when properly administered.

Sworn Statement of ARTHUR BRADY, 70 Grafton St., Halifax, N. S.—I witnessed the administration of Major Lane's Remedy to a boy two and a half years old, whose body was a perfect furnace of Burning Fever, his face and his features entirely lost in a COMPLETE HEAP of BLACK SMALL-POX, the disease extending down the mouth and throat, so that when Dr. Morris gave the Remedy, blood came out of his mouth as the medicine went down; yet in twelve hours, so miraculous was the cure, that he fell into a sound sleep and awoke with the disease so subdued, that he began to ask for food, and is now rapidly recovering, to the astonishment of his parents and the whole neighborhood.

For sale by B. E. McGALE, Dispensing Chemist, 301 St. Joseph street, Montreal.
