“Victoria Times” — “It is such a book as one sits up all night to read.”

“Globe” — “Somewhat resembles Nansen's ‘Farthest North’ in its refreshing naïvete and thrilling interest, and, at any rate, bespeaks an intrepidity as admirable as his.”

Humours of '37. Rebellion Times in the Canadas. By Robina and Kathleen Macfarlane Lizars. Price, cloth, $1.25.

“Principal Grant” says: “It is a volume that will add to the literary reputation of the ladies, who throw interesting side-lights on the quasi-rebellions, which in 1837 disturbed the peace of our two great Provinces. The book gives a better idea of the condition of Canadian society when the Queen came to the Throne than perhaps any history of the time does. The scenes of the most interesting stories are laid in Upper Canada. I refer readers to the volume, assuring them that they shall be well repaid.”
