TERRIBLE ACCIDENT AT NIAGARA!-TWO MEN OVER THE PALLS !- PERILOUS SITUATION OF A TRIED! (From the Globe)

The most intense excitement was created at Niagara this morning by the startling intelligence that a man was in the midst of the rapids, within a few feet of the Falls, in the midst of the rapids, within a few feet of the Falls, clinging for life to a frail stump, against which in his perilous descent of the rapids, he had been thrown. As soon as the terrible news became known, hundreds of persons hurried to the spot and the report was found to be too true. Upon enquiry it was ascertained that the peor fellow was one of three men belonging to a scow used for taking sand down the river who had got into a small boat attached to the scow about nine o'clock last evening, and having by some means become separated therefrom, were hurried laws the rapids. The host was of course speedile. down the rapids. The boat was of course speedily swamped, and the men cast into the water: two of them being at once carried over the Falls to their dreadful fate, and the other by chance striking and clinging to a stump about midway between the fulls and Goat Island bridge. At daylight this morning, this poor fellow was discovered At daying this informat, has poor fellow was discovered in his perilous situation, and it was speedily found that his rescue was almost impossible, since that no boat could be procured which would float a moment in the rapids without being swamped and overturned. A despatch was immediately sent to this city by express for a life boat, and one was sent by express over the railroad without delay. In the mean time a box containing tefreshments was attempted to be floated to the poor fellow, who had clung with despera-tion to hisfrail support, in the midst of the dizzying, whirling rapids and within hearing of the roar of the cataract over which at any moment he might be hurled, for upwards of twenty-four hours! What was the result of the attempt we are not informed. "Several gentlemen offered most liberal rewards to any individual who would succeed in rescuing him. Among those humane and praiseworthy persons was a merchant of the village of Manchester, who offered the munificent those humane and praiseworthy persons was a merchant of the village of Manchester, who offered the munificent sum of $1000 to the party who should be instrumental in rescuing the man from his awfully perilous position Means were at once taken to relieve him, if possible-boats rafts, &c. were lowered, but were as quickly swallowed up in the boiling surge. After several fruitless attempts a life boat brought from Buffalo for the occasion, was hanched, and at length reached the log. Hope was warmly cherished by the thousands of individuals collected on shore; but it was observed that something had evidently caught the rope connecting the boat, as it could not be moved, and the man was to be observed stepping from the boat to the log and vice verst, catching hold of the rope and endeavouring to loose it. As no verbal communication could be carried on with the man, from the rope and endeavouring to loose it. As no verbal communication could be carried on with the man, from the rescribed by those on shore, was only equalled by the man's consciousness of his own awful position. From constantly step ping backward and forward it was plainly perceptible that he was partially insone or bewildered. About six o'clock on Tuesday alternoon he gat on a raft and floated some distance from his former position. All was joy as the raft seened to buffet the current for some time, but scarcely a few seconds had elapsed before he dropped from his support into the water current for some time, but scarcely a few seconds had chapted before he dropped from his support into the water the raft coming in contact with a boat. A solemn silence now pervaded the anxious crowd collected on the adjoining banks; after the lapse of a few seconds the wretched man was again seen stemming the turbulent waters, but rapidly seraing the edge of the Fall—ere long he reached the brink of that awful precipice—alive—and in presence of shousands of his fellow beings he was precipitated into the bailing objects houses hands by

boiling abyss beneath." THE LATE SIR JAMES STUART, BARONET, CHIEF JUSTICE

It is our melancholy duty as chroniclers of public events, including public calamities, to record this day the decease of the Hon. Sir James Stuart, Baronet, Chief Justice of the Province of Lower Cauada, who after a brief illness, departed this life at an early hour this morning, at his residence in St. Ursule street.

The late Chief Justice was one of those men who are great not relatively or locally but by the force of their own minds, an intellect of the highest order, an integrity above suspicion, and an intrepidity which nothing could shake; these were his characteristics. He was, in a war of the ladge and on the Banch and in the Bar word, a perfect Judge, and on the Beach and in the Bar of Canada there was none equal to him and none second to him; whoever succeeds to his seat will have a position of no ordinary difficulty to contend with for he will sit in the shadow of a great man, and on his alightest sin of omission will come down the heavy visitation of com-parison—the vulgar and the learned alike will say, "it would not have been so, were Sir James alive."-Quebec Mercury.

THE LATE SIR JAMES STUART .- At a meeting of the THE LATE SIR JAMES STURRY.—At a meeting of the Montreal section of the Bar of Lower Canada, held at the Council Room in the Court House of that city, on the 18th day of July, 1853, in order to adopt measures expressive of respect for the memory of the late Sir James Stuart, late Chief Justice of the Court of Queen's Bench and Appeals in Lower Canada,

The following resolutions were adopted:—

Reofred,—That the members of the Montreal section of the Bar bave received with emotions of deep regret, the intelligence of the death of the late Chief Justice, Sir James Stuart, who, for several veget past, has occurried be note:

Resolved .- That his knowledge, abilities and deep leating in his profession obtained for him the respect of the Bar, whilst his integrity in his judicial office secured for him the confidence of the public generally.

Residuel,—I'hat the members of t'is section tender to the family of the Chief Justice, the expression of their sympathy and condolence.

Resolved,—That they will wear the usual badge of mourning for one month, in testimony of their respect.

Resolved,—That a copy of these Resolutions be transmitted to the family of the deceased, and to the other Bar sections of Lower Canada. It appears to be the general feeling in Lower Canada that the Chief Justice has not left one man behind him that can fill his place. Possessed of a naturally powerful mind, he cultivated it to a high degree, and earned for himself the highest professional eminence. A Quebec namer save of him:

paper says of him:—
"The late Chief Justice was one of those men, who are own minds, an intellect of the highest order, an integrity above suspicion and an intrepidity which nothing could shake.

He was a man whose character recalls the great scenes of English history, and the "High Justices" of the English nation. He was fit to have sat with Coke, Markham, Gascuigne, or Fortescue.

Gascuigne, or Fortescue."

A Montreal paper adds:

"Since his appointment to a seat in our highest Court of Justice, he has adorned the Bench by a series of decisions distinguished as much by learning and reflection as by nice discrimination, and unswerving integrity. His services and character have been for years before the profession, and the public, and in whatever light they may be contemplated, for public, and in whatever light they may be contemplated, for public entitled of what we said, in bidding them farewell. a few days ago, and of the high moral tone which, so happily, both as a lawyer and a judge. Each man as he received the intelligence of his death, must have fell, if he did not exclaim, "There's a great spirit gone? Full of years and full of honors, in the ripeness of his powers, "ere yel decay's effacing fingers" had swept from his niad its stores of throught and legal erudition, and devoted to the last "to the first of human sciences" be has closed his

THE ESPLANADE-IMPORTANT PROPOSITION.—The grand Trunk Railway company bave made a highly important proposition to the city council in connection with the esplanade. The estimate of Mr. Howard, the the city engineer, is that the wirk, constructed of word, will cost £100,000. The Grand Trunk Company offer to build it with a face of cut stone and mandamise the surface for £110,000, provided they are secured in the right of way for three tracks of rails along the esplanade. They ask no money, but will take pay in city debeatures at a very long date.—Leader.

Toronto, 14th July, 1853 ANNEXATION OF MONTREAL, AND ISLAND TO UPPER CANADA.—The late occurrences cause men to reflect seriously in regard to the future well being of this beautiful city. Adding this Island to Upper Canada would hasten the day when, with a princely city, unrivalled farms, nulls, the day when, with a princely city, unrivalled faims, mills, railways, tunnels, bridges, and a thousand other things, we could defy Brother Jonathan to match us; and notwithstanding the terrible right and left diggers that we have received during the past week from the Minerer and Moniteur, we are constrained to state, that unless the French Canadians now join us, and push ahead in the march of improvement, the sooner the island is annexed to Upper Canada the better. We shall probably have something to say to our contemporaries shoutly.—Montreal Courier.
