

LOOK FOR COMPENSATION HOTELMEN'S LAST HOPE

The Government's Answer to Big Provincial Deputation Was Not Encouraging.

If we put as little in our $15 Suits as other makers do but we don't; we put more into them—more work in the inside, and it's the work inside that makes a garment retain its shape and new appearance; therefore our $15.00 Suits are worth more—but we have a reason for not charging more.

PUBLIC AMUSEMENTS.

Thomas E. Shea presented his new play, "Napoleon the Great," at the Grand last evening before an audience that taxed the capacity of the theatre. The play strongly portrays the humanity of that wonderful man, and vividly depicts the picture of the mind's eye that one is impressed with the feeling that the little Corsican is there before him in flesh and blood. The drama is full of stirring incidents, with impressive and stirring pictures, culminating in that grand and thrilling picture on the field at Waterloo.

Guy F. Stealey, a young Chicago newspaper man, is the author of "The Grafters," which will introduce a star at the Grand next week with a special holiday matinee on Good Friday. The play is a sensation in his world of newspaper men, and he is credited with a decided advancement in his new department.

The announcement that Miss Ellis Jeffreys, one of the most distinguished actresses of London, is at last coming to this city, ought to be particularly interesting to local society. The king has frequently done her the honor of calling her into his private box to praise her work upon the stage. "The Fascinating Mr. Van der Veldt" is a comedy written expressly for her by Alfred Sutro. The advance sale for the engagement opens this morning.

"My Tomboy Girl" gives Miss Lottie Williams an opportunity to show how versatile she is, for she plays several characters that have not been seen before. Miss Williams will appear at the Majestic Theatre next week.

Shea's Yonge-street Theatre has been filled to the doors at every performance this week. The "Broomstick Witches" from the "Isle of Spice" has proved one of the delectable acts of the season. Salomé is a sensation in his world of newspaper men, and he is credited with a decided advancement in his new department.

The next musical event under the management of Massey Hall is the last event in the Popular Course, being the appearance of Madame Charlotte Macondi in a recital program on April 16th.

Madame Albani has been meeting with great success in her concerts in Western Ontario. Her final appearance in Toronto is on Monday, April 23rd, in a festival production of the "Redemption" given by the Toronto Festival Chorus and Orchestra. The subscription list is open at Massey Hall, and closes at the end of the week.

Boston, April 4.—Miss Ethel Barrymore, the actress, became suddenly ill in this city today and her physicians diagnosed her case as one of appendicitis. She will be operated upon to-morrow.

DANGER NOT PAST.

Editor World: The Imperial Order Daughters of the Empire would like to draw the attention of the public to the rumor that the idea of demolishing the Old Fort or some part of it has not been abandoned, but that proceedings are quietly under way, and the citizens will only realize when too late that they have allowed this interesting memorial to be destroyed.

Mabel Clint, Secretary.

A New York paper pictured Senator Smoot with three wives sitting on his knees, whereupon Smoot declares that "it is an absolutely blank lie." He gives it out in effect that "Woman's love is like Scotch snuff. I've got one wife, and she's enough."

keepers be allowed to sell ginger ale. They ought to be allowed to deliver liquor to minors over 15 on a written order from the parent. The hotelkeeper did not deserve this privilege.

He argued for compensation. It was a great hardship that a hotelkeeper should lose his license thru no fault of his own. If the fee was to be increased they should be allowed to remain open till midnight on week days.

"We desire," said Mr. Haverson, in conclusion, "only what is fair and reasonable. We are paying more than we can keep without too great a temptation."

The premier asked Mr. Haverson a question with relation to the sale in shops. Six or seven years ago the law was amended to give the shopkeeper the privilege of selling liquor in half-pint jugs. Did they desire that to remain and did it have any effect on sales?

Mr. Haverson did not know as to the effect on sales. The privilege had been greatly appreciated by the shopkeepers.

No Demand for Increase. H. M. Kitchin next spoke. He asked what were the reasons for the increase in license fees. The public did not demand it, because they knew that it would mean a substantial increase in the cost to themselves. Instead of reducing the evil it would increase it.

Mr. Haverson spoke of the deputation as comprising men who were as much interested in keeping the laws as any one could be.

A much vexed question was that relating to the supply of liquor to guests of hotels on Sunday. That a provision permitting this should find its way into the bill, showed that it was reasonable.

The second objection was the enormous increase in fees. If compared with the States, it should be considered that the consumption of liquor in the States was four times as great as here. In Montreal the consumption was much greater and the hours longer.

Mr. Haverson suggested that the fees be reduced to one-third. The temperance people were not claiming for the increase, consequently both sides agreed as to this feature.

Municipal councils should have no further power to deal with the licenses in cities.

Mr. Hanna: That's in the bill. Mr. Haverson: Well, it's a good principle to apply elsewhere.

Large Towns and Small Cities. He pointed out the unfairness of discriminating between large towns like Toronto and small cities like Peterborough, both of equal size. The fees should be fixed by the act and not left to the municipal councils to raise them.

The deputation regarding the restrictions as to transfer of licenses was unnecessary. Toronto had been singled out by the secretary as a place where the transfer of licenses had been made.

Mr. Haverson protested against power being given to the municipalities to reduce the number of licenses. Why not opposing the barkeepers' license very vigorously, some provision ought to be made for cases of emergency, such as the illness of the bartender or his leaving his employment.

The Dominion census should be adopted. In questions of population a street level feeling is always manifested.

Election Day Closing. The clause dealing with sale on election days should not be applied to school or municipal by-elections. These did not create any commotion or interest. He also objected to the prohibition of the sale of liquor within 300 yards of the fair grounds.
