SIRE to better their positions—For nearly half a century we have been publishing good books, and by their sale many a man has put himself on his feet financially. We have canvassers who have been with us for years, to whom we are paying from $10 to $50 per week. Not all are sufficiently skillful to make the latter amount, but some are doing so right along, while almost any good talker, who is industrious, can make the former. Our work is honorable, and to circulate good books would do credit to the head and heart of an angel. Some prominent clergymen, judges, and other leading men attained their present positions with the aid of a book Prospectus. Many a lady has kept together a happy home by canvassing, and numberless young men put themselves through college that way, while many stick to canvassing as a profession. We do not want house to house peddlers, but canvassers; persons who take orders with a sample called a Prospectus. We teach the science and art of canvassing free of charge and furnish all the capital for the business for those who are of good character. Do not remain in a minor position when we thus give you the opportunity to make money and do good. Upon application we will send full particulare. Bradley-Garretson Company, Limited, Toronto. THE DE LOME AFFAIR. Madrid, Feb. 15.—The cabinet met yesterday afternoon and discussed the present state of the war in Caba and the De Lome matter at great length.

It was decided to publish a decree accepting the resignation of Senor Dupuy de Lome as minister at Washington, and appointing Senor Louis Polo Bernabe as his successor. Elections for the new cortes takes place on March 20. According to the Herald, of Madrid, it was not until Spain had called Sonar was not until Spain had asked Senor de Lome for an explanation that he

THE CHITRAL British Policy Regarding India and the Frontier Discussed in Parliament, London, Feb. 15.-Right Hon. Sir Henry Hartley Fowler (Liberal), member for East Wolverhampton, and secretary of state for India in the last Liberal cabinet, in the House of Commons last night, rebutted the charge that the Liberal government had agreed to a permanent occupation of the Chitral. The future, however, would be more important, he said, than the past, which had been a costly blunder, and the Liberals would resist the forward tendency of the military party in India. He urged that the Indian council should have some control of the expenditure, as the greatest danger which threatened the northwest frontier was a "policy of aggressive militarism."

The house discussed the amendment of John Lawson Walton (Liberal), member for South Leeds, to the address in reply to the speech from the throne, and raising the question of the government's Indian frontier policy. Mr. Walton criticised it from a Liberal the present troubles, and urging the government not to tamper with the independence of the frontier troops, who, he said, were "the natural bulwark of India." Lord George Hamilton, secretary of state for India, replied. He vere. It is that you be kept in penal servitude for five years." said it was impossible to evacuate servitude for five years." Chitral without impairing the prestige of Great Britain and the tranquility of these tribes. The present troubles, he continued, proved that the occupation of Chitral was welcome, and he warmly repelled the opposition's charges that the government had been guilty of breach of faith with the local troops in continuing the occupation.

WOULDN'T SPEAK.

Witnesses Do as They Like in a French Court of Justice. Paris, Feb. 15.-When the trial of MM. Zola and Perreux was resumed, M. Jaures reiterated his belief in the culpability of Major Esterhazy. M. Bertillon, the handwriting expert, said he thought it impracticable to ask the minister of war for the incriminating documents seized at the residence of Dreyfus in 1894, which, according to the testimony of the witness on Saturday, would enable him to prove that Dreyfus wrote the bordereau. M. Laborie, counsel for M. Zola, protested, and twitted M. Bertillon with being unwilling to testify in court, while giving interviews to the news-

M. Bertillon said the interviews were false. Being pressed by M. Laborie to explain how, unless he had seen the secret documents, he was able to prove at the court-martial that Dreyfus wrote the bordereau, M. Bertillon answered that he could not explain without documents which were no longer in his possession. This statement caused a sensation in court, and M. Laborie demanded that the advocategeneral compel the witness to reply. The advocate-general made not answer. Finally M. Bertillon, who persisted in not answering questions, left the witness stand amidst considerable uproar, M. Laborie remarking: "And that is the man upon whose evidence Dreyfus was convicted.'

M. Yves Guyot, the former minister of public works, testified that the Esterhazy court-martial was "a parody TENDERS FOR CHAIRS ternazy court-martial was "a parody on justice." (Excitement in court.) Lord Nevill

And Sentenced to Five Years Penal Servitude.

Judge Lawrence's Severe Condemnation of the Offense-Sensational Scenes in Court. London, Feb. 15.—At the central criminal court today, Lord William Nevill, fourth son of the Marquis of Abergavenny, who was placed on trial charged with fraud in connection with the suit of Sam Lewis, the money government would be very glad the Second Life Guards, to recover guilty of forgery. He was sentenced to five years' penal servitude. The court was packed with people, and there was an unusual assemblage of ladies present, including Lady Nevill, wife of the prisoner. Prosecutor Matthews narrated the circumstances of the fraud, as already known, and at the conclusion of his remarks, he inti-mated that he would accept the prisoner's plea as satisfying the requirements of justice.

Mr. Lawson Walton, in extenuation, pointed out that Lord Nevill had voluntarily come forward to face the consequences of his deception, and had fully confessed. The prisoner, counsel added, was in great financial difficulties, and had not realized that he was committing a breach of the criminal law. Judge Lawrence summed up sternly, but his voice at times almost broke with emotion. Lord William Nevill was spruce, well-groomed and collected, and apparently almost unconcerned. Judge Lawrence said to the prisoner: "In my opinion the crime is as great as if you had abstracted the sum from Lieut. Clay's pocket, or had bur-glarized Mr. Lewis' office and had stolen it. If it had been some wretched clerk, with a wife and seven children, who had incurred a heavy loss and had helped himself at his master's till, I am afraid there would have been no one to speak in extenuation; but the higher position the person holds, the higher his responsibilities. I am sorry to say I have looked in vain for extenuating circumstances. It is as bad a case of fraud as it is possible to conceive. You have brought shame and dishonor upon an ancient and noble standpoint, disapproving of the occupa- family, and sorrow and suffering upon tion of Chitral as being the source of Your nearest and dearest. You have forfeited the position you held in the world, and which should have been a guarnatee of your honesty, at least, if

The spectators drew their breaths sharply, for the moment, stunned with surprise. Many of the ladies present broke out sobbing. Almost before those in court could realize what had occurred, however, the prisoner was being hurried off to the cells of Newgate prison, where he was allowed to have a lengthy interview with his wife. Then he was removed to Wormwood Scrubs prison, where he will serve first portion of his sentence. The prisoner's unsteady gait on leaving the dock showed the effect of the sentence.
