Mid-Ocean, May 29 .- As I look abroad without a speck of land in sight, and as I reflect that we are passing over varying depths, some of which are as great as five miles. I am reminded of the promise in the Lord's Word that ultimately the whole earth, the world of mankind, shall have such an abundant knowledge of the Creator and the dant knowledge of the Creator and the tions before we noticed it—and many Redeemer, as to be fitly illustrated by the depths of the sea. I have therefore chosen as my text the words, "The earth shall be full of the knowledge of the Lord as the waters cover the sea". I have therewest, and angrily refuse to turn and follow the dawn of the new dispensation, which now may be so clearly seen by the eye of faith. the sea." I remember also the very similar promise by the Lord thru the prophet (Habakkuk ii, 14), "For the earth shall be filled with the knowledge of the glory of the Lord, as the waters cover the sea." I am reminded a deep impression upon him. He tells us, nevertheless, that "We have also a more sure word of prophecy; also of the prophet's declaration that the time will come when "Every knee shall bow, and every tongue shall con-fess" (Isaiah xlv, 23). And again That at the name of Jesus every knee shall bow, of things in heaven, and things in earth, and things under the earth; and that every tongue shall confess that Jesus Christ is Lord, to the glory of God the Father." And I am also reminded that in that day. They shall teach no more every man his neighbor, and every man his bro-ther, saying. We must admit, and should feel deeply humble by the admission, that even our Lord Jesus gave us the key to this question of the importance of knowledge in relationship to our attainment of eternal life. A distinction should be observed in knowing about God, and knowing God Himself. It is not sufficient that we should recognize God as the Almighty with His Word, and thru an appreciation of His glorious work, past, preslengths and breadths and heights and "love divine, all love excelling." In proportion as we behold the outline of the divine character, we perceive our own deficiencies and try the more to rid ourselves of them. our hearts are in harmony with the principles of righteousness.

Very appropriately the Scriptures speak of the present as a night time. They tell us that now "darkness covers the (civilized) earth, and gross darkness the people (heathendom).' The figure of the rising sun scattering the darkness, ignorance and superstition of the world harmonizes with the other picture, which represents the Kingdom of God superseding the kingdom of Satan, and those deluded by Satan, styled in the Scriptures, the kingdoms of this world.

We may well sympathize with ou purpose to eventually enlighten the whole earth by causing the knowledge earth as the waters cover the great deep. To us, therefore, is especially applicable the prophetic words, "Be ye glad and rejoice for ever in that which I create. For behold, I create new heavens and a new earth, and the former shall not be remembered, nor come into mind" (Isalah lav., 18, 17). Thus does the Lord picture the new dispensation in graphic language. The new heavens symbolically represent the Church in its new and glorified condition, exercising superior control over the affairs of mankind. Likewise the new earth symbolically represents new social order of things which be introduced as a part of the New Dispensation. Imperfection is now written upon everything with cause of our fallen condition thru heredity, and partly, as the Scriptures declare, thru Satan, the god of this world or age, who now works in the But admitting the promise of the hearts of the children of disobedience -prompting to sin and selfishness, pride and ambition, and in every sense of the word tending to alienate the hearts of men from the ways of righteousness. Women Shouldn't Air

Dr. Cortland Myers' advice, in his sermon at Tremont Temple: "If you can't trust your husband, leave him, but don't go round complaining about him," is sound enough, and it applies both ways. Airing one's domestic differences is a failing altogether too common among our American women. It is noticeable among some few American men, too, tho they may be credited with more reserve on the inti-mate relations of the home than women. However, it may be that they do not have so much cause for dissatisfaction. Still, as a rule, I believe men are more reticent in such matters and that they feel the confusion and disgrace of them more keenly.

Domestic Troubles

They do not hear every little disagreement over the breakfast table threshed over by their associates during the day. Yet the slightest discord ing the day. Yet the slightest discord gives a certain type of woman food for gossip with a neighbor the livelong day. And she never appears in better humor than when she is detailing a grievance against her husband to a circle of sympathetic women, with their mouths agape, to catch the significance of every word. It really militates against a woman in some quarters if she refuses to join one of the ters if she refuses to join one of the little colonies of wives who invariably have some little injury to dilate upon.

The woman who can withstand the onslaughts of her friends and remain calmly unresponsive as the domestic woes of others are poured into her ears is out of the ordinary. The inclination is to reward confidence in kind. It is as infectious as the measles or the whooping cough. That is why so many shy, reserved girls, who, while they may gabble and gush a lot before mar-riage, do hold their intimate affairs sacred, develop the complaining, tell-tale phase afterward. They hear it so constantly. And a woman is of more importance in her social strata if she has tales of domestic tyranny and un-happiness to deplore out loud in com-

That rare creature, the woman who does not gossip about her husband, is frequently suspected of being most unhappy, and frequently she is, too. It is so real that she keeps it to herself, horrified and ashamed at the enormity of it. It crushes the very heart of her and she has no wish to dwell upon it with the casual friend or acquaintance.

You Must Also Get the Liver and Bowels, Right With DR. A. W. CHASE'S KIDNEY AND LIVER PILLS.

Strange, isn't it, that the intimate relation of the liver and kidneys should have been so long overlooked?

And yet Dr. A. W. Chase's Kidney and Liver Pills owe their wonder success to the recognition of this m
