Iondon, April 12.—The effect of the prospective issue of treasury bills was only temporary on this stock exchange to day, and the investment section displayed tenewed steadiness under a fair outside dynamal, the war hoan touching 95%. South American securities were good, especially Peruvians, and shipping shares were supported from the provinces. Some uncertainty was displayed by Brazilian issues. In the industrials American securities were in request at hardening prices, and the other shares in this section were marked in sympathy with Well street.

The supply of money was plentiful and it was well employed at previous rates. Discount rates were steady, pending the lisus of treasury bills.

WHEAT AND CORN SHOOT UP RAPIDLY

Demand for Cash Wheat Causes Eleven-Cent Rise in May Option.

Chicago, April 12.—Amazing flights took place today in prices for wheat and corn. Demand for cash wheat was so urgent, especially from export and milling interests, that May delivery rose III above yesterday's finish, far surpassing all previous top records. The market closed excited at 5c to 9½c net advance, with May at $2.17½ to $2.18, and July at $1.89½. Corn gained 6½c to 7½c, oats 2c to 2½c, and provisions 15c to 32½c. Persistent buying and a lack of offerings characterized the wheat market, except during a brief period at the outset, when rains in the southwest temporarily eased down new crop deliveries. Later, however, the attention of traders centred almost wholly on indications of sharp competition between seaboard interests and representatives of domestic flour manufacturers. In this connection, it was said, export business was being done on a much larger scale than current estimates would imply. Rumors that foreign governments were purchasing received special notice, whereas reports of peace moves, including word of supposed overtures of Bulgaria for separate terms, seemed to be completely ignored.

Highest prices of the day in the wheat pit were reached in the last fifteen minutes. In the final transactions, the market reacted a little, but nervousness was hardly any, if at all, abated. Bulls contended that this country had but scenty supplies, the movement of which was restricted by lack of sufficient cars, and that a world scarcity of breadstuffs was now recognized by all.

On sympathized with the wheat strength, but at first was the leader in the upward movement of prices. The independent advances of corn were based on reports that scores of distilleries would be exclusively used for the manufacture of denatured alcohol needed for military explosives.

Oats derived firmness from other cereals. It was said feeding of oat as animal food was broadening out tremendously. Provisions swung upward, influenced chiefly by the rise in corn.
