Residents of Canaan, Me., have had much trouble this year with hedgehogs. They have tried lining the trunks of their fruit trees with wire from old washboards, sections of old stove pipe and tin, but the hedgehogs have always removed the obstructions. As a last resort one man has fastened sheets of paper about the trunks of his apple trees. He hopes that it will stick to the life of the hedgehogs and engross their attention sufficiently to make them forget the apples.

SAYS DREAM GUIDED HIM TO FIND BODY

Missing Miss Sinclair Floating On Lake Winnepesaukee

Meredith, N. H., Aug. 28.—The body of Miss Elanor Sinclair, a student at the Whitehall School for Kindergarten Teachers in Boston, who was drowned in Lake Winnepesaukee on August 9 has been found by John Blake, who says he was guided by a dream.

Blake woke at four o'clock in the morning and told his wife that he had dreamed of discovering the body of the missing girl. He got up, dressed, and on his way to his power boat met assistant policeman Adrian Williams, who was on duty near the dock.

Blake asked Williams to go with him and within a half hour after they reached the place where her boat was found they discovered the body of Miss Sinclair floating.

A reward of $500 offered for the recovery of the body will probably be divided between these two men.

Miss Sinclair was eighteen years old, and was spending her vacation with her Marietta Nute, of Dorchester, Mass. She disappeared on August 9.

WHITE SLAVE CHARGES

Malden, Aug. 28.—Mrs. Lena Goldstein of 78 Suffolk street will be before the district court tomorrow, it being alleged that she has been engaged in the "white slave" traffic at her home.

The case is being prosecuted by an agent of the Watch and Ward Society, who says that Mrs. Goldstein has been harboring Mary Moran, aged 18, for immoral purposes. He says the girl is a cousin of Mrs. Goldstein's husband for whom the society is searching all over the country on a warrant alleging that he has been engaged in the same business in Boston, New York and in Panama.

I. C. R. PASS INQUIRY

Moncton, N. B., Aug. 28.—The I. C. R. pass inquiry held at Moncton, N. B., yesterday, was examined as to system in checking up conductors' returns. He recalled one pass having been used twice, the name sure whether that pass went through the audit office or not.

Questioned as to issuing of passes by foremen, he said the name of the one to whom the pass was issued was supposed to be written on stub, but there was no audit as to whether the name on the pass agreed with the name on the stub. Passes were formerly destroyed in the audit office and were now sent from the audit office to the board of management.

A street lamp at Greenford, Eng., was found lighted every day for several weeks, although in each case the light had been extinguished by the lamp-lighter in the morning. He watched for the culprit one morning, and was surprised to see the lamp apparently lighted itself. Investigation revealed the fact that a totit had built its nest in the corner of the lamp and lamp-lighter, and the totit was the culprit.

Montreal, Aug. 28.—A cablegram received at C. P. R. headquarters today, announced that the Empress of Russia had been launched at Glasgow for the Pacific service. The new steamer is very much larger than any of the present fleet, being 300 feet in length. The turbine system has been adopted by the C. P. R. for the first time in the vessel.

The second set in the ladies' singles was played at Rousesay this afternoon and was won by Miss Lawson of Halifax, who defeated Mrs. Rabbitt 6-2. Miss Lawson won the first set 12 to 10, and thereby wins the championship title for the year.

DEPOPULATING GREAT BRITAIN

Growing Alarm in Old London Over Rush of Young Men To Canada

(Times Special Correspondence.)

London, Aug. 16.—After having nearly denuded England and Scotland in his search for settlers, J. Obed Smith, the assistant superintendent of emigration, has turned his attention to the principalities and is touring through Wales and Monmouthshire and the western counties of England. Mr. Smith, who is accompanied by Mr. Pugh, Canadian representative in Wales, intends, during his tour, to visit all the booking agents in the chief centres of population, and will soon proceed to the Swansea district and West Wales.

J. J. Chisum, Monday, an eminent Liberal statistician, expresses concern for the future of Great Britain if emigration continues at its present rate, which he shows greatly aggravates the woman problem here. The old method of computing the number of people who left this left by deducting the number who arrived from the number who left. This, of course, could not be accepted as accurate, and under a new arrangement put in operation by the British Board of Trade, which began in April, information as to the number who left and arrived to take up permanent residence is available.

The record shows that more than 113,000 in excess of those arriving here left Great Britain during the months of April, May and June. The birth rate probably did not exceed 100,000. This means according to Mr. Money, "that the population of the United Kingdom fell considerably in the first three months, for which we have definite statistics of emigrants and immigrants. The 113,000 persons who left us in April-June were chiefly young men. As a consequence, the average age of the population is increased, and the proportion of women in the population is increased. Already the number of females in our population exceeds the number of males by more than 1,400,000 and the new emigration is rapidly increasing this excess."

"As need hardly be pointed out, a stationary or declining United Kingdom population would have very serious effects on every political and social problem. Taxable capacity would fall, and values would fall, the cost of social services would increase, the relative position of the United Kingdom in the British Empire, and in the world at large would be seriously affected. The burden of maintaining defences would be more severely felt."

"The combination of a falling birth-rate with an artificially stimulated emigration, therefore, needs our very serious attention."

"What are we doing to reveal the virtues of the United Kingdom as a home-place and working-place to the young men of our time? What home opportunities are we offering to the lure of the great dominions?"
