

PREVENTS HEARTBURN
REMOVES
CIGAR BREATH
RELIEVES
INDIGESTION

Smokers quit smoke!
There'll be no ill
effects. The refreshing taste of crushed
green mint leaves is the finest smoke's aid known.

The sweet perfume and flavor of the salt juice is a delightful substitute for the taste of tobacco. It's the medicinal confection, the soothing occupant, and the delicious relaxant.
Fine for breath—fine for teeth—fine for nerves—fine for digestion.

Don't wait for it! ASK for it!

Look for the Spear!

The Flavor Lasts!

Wm. Wrigley, Jr. Co., Ltd., 7 Scott St., Toronto, Ontario

La MARQUISE
de FONTENOY

Lord Sandhurst—The Tragedy of Gabriele d'Annunzio's Life—Women's Fortunes Wrecked, His Family Neglected

(Copyright, 1911, by the Brentwood Company.)

Lord Sandhurst, who has been appointed by King George as the chief of the set of court officials to attend upon President Taft's special representative at the coronation, John Hays Hammond, was formerly governor of Bombay and served both Queen Victoria and King Edward in the capacity of lord in waiting.

His first wife, who died about five years ago, was a sister of Lord Spencer, and since then he married the widow of Armine Woodhouse, brother of the Earl of Kimberley. She is the only daughter of the late Matthew Arnold, and cousin, therefore, of Mrs. Frederick Whitebridge of New York, and of Mrs. Humphrey Ward.

Her marriage to Lord Sandhurst had to be postponed for several weeks, owing to a severe toxic accident on the very eve of the day appointed for her wedding. Her face was badly cut.

Lord Sandhurst is the second peer of his name. His father was raised to the House of Lords for his services in connection with the Indian Mutiny, and afterwards as commander-in-chief in India. The family name is Mansfield, and the present barony is Lord Sandhurst's next eldest brother, the Hon. John Mansfield, a member of the bar.

Gabriele d'Annunzio, known in the world of letters on both sides of the Atlantic by his pen name of "Gabriele" d'Annunzio, seems to have had it at length brought home to him, that no matter how great a man's genius, there is a degree of latitude accorded to such people that must not be overstepped.

The poet Byron found this out to his cost, and d'Annunzio (to give him the assumed name by which he is best known) who does not begin to possess Byron's talent, is finding this out not only in Italy, where his household effects have been sold at public auction for the benefit of his creditors, but also in Paris, where his play in French, "St. Sebastian," is proving a failure. The man's moral reputation, in one word, is so infamous as to completely nullify the efforts he has made from his literary efforts.

One of the most disgraceful episodes of his disgraceful life was recalled the other day, when among the contents of La Capponette, his villa at Florence, there were sold up for public sale a superb picture by the great Munich artist Lenbach, portraying Eleanor Duse. It may be remembered that Duse, the greatest actress of her time, was a singularly emotional nature upon d'Annunzio, helping him with his play, and placing at his disposal a fortune from which he did not hesitate to help himself in the most greedy fashion, and then rewarded her by putting her into a novel entitled "The Fire," in which her most sacred feelings were laid bare, and her letters, her second wife being Dona Natalia Lazani, a beautiful girl, of distinguished family. Of this marriage the duke died a few years ago, had two children. The eldest, Don Luigi, married a daughter of the Prince of Belmonte, while the girl, Dona Maria, in an evil moment, married d'Annunzio, and insisted upon marrying him, despite the opposition of her father and brother.

As stated d'Annunzio has long since squandered his wife's share in her father's estate, and incidentally it may be stated that the magnificent library of the Altempo palace, and the collection of priceless manuscripts, were sold at auction in London, by Southby, at the instance of the present Duke of Galesse, among the largest purchases being J. Pierpont Morgan's.

Good Things in House Furnishings

CAN NOW BE SEEN AT THE SHOW ROOMS OF
S. L. MARCUS & CO., 166 UNION ST.

"Our easy payment plan" has proven an agreeable and pleasant surprise, while our prices challenge competition.

We are ready to furnish your whole house, or a single room at the shortest notice. A matches range of Furniture to select from. Lace Curtains in profusion, also Ladies' and Gent's Clothing.

A rare essay! A Five-Piece Parlor Suite, richly upholstered in silk, mahogany-frame. Note the price $29.50

Our one and only address

S. L. MARCUS & CO.
The Ideal Home Furnishers. 166 Union Street

DEFY EARLY CLOSING LAW

At a meeting of the merchants opposed to the early closing movement, in Keith's assembly rooms last night, it was decided to defy the early closing law, and to keep their stores open tonight after 7 o'clock.

W. H. McDonald was in the chair and W. E. Amland acted as secretary. D. Mallin, K.C., and A. A. Wilson, K.C., were also present.

Several made speeches in favor of the movement, and were asked to retire. A committee consisting of D. B. Pidgeon, F. G. Watson, W. H. McDonald, W. E. Amland, J. P. Quinn, N. C. Scott, and I. Webber, were appointed to act with the committee previously chosen to present a petition to the council, and with power to call meetings when necessary.

On motion of D. B. Pidgeon an executive committee was then named, consisting of D. B. Pidgeon, F. G. Watson, W. H. McDonald, W. E. Amland, N. C. Scott, I. Webber and J. P. Quinn, to act with the committee previously chosen to present the petition to the council and with power to call meetings when necessary.

CASTORIA
For Infants and Children.
The Kind You Have Always Bought

Bears the Signature of Dr. J. C. Watson

SUGGESTS NEW SCHOOL

Chief Supt. of Education, Dr. Carter, met with the St. Andrews Board of School trustees on Monday afternoon and talked over a number of educational topics. Among others he suggested that the board should consider the advisability of erecting a new school building. The time was near at hand when a heavy expense would be necessary to put the buildings in repair and he did not think it wise to spend money that way. The town should have a new and modern building. He did not think one could be built for less than $20,000.

SHIPPING

ALMANAC FOR ST. JOHN, JUNE 15

A.M. P.M.
Sun Rises..... 4.41 Sun Sets..... 8.07
High Tide..... 1.43 Low Tide..... 8.10
The time used is Atlantic standard.

PORT OF ST. JOHN,
Arrived Yesterday,
Stm. Indrani, 2830, Young, Glasgow,
Stm. Tangara, Dalton, Havana via New York, Wm. Thomson & Co.

CANADIAN PORTS.
Quebec, June 14-17, stms. Jacobs, and Genova, Middleborough; Sardinian, London; Manchester Trader, Manchester; Sid-Sme Carrigan Road, Belfast; Royal Edward, Bristol.

BRITISH PORTS.
Liverpool, June 14-17, stms. Campana, New York, June 14-17, stms. Ansonia, Montreal; Lake Erie, do.

FOREIGN PORTS.
New London, June 14-17, stms. W. H. Waters, St. John.
Vineyard Haven, June 14-17, stms. Quaker, Weymouth (NS); St. Bernard, St. George.
New York, June 14-17, stms. St. Anthony Windsor (NS); Isiah K. Stetson, St. John.
New York, June 14-17, stms. George D. Jenkins, Two Rivers (NS); Emily F. Northam, Moncton (NB); Hugh John, Halifax.
Rio Janeiro, June 14-17, stms. Hinema, Bennett, from La Plata.
Sunderland, July 14-17, stms. Ectra, Purdy, for Buenos Ayres for orders.
Cherbourg, June 14-17, stms. Sellas, Chandler, for Havana.

MAY THE KNOT.
Following have been registered to solemnize marriages: Rev. T. H. Mason, Charlotte county; Rev. D. C. Hasland, Victoria county; Rev. C. G. Lawrence, Kings county, and Rev. W. W. Malcolm, St. John county. The right to solemnize marriages in New Brunswick, granted to Rev. K. H. Gross, formerly of Moncton, has been cancelled.

SUDDEN DEATH OF DR. GEORGE A. HETHERINGTON

The community was shocked yesterday by the sudden death of Dr. George A. Hetherington, M.D., which occurred about 3 o'clock at his home in Rodney street, after only a few hours' illness. Death, it was said, was due to kidney trouble. On Tuesday evening Dr. Hetherington fell down the elevator shaft in the Opera House building, but his physicians, Drs. Christie and Case, said that this was not responsible for his death.

The doctor was born in Johnston, Queens county, in 1831, and after receiving his early education there and in the Normal school, he taught school for a while. He later studied at the Baptist Seminary in Fredericton, and in the medical department of Michigan University, as well as in the Cincinnati College of Medicine and Surgery, from which he was graduated as doctor of medicine in 1875. He then practised medicine for five years in this province. Then he went to Scotland, spending some time in the Royal Infirmary in Edinburgh. After some time spent as resident instructor in the maternity department of the Rotunda Hospital for Women, he returned to New Brunswick and soon was recognized as a leading physician. For eight years he held the office of Superintendent of the Provincial Hospital.

Dr. Hetherington took a deep interest in civic affairs and was also prominently connected with many of the leading societies of the city. He was a member of the British Medical Society, a Life Fellow of the British Gynaecological Society, a member of the New Brunswick Medical Society, the Maritime Medical Society and St. John Medical Society, and besides having served a number of years on the public school board of St. John. He held the appointment of coroner in the city and county, also commissioner of the General Public Hospital, and lecturer to the school for nurses. In 1883 he was appointed surgeon to the St. John Firemen's Mutual Relief Association.

He was past chancellor in Knights of Pythias; past supreme vice-regent, I. O. O. F., and past high physician of the same order; also thirty-second degree Mason and noble of Mystic Shrine. Notwithstanding the demand upon his time, he held for many years a commission and took an interest in the St. John Firemen. In 1871 he attended the military school, Fredericton, and was awarded a second class certificate.

Dr. Hetherington traveled extensively on both sides of the Atlantic, prosecuting his studies as he went, in Canada, United States, in Great Britain and Ireland, and in Germany. About two years ago he received an honorary degree in medicine from the University of the State of New York. He was married Sept. 5, 1876, to Miss Sibyl Melville, of Sussex (N. B.), and had by her one daughter. Both wife and daughter died several years ago.

He is survived by two brothers, Robert and Dr. Ebery M., of Kansas City, and one sister, Mrs. Averon Jones, of Kings county. Doctors J. E. and G. E. Hetherington, of Codr's, Kings county, are cousins.

He was a member of the City Baptist church. His funeral will take place tomorrow morning and interment will be made at Sussex.

On Tuesday evening Dr. Hetherington and Colonel Blaine were passing along the north side of King square, and seeing H. L. Spencer and a Telegraph man sitting in the office of the Ottawa hotel, entered to have a word with the venerable post. While he and Colonel Blaine, who are of about the same age, were exchanging reminiscences, Dr. Hetherington, speaking to the Telegraph man, recalled the fact that Mr. Spencer was the first man he knew when he first came to St. John, and he had only the day before taken the post down

The Evening Chit-Chat
By RUTH CAMERON

I HAVE been rebuked, my offense is using the expression "middle class," several times in a recent issue.

My censor tells me that he is surprised that such a democratic person as I have seemed to be, should speak so much of "classes." He reminds me that according to a certain very good authority all people are born-free and equal, and that the possession or lack of money does not make one man better or worse than another and that there is no such thing as a class.

I accept the rebuke.

But I do not entirely agree with the gentleman. I admit I was at fault in the article cited, because when I referred to the middle class, I did mean those with a moderate amount of the world's goods, and in so doing I went back on my own conviction that class is not founded on money.

But I very heartily disagree with the gentleman when he says there is no such thing as a class.

There most certainly is such a thing. The most radical, the most democratic, the most socialist, or anarchistic person, living must admit that there are persons to whom he looks up, and other persons to whom he instinctively feels himself superior.

I am sure my censor himself, if he would be entirely honest, would admit having felt that same way.

In looking up he admits the existence of a higher class. In looking down he concedes a lower.

But what is this class distinction that we all feel about? Well, there are some crude people who make the possession of money their sole criterion.

To them the millionaire, no matter how ignorant, how coarse, how common, how little he may be, is of the upper class.

And the man of poverty, no matter how refined, how well bred and well educated, is to them of the lower class.

But that is only one point of view.

My censor objects to it. I do myself and I know you do.

But what then is our sense of class distinction founded on? Well, that's just what I want you to tell me, my friends.

It is a subject on which I have often thought I had my own ideas, but I'd like to know what yours is.

The forum is open to you. I hope that besides my old friends some of those who have not joined us will speak this time.

Remember you more than one hundred words, preferably less, so that when I hold the symposium on this subject, I can include many points of view.

St. Climo's and posed him for some photographs, which he wanted for his friends. The doctor spoke of his fine country home above Codr's on the Washademois, and said he was going there next spring. He wanted Colonel Blaine and Mr. Spencer to go up next summer and pay him a long visit, and the three laughingly agreed that this must be done. Less than twenty-four hours later Dr. Hetherington was dead, and his two old friends were profoundly shocked by the intelligence.

"He reminded me the other day," said Mr. Spencer, "that years ago he came to me in this city with a letter to tell me, my friends."

It is a subject on which I have often thought I had my own ideas, but I'd like to know what yours is.

The forum is open to you. I hope that besides my old friends some of those who have not joined us will speak this time.

Remember you more than one hundred words, preferably less, so that when I hold the symposium on this subject, I can include many points of view.

A FEELING OF SECURITY

You naturally feel secure when you know that the medicine you are about to take is a reliable one and contains no harmful or poisonous drugs.

Such a medicine is Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root, the great Kidney, Liver and Bladder Remedy.

The same standard of purity, strength and intelligence is maintained in every bottle of Swamp-Root.

Swamp-Root is a sample bottle impounded from a valuable herb and is taken in ten cent bottles.

It is not a remedy for anything, it is nature's greatest helper, relieving suffering, promoting health, and curing troubles.

A sworn statement of purity is with every bottle of Dr. Kilmor's Swamp-Root.

If you need a medicine, you should have the Swamp-Root.

If you are already convinced that Swamp-Root is what you need, you will find it on sale at all drug stores in bottles of two sizes, 75c and $1.25.

Sample Bottle of Swamp-Root Free by Mail

Sent to Dr. Kilmor & Co., Binghamton, N. Y., for a sample bottle, free by mail—it will convince anyone. You will also receive a booklet of valuable information, telling all about the kidneys. When writing be sure and mention the St. John Evening Times-Star.

DROWNED IN ST. JOHN RIVER

John Bowers, a young Englishman, was drowned off Wilcox's Wharf, near mile from Fredericton late yesterday afternoon. The lad and his father were employed on the farm of Henry Wilcox, and they were going out in a boat to get something from the steamer Blaine. In spite of warning cries from the steamer's crew, approaching bow on and struck.

Neither man could swim, the elder caught hold of the steps at the side of the steamer and was saved, but the younger sank, about 100 yards astern of the steamer, and though a life preserver was thrown to him, was drowned.

GOING TO CHATHAM.

It is understood that E. Bert Hughes, who has been a representative of the Metropolitan Life Insurance Company in Fredericton, will be transferred to Chatham, where he will have charge of a new branch to be opened by the company in that town.

Simply add a dash of HOLBROOK'S SAUCE

It's a delicious seasoning. Imported Absolutely!

Your Liver is Clogged up

That's Why You're Tired, Sick, Nervous, Headache, Indigestion, Biliousness, Colic, Stomachache, Small Pits, Small Sores, Small Price Genuine most best Signature

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS

LIVER PILLS will put you right in a few days. Do not delay. They do their duty.

Constipation, Indigestion, Biliousness, Colic, Stomachache, Small Pits, Small Sores, Small Price Genuine most best Signature

Brentwood

That Splitting Headache

"NA-DRU-CO" Mocha Waters

Give quick relief, and they contain nothing harmful to the head or nervous system. A box, at all drug stores.

National Drug and Chemical Co. of Canada, Limited, Montreal.

Dr. Chase's Ointment

The Duke of Galesse did not long remain a widower. He soon contracted another wife, his second wife being Dona Natalia Lazani, a beautiful girl, of distinguished family. Of this marriage the duke died a few years ago, had two children. The eldest, Don Luigi, married a daughter of the Prince of Belmonte, while the girl, Dona Maria, in an evil moment, married d'Annunzio, and insisted upon marrying him, despite the opposition of her father and brother.

As stated d'Annunzio has long since squandered his wife's share in her father's estate, and incidentally it may be stated that the magnificent library of the Altempo palace, and the collection of priceless manuscripts, were sold at auction in London, by Southby, at the instance of the present Duke of Galesse, among the largest purchases being J. Pierpont Morgan's.

Beware of Ointments for Catarrh That Contain Mercury

As mercury will surely destroy the catarrh of small and completely damage the whole system when entering it through the mucous surfaces. Such articles should never be used except on prescription from a reliable physician, as the damage they will do is ten-fold to the good they possibly derive from mercury.

Take Hall's Family Pills for constipation.

When covering jam pots with parchment, tie the string as well as the paper. It will then not slip in trying, and by shaking afterward it will gain extra tightness.

Extra Value in Ladies' Oxford

Patent Leather Ladies' Oxfords in buttoned or laced at $1.98

Dandy Tan Oxfords, regular price $3.00, now $2.25

Three Special Oxfords, plain kid with patent toe $1.15, $1.38, $1.68.

A Beautiful Patent Leather Pump $1.98

Misses' Patent Leather Pump, size 11 to 2, $1.48

N. J. LAHOOD
282 Brussel Street
Corner Hanover

Men's Soft Front Shirts - 48c

Men's $1.00 Outing Shirts - 69c

Men's $1.25 Fancy Soft Front Shirts - 98c

Men's Wash Ties - 3 for 25c

500 Ladies' Dutch Collars in samples, worth 25c, for 15c

300 Jabots to match Dutch Collars, worth 25c, for 15c

200 Long Fancy Silk Bows, worth 25c, for 15c

Straw Suit Cases, 24 Inch. $1.89

WILCOX'S Market Square
Store open till 10 p. m. Saturday.