POTATO SHED AT LONG WHARF NOW IS PROPOSAL

C. N. R. General Freight Agent Confers With Com. Bullock

WOULD ADD STORY TO SHED NOW THERE

F. M. Tompkins Views Possible Sites on Eastern Side of Harbor.

Additional frost-proof warehouse accommodation for potatoes at this port was forecast yesterday in a visit of F. M. Tompkins, general freight agent of the C. N. R., Moncton, to this city. During the afternoon he had a conference with Commissioner Bullock in regard to a possible site for a warehouse on the eastern side of the harbor, and it was said to be possible that as a result of a suggestion made by the commissioner, a warehouse would be provided by the addition of a second story to a part of the Long Wharf shed.

Mr. Tompkins looked over the frost-proof shed between the Pettigill and the Empress docks. It was pointed out by the commissioner that this shed was not large enough to hold a full cargo of potatoes and even if it were there was not room at the wharf front for a steamer without encroaching on the Empress berth.

He suggested that the government might go ahead with the proposition which he had brought before the council and which had been turned down, to secure the Lawton and Carleton wharves and build a berth and shed there. This would give a shed about 280 feet long. The estimated cost of this work, including the cost of the properties, was about $300,000.

Failing this, he suggested that the government add a second story to a part of the Long Wharf shed and that for a frost-proof warehouse. He said that electric elevators could be used to carry the potatoes from the cars to the warehouse and when the time came to load they could be sluiced into the hold as grain was.

A shed on the site of the former shed, which was destroyed by fire some years ago on York Point slip, was also spoken of, but it was pointed out that steamers could load there the slip would have to be dredged out.

Commissioner Bullock also suggested that the railway department try to have the transfer between the government and the city properties on the West Side put through on the ground that this would give the government an opportunity to expand its shipping facilities on that side of the harbor.

Mr. Tompkins left last evening for Moncton.
