John Tucker, a very old resident of this city, died at his residence Sandy Point road on Tuesday last after a comparatively short illness of congestive pneumonia.

Mrs. Tucker was an estimable lady and much beloved by all who knew her. She was in her 75th year. Much sympathy will be felt by the many friends of her son and daughter Major Tucker and Mrs. C. W. Weston in their affliction.

Tucker was an English lady, who for upwards of 40 years has resided in St. John. The funeral took place yesterday from Trinity church with the Rev. Mr. Sprague officiating. The remains were interred in the cemetery.

There have been many conjectures among the congregation of Trinity church as to the prevailing odor of tar for the last few Sundays, and several have been becoming quite fastidious. It has been obliged to leave the church during service in consequence. I have enquired into it and find "the prevalence of one evil is to overcome another." It was found that the handsome carpet that covers the sanctuary, worked by the ladies of the congregation some years ago, had become infested with moths, and after repairing the damage done to the needlework, tar paper was laid under hoping to prevent further destruction.

Mrs. W. B. and the Misses Robinson entertained a number of their lady friends at an afternoon "At Home" yesterday from 4 o'clock until seven, at their residence, Broad street. It was given in honor of Mrs. More and was a very pleasant affair. Light refreshments were served during the afternoon.

About 40 of the gentlemen friends of Mr. John Trimble assembled at Mitchell's cafe on Tuesday night last, and tendered that gentleman a supper in honor of his marriage to one of the fair daughters of this town, which took place the following evening.

Mr. J. R. Currie occupied the chair. After doing full justice to the elegant spread "The Queen" was proposed by the chairman and responded to by Mr. John Pickard and Mr. J. Bond. "Our Guest" and his "proposed bride" brought in a number of who replied in a neat speech. "The Ladies" was responded to by Mr. H. Richardson. "The Benediction" brought forth a witty speech from Mr. J. MacLachlan.

A very lively entertainment was kept up until the early morning, when the party broke up after wishing Mr. Trimble every joy and happiness in his new sphere.

On Monday evening last, the friends of Mr. and Mrs. John B. Andrews to the number of 40, armed with sundry baskets of good things, as well as a large and varied assortment of tinware, and accompanied by musicians, invaded the residence and succeeded in taking full possession of the premises.

The invaders quickly prepared the rooms for dance, and the party was indulged in until three a. m., and with a short intermission for refreshments. The occasion was the anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, and their merry friends before departing joined in all sorts of good wishes for their continued health and happiness.

Hallowe'en coming on Saturday was very unfortunate to the people who are in the habit of giving and going to parties on that date, especially the young folk, who had to be content with trying their tricks on Friday or Monday evenings instead. Many parties were given on these evenings. I heard of one Miss Pauline Eaton's, where the young people enjoyed themselves immensely.

Miss Helen A. Jones, of Weymouth, N. S., is the guest of Mrs. John Boyd, Queen square.

PAROIT.

Hallowe'en passed off very quietly this year, the only festivities that I heard of were a few parties for children. Perhaps our fair maidens are weary of trying charms that "never come true." For my part, I think it more profitable to spend one's Hallowe'en in bobbing for apples and roasting chestnuts than in working spells which I have always seen turn out anything but successful.

Mr. E. Bruce Scovill, who has been enjoying a fortnight's trip to New York, has returned home.

Mrs. Warwick Street is staying at present with her mother, Mrs. William Jack, of Wright street.

The visiting members of the Masonic fraternity who were here last week have departed to the respective homes, much pleased with their reception in St. John, particularly with the entertainment given to them at the Union Club, where the menu, the recherche manner in which everything was served, and the beautiful floral decorations were much appreciated.

All Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Moren's friends are pleased to have them back in St. John, although their stay here will not be a long one, as they intend to move to New York, which is to be their future home. On Sunday Mrs. Moren wore a very pretty costume of pale gray, trimmed with white, and a hat to match. She received visitors at her mother's, Mrs. William Hazen's, on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday week, and wore then a beautiful toilette of old rose silk, made in train, and relieved with a great deal of white. Her bridesmaids Miss Harriet Hazen and Miss May Bee, who assisted her in entertaining her friends, wore white satin dresses trimmed with white.

Bishop Kingston was in town this week.

I am glad to hear that Mrs. T. Barclay Robinson has entirely recovered from her recent indisposition.

Miss George Wheeler has let her house, and is now residing with Miss A. Wright, of Wright street.

Dr. and Mrs. Street, of Chatham, left on Monday for England. They were detained at the Royal hotel here for a week in consequence of Mrs. Street's illness.

Mr. Alex. Miller of the London House, left for England on Tuesday.

The late F. F. Peter, and his sister of Charlottetown, P. E. I., were in town this week, also Mr. T. Sherman Peters of Gasquetown.

I understand that Dr. Osborn of St. Andrews, in tends soon removing to St. John and has taken a house in Princess street.

Dr. Alward is making large additions, and improvements to his house at Mount Pleasant.

Mr. Gobell, of Ottawa, deputy minister of public works, made a short visit lately to St. John. Mr. Gobell was accompanied by his wife. They stayed at the Dalhousie while they were here.

I believe that the experiment of having all the seats free in St. John's church has proved very satisfactory.

Miss Beale Lee, of Halifax, is here visiting her brother, Mr. G. Herbert Lee.

I am sorry to learn that the wife of the Rev. Mr. McNeill comes very ill. On Sunday evening her husband could not leave her, and his pulpit was filled by the Rev. Mr. Fotheringham.

I hear that the children of Mr. Harvey, manager of the Bank of British North America, are suffering from diphtheria.

Mr. John R. Storey, of the Manchester House, has fallen heir to a valuable estate in the county. By the terms of his father's will he could not inherit until the death of his mother, which has recently taken place.

Dr. J. M. Smith, dentist, who has been under treatment for rheumatism at Hot Springs, Arkansas, is improving in his health.

The many friends here of Mr. J. Miller, of the Bank of N. A., regret very much to hear that he is confined to his house in Germain street through illness. The bank has granted him six months' leave of absence, by which time, I trust, that his health may be fully re-established. Durga.

Of course the chief and almost the only topic this week is the calico ball, which was, without doubt, a decided success. I think Harrison's orchestra to nearly every number. The supper was delicious, and reflects great credit on the ladies in charge, as well as all the arrangements. The ball room was very prettily decorated with flags, cars, miniature canoes, etc., and at the rear of the room was seen a very pretty, having been fitted up with longes, easy chairs, screens, rugs, etc. The committee of management consisted of the president, Mrs. W. E. Vroom, Mrs. G. C. Coster, Mrs. Geo. F. Smith, Mrs. Winslow, Mrs. Geo. McLeod, Mrs. R. P. Starr, Countess de Burry, Mrs. de Wolf Spurr, Mrs. J. D. Hazen, Mrs. F. W. Peters, and Messrs. W. E. Vroom, LeB. Robertson, Jas. W. Thomas, F. C. Jones, J. Gillis Keator, J. W. Starr, and F. W. Starr. Nearly all of the gentlemen on the committee wore calico waistcoats and ties, but there were a few in ordinary evening dress as in all the dresses, but what few I can I will try and describe.

Mrs. Vroom made a charming Madame Pompadour in a calico dress of black with large flowered pattern over it; hair dressed in puffs and powdered.

Mrs. G. C. Coster, black net over black silk. Countess de Burry, pale blue satin, feather trimming.

Mrs. J. D. Hasso, cream mullin dress, with figured mullin trimmings, wattle style.

Miss Frankie Tibbels, figured over dress and pale blue petticoat.

Mrs. F. Sayre, costume of "one hundred years ago" of pale green satin; hair puffed and powdered.

Miss Hobbs, blue calico dress with white figures. Miss Hazen, pink evening dress.

Miss Robertson (Boston), pink evening dress.

Miss Ring, yellow silk dress, chiffon trimming.
