MICHAEL CONNELLY TO BUILD THE NEW WEST SIDE WHARF

Notice to this Effect Received from Ottawa Last Night - No Delay in Proceeding with Complete Development of St. John Harbor - Premier Borden's Promises Being Promptly Carried Out.

A dispatch was received from Ottawa last evening announcing that the government has accepted the tender of Michael Connelly for the construction of the new wharf on the West Side. The wharf will be the first of a series to be built south of Sand Point. The contract let to Mr. Connelly includes considerable work besides the actual construction of a wharf. It calls for a 200 feet extension of the C. P. R. wharf facing the harbor. From this point the new wharf will extend inwards at an angle a distance of 880 feet, making the longest steamer berth in the harbor. The head of the slip, a further 300 feet at right angles to the wharf, is also made for the construction of the head to the second slip. These two berths and also the wharf itself will act as retaining walls beyond which the spoil from the dredges will be dumped, thus providing a foundation for railway tracks and yard room. The old shelving beach behind Protection street will by this method be filled in and a start made on the neutral right of way, 400 feet wide, which will separate the new wharves from the property recently transferred to the C. P. R.

The "Empress berth" is the name given to the new wharf. It will be constructed on a plan not previously used in St. John harbor. The substructure will be at least to a height of 1 1/2 feet above low water and the superstructure of concrete. The top of the wharf will be 35 feet above low water. Steamers with a draft of 35 feet can be accommodated and if necessary the depth can be increased to 40 feet.

Mr. Connelly is well known as a dredging contractor and wharf builder in St. John harbor, where in the past he has done considerable work. The new style of wharf has given general satisfaction in Montreal and Quebec and is considered by engineers more permanent than the old type. The contract calls for the completion of the work within two years.
