

LATE SPORT NEWS AT HOME AND ABROAD

M'GOORTY IS AFTER THE GUNBOAT

Chicago, Oct. 26.—While sturdily denying that he has outgrown the middle weight division, Eddie McGoorty, Wisconsin's favorite athlete, still has an idea that he can do plenty of business in the heavyweight division if given the right sort of a chance. He wants to try, at least, and that is why he and his new manager, Jim Mullen, of this city, are now trying to hook up a battle with Gunboat Smith out on the Pacific coast. McGoorty is coming on here for a brief visit with his people and then will open a vigorous campaign in both the middle and light-weight classes.

The alliance between McGoorty and Mullen is not at all new. Eddie long has been very fond of Mullen and had him with him in the middleweight division in the heavyweights in this country. That's why he called Jim to meet him when he landed in San Francisco and Mullen anticipating some such message, was prepared to fight on. Though Mullen has not been an ardent follower of the boxing game for a long time and one of its best boxers, this will be his first actual experience in handling the affairs of a scrapper.

There have been hints from time to time out in Australia that McGoorty was getting bigger and soon would have the greatest difficulty in making anything approaching the middleweight limit. Inasmuch as Eddie has the reputation of being a "lazy trainer" and the Australian limit for his class is considerably higher than ours, these stories may have originated because Eddie didn't have to do a low weight over there. He always was a big looking fellow, but somehow or other he always managed to make the weight when called upon.

Some of the glamor has been taken off Gunboat Smith's reputation in some of his recent battles. Since being beaten by Georges Carpentier in London he hasn't done well. He got no honors out of his meeting in Pittsburgh with ancient Johnny Thompson, who not only struck the six rounds but was credited by some of the critics with having had the better of it. Likewise did the Gunboat suffer in his contest with Battling Levinsky, failing to show much against Dan Morgan's never idle, overgrown middleweight. So it behooves the Gunboat to busy himself and wipe out some of these black marks.

SPALDING'S FOOTBALL GUIDE.

How to Play Foot Ball, by Walter Camp, which is No. 47R in the Red Cover Series of Spalding's Athletic Handbooks, is published today. The book gives the All-America Teams since 1883, selected by Walter Camp. An Introductory Chapter for Beginners, by Walter Camp, How to Play Foot Ball, by Walter Camp, Modern Attack and Forward Pass, by Walter Camp, How to Play the Line Positions, by Tom Thorp, Play of the Backs, by W. T. Reid, Jr., How to Play Quarter Back, by Walter H. Eckersall, How to Coach a Prep School Team, by Ed. Thorp, Signals, by Tom Thorp and Ed. Thorp, Early Fall Practices, by Walter Camp, Training for Foot Ball, by the late Michael Murphy.

The book also contains many half tone illustrations of the subjects treated therein.

How to Play Foot Ball is not essentially for beginners alone, as it contains many chapters which can be read with profit by all who indulge in the sport.

THE VIC ROLL OFF.

The weekly roll off on the Victoria alleys last night was won by Thurston with a score of 102. Stevens was second with 98; Jenkins 3rd with 95.

Robt. Brown Ltd.,
Glasgow,
Proprietors.
Four
Crown
Scotch

A whisky unequalled for exquisite aroma and matchless bouquet.

It's a brand of good cheer, and good fellowship. As pure as the morning sunbeams, as mellow as ripe fruit from the orchards.

A Try Will Satisfy.

Foster & Co., St. John, N. B.
Agents for New Brunswick.

TWO BROWN UNIVERSITY STARS.

Captain S.K. Mitchell, Centre, Brown University, is building high hopes on these two masters of the gridiron, when the Brown eleven meets the Cornell veteran on Saturday next in New York city. They are at present playing in form style.

CRACK BALL-PLAYERS NOW BURIED IN BUSHES

Not much attention is paid these days to the short life of the star ball player. What becomes of him after he leaves the big leagues is a matter to which not many of the thousands of baseball fans give a thought. Not infrequently the star of today is the bush leaguer of tomorrow. Perhaps the most famous instance of this sort was the case of Rohe, a utility player with the Chicago White Sox. By accident it was necessary to draft him for the world's series against the Cubs, and it was his terrific hitting which brought the championship to Chicago.

After the end of the series the players announced that Comiskey had declared Rohe would always have a home with the White Sox in consideration of his great work in the series. Possibly this was mere newspaper talk, but at any rate the next year Rohe was sent to a club in the Southern league, and not even being good enough for that organization was shipped far out to some remote spot deep in the "sticks."

Jack Powell, once one of the best right handed pitchers in the game, seemed to be a man who defied odds. Although not noted for strict training methods he hung on for years after his end had been predicted. He was one of the bulwarks of the Yankees team in its early days and after being sold to the St. Louis Browns suddenly acquired a new lease of life and pitched some excellent ball before he drifted out of fast company. But he could not go on forever and the last word comes from the Venice team on the Pacific coast that Powell has received his release and can go where he pleases.

Another pitcher who was famed for a time has apparently come to the end of the road much more rapidly than Powell. Mick Maddox, once a Pirate who began this season as manager of the Wichita team, has been released. Although an extremely successful pitcher in the National league, the best he could do for Wichita was to win 3 games and lose 12. He was succeeded by another National leaguer, Peaches Graham, who made a great reputation with the Boston Nationals as a catcher, but fell away to nothing when sent to the Cubs.

The American association, which the players know as "the workhouse league," because its season is so long, fairly bristles with men who once famous in the big leagues, and some of them are playing such good baseball that it seems certain they were cast adrift too soon. Old John Titus, long a slugging star for the Phillies, who played his last big league engagement with the Braves, is now in the Kansas City outfield and clouting away at a furious pace. The fact that he was well-nigh killed by a pitched ball early in the season does not seem to have affected the nerve of the veteran in the slightest.

Cy Morgan, the minstrel man, once a crack pitcher of the Athletics, was a team mate of Titus, but has drawn his release. Other one-time big leaguers of the club are Rath, Mattick, Brief, Downey and Baskette.

St. Paul has Harry Niles, the speedy outfielder, who played with the Browns and the Yankees and the Red Sox before it came time for him to go. Perhaps his best known feat was catching a ball for the second out in the ninth inning of a game and then running all the way to the clubhouse under the impression that it was the final play of the game.

The Cleveland American association team, or the Bears, as they like to be called, has an infield made up entirely of ex-Yankees. Lelivelt is at first, Earl Gardner at second, Knight at shortstop and Stump at third. Jimmy Shockard, well known to New York fans for his depredations when a club, is manager of the team.

The manager of the Minneapolis team is said to have a prejudice against ball players under 40. Certainly he has veterans enough. Claude Rossman, who hung up one of the highest batting averages ever made in a world's series, is in the outfield. Rossman was with the Tigers when he made his brilliant record for the series. Lee Tannehill, considered one of the best shortstops or third basemen the game ever saw, is playing at the latter position. Lee was always a great fielder, but his weak hitting carried him out of the big leagues as soon as he began to slow up at all.

Daredevil Dave Altizer is another player tried and true who helps out with the chores about the infield. At first base is Hunter, who once promised to be a phenom with the Pirates. Jimmy Williams, the base second baseman the Yankees ever had, is still hitting the ball hard, as a Minneapolis man. Burns, the big left hander of the White Sox and the Senators, bears part of the pitching burden.

The International League once had only a few veterans, but now it numbers many former big leaguers. Freddy Parent, who played for the Red Sox in the first world's series and easily outshone Hans Wagner, is with Baltimore. So is Neal Ball, an ex-Yankee, who made a triple play unassisted while with Cleveland. Tim Jordan, who reigned for a very brief time as the best slugger in the National League is still with Toronto. Dave Sloan, Boston's butcher boy, is a member of the Providence Grays, and Al Materna, once one of the most sought after left-handers in the game, is with Newark. Buffalo has Beebe.

Not a few old-timers are in the Southern League. Gabby Street, who was supposed for a long time to be the only man capable of catching Walter Johnson effectively, is with Chattanooga, which is managed by Moose McCormick, the Giants' pinch hitter. Bemis is catching for Memphis. Hub Northern is with Mobile. New Orleans has Rube Kissinger.

The Western League is not very well supplied with veterans this season, but the big leaguers, such as Des Moines, Barbour in Denver and Congalton in Omaha.

Billy Goat dropped the turnip he was eating and jumped. The clock was still making a noise and Billy Goat ran as fast as he could and stood at some distance looking at the spot where the noise came from.

Billy Pig, of course, had been watching, and he laughed and rolled over on the grass, he was so pleased, but when he had waited a minute he jumped up and looked through the wall, and he stopped laughing.

JACK JOHNSON VS. WILLARD.

Lexington, Ky., Oct. 26.—Jack Curley, New York promoter, tonight declared that he had signed Jack Johnson and Jess Willard for a $35,000 purse in a world's championship battle. Curley said the fight would take place in Juarez, Mex. Havana or somewhere in Australia at a time to be announced later. Curley says personally he is sure that Willard can beat Johnson.

A MERE LAD WOULD TRY TO TAKE TITLE FROM WELSH

New York, Oct. 26.—A ring champion at 10 years. This is the personal recommendation presented by Alfred "Kid" Lewis upon his arrival in this country several days ago. Lewis does not ask you to take his word for it, he has clippings galore, and a Lord Londale championship belt to support his contention.

Lewis is the present featherweight champion of Europe and the light-weight champion of Austria. The Londale trophy is emblematic of the English championship. He came into possession of the European title by defeating Paul Tili, the French champion. Lewis' claim to the Antipodean championship is based on his victory over Hughie Mehegan, the Australian light-weight title holder from Jack Dempsey, and Jim Jeffries had just turned 27 when he thumped Fitz into submission with the heavy-weight championship at stake. Freddie Welsh is 28 years old, and it was only a few months ago that he took the light-weight title away from Ritchie.

Is Not Yet 20.

And Alfred "Kid" Lewis is not yet 20 years old. This data is furnished with a view to showing that Lewis would be the youngest champion of all time. Of course, he must first dispose of Welsh to acquire the distinction. But Lewis is confident that if the match is consummated he will surely emerge a victor.

Would be Youngest Champion.

Should Lewis be successful in wearing away the title from Welsh, he would be the youngest world's champion the ring has ever known. Terry McGovern was close to 21 when he won the featherweight title from Dixon, and McLaughlin was about the same

MALICITES DEFEATED EMERALDS

On the St. Peter's alleys last night the Malicites took three points from the Emeralds in the league tournament. The individual scores follow:

Emeralds.
Brown	53	73	68	194 64-23
Harrington	70	75	77	222 74
Dever	80	67	69	216 72
Kneeland	72	88	96	256 85-13
Cosgrove	90	91	96	277 92-13
365 394 406 1165

Malicites.
McGovern	89	90	78	267 85-23
McKenzie	63	76	68	197 65-23
McBriarty	66	87	81	234 78
Elliott	90	73	70	233 77-23
Olive	95	95	75	269 88-13
393 421 372 1186

Tonight's Game.

Erins vs. Micmacs.

Election of Officers.

The annual election of officers of the Young Men's Society of St. Joseph took place last evening in their rooms and resulted as follows: George Flood—President. F. W. Nugent—Vice-President. H. Kane—Recording Secretary. H. McLaughlin—Financial Secretary.

John Stanton—Treasurer. George Cunningham—Chairman of dramatics.

James McNulty—Chairman of sports and games.

Harold McHugh—Chairman of rooms and social committee.

John Morrissey—Sergeant at Arms.

The meeting was largely attended and no doubt that under the leadership of Father Howland and President Flood this will prove a banner year for the society.

Assault Case.

In the police court yesterday afternoon Joseph Friedman, a young Hebrew, was charged by a woman with assault. The complainant testified that a few days ago she entered Jacobson's store on Main street, to make a purchase. The defendant is a clerk in the store. The woman said that while in conversation with Mr. Jacobson, she was complaining that a man who hoarded in her house was getting behind in the payment of his board and that it was all because he had been losing money to Young Friedman's father, who was gambling with him. Young Friedman, she said, took of

YALE'S GREAT CAPTAIN.

Captain Ketcham.

Captain Ketcham, Yale's great football warrior, has found his right position on the eleven. The big player has been switched from centre to guard, and he makes one grand guard. At the Yale-Lehigh game he was the star in that position. Last season he was the all collegiate centre, and there is no doubt that he will be picked for guard this year.

WOMEN RACING HORSES

New York, Oct. 26.—There are quite a number of women racing horses in their own names at Latonia this fall. Mrs. J. Shilling, wife of the former jockey, has about the largest string of runners. She won third money in the fifth race Monday with Hecate, a fair sprinter. She also has Well

FRED WELSH LITTLE PEEVED AT THE CRITICS

Lightweight Champion Freddy Welsh is a little bit peeved at those critics inclined to make light of his title because he won it on a shade instead of by a wide margin.

"What's a shade for if it isn't to decide a winner?" Welsh asks.

"Baseball games are won by one run as well as ten. A game of polo can be won by one-quarter of a point. Golf matches, in which from 75 to 150 strokes are made by the contestants, are often decided by single strokes. Billiard matches are won by single points, and so are football games, after twenty-two men have struggled like demons for an hour. And very often the team that wins by the narrow margin has been outplayed.

"Horse races are decided by a nose, and running and boat races are won by steps and inches. In every line of sport except boxing there is a winner and a loser in nearly every contest, but when I outpointed Ritchie all the way the bowl goes up that I should not have been given the championship because I only shaded him.

"I'm not trying to belittle Ritchie. He's a grand fellow and a clever boxer, but I think I've been done an injustice by the kicks over Referee Cori's decision.

"In the olden days fighters kept at each other until one was thoroughly thrashed. There had to be a decision. If the fight had to be stopped before a winner was declared, they got together as soon as possible and settled the argument. But under present conditions the longest we can scrap is twenty rounds, so I don't see any reason why the man who does the best work in that distance should not be declared the winner, even if he's best by only a shade."

Known, Belle of Bryn Mawr and Dismis. M. Thompson is training the horses. Other women owners are: Mrs. R. McMillan, Mrs. T. M. Irwin, Mrs. W. A. Kirwin, Mrs. J. S. Everman, Mrs. P. Gehring, of Cincinnati; Mrs. A. G. Woodman and Mrs. E. Malone.

General Manager Hachmeister is thinking of putting on a race for horses owned by women.

NEW DUNLOP HEELS
SEAL OF QUALITY
PEERLESS
DUNLOP
HEEL PHRASE CONTEST
Ask for this card
You may get one of these prizes, aggregating $600 for the year, if you ask for the Pink Slip when making your purchase. It contains the instructions and is to be found in every Heel Box.

DUNLOP RUBBER HEELS

CANADA'S BEST
WILLIS
QUALITY AND DURABILITY
"THE WILLIS"
BEHIND WILLIS pianos and players stand public and artistic approval. THE WILLIS occupies a unique position among the great pianos of the world, and it is everywhere held in the highest esteem by artists and musical leaders, and is regarded as peerless in tone, touch, workmanship and durability.
WILLIS & CO., LTD. - Manufacturers - MONTREAL
LOCAL REPRESENTATIVES:
WILLIS PIANO & ORGAN CO.
HALIFAX AND ST. JOHN