In a recent letter home, Arthur N. Carter, writing from the training camp in England of the King Edward Horse, to which he and other Canadian Rhodes' scholars are attached, speaks of the impatience of the collegrans to get to the front and do something. This, he said, was the characteristic attitude of all who enlisted. Many of the Oxford men, he said, had accepted commissions, but that would ental a longer sojourn in England, and perhaps continuous drilling of recruits. Messrs. Reid and Dyde, Rhodes' men from Nova Scotia and Alberta, were going to remain as well as himself in the K. E. H. and get some experience at the front. Curiously cannough both Reid and Dyde, though representing other provinces at Oxford, are New Brunswickers, the former halling from Carleton County, and Dyde is a son of Doctor Dyde, once a well known professor at the University of New Brunswick.

Commenting upon the delay in getting to the front, Mr. Carter said everyone.

MORE GERMANS ON TURKISH SHIPS.

London, Nov. 12, 5.30 p. m.—An Englishman, long a resident of Constantinople, which city he left on November 1, has arrived in London. He says that in addition to the crews of the cruisers Goeben and Breslau, nearly 3,000 German officers are in the Turkish naval and Breslau, nearly 3,000 German officers are in the Turkish naval the German clerks of public, and private establishments were taken over by the military authorities, and placed in charge of the telegraph and postal departments of the censorship.

He adds: "Every Turkish ship has a German officer in command. It was a mistake that the Khedive was not allowed to return to Egypt some time ago, where he could have carefully watched developments, whereas in Constantinople, he is the centre of the improvement of the censorship.

Commenting upon the delay in getting to the front, Mr. Carter said everyone had implicit confidence in the minister of war, Kitchener, and their personal feelings must give way to his plan of campaign, but there was an impression that, while the German fleet avoided a fight, England would not be left without plenty of troops to repel a possible raid upon the coast.

of the Russian army in the Caucacus dated Tiflis, was made public tonight:

"The attacks of the Turks on our positions at Koprukeui November 11, were repulsed with great losses to the Turks. A Turkish column which attempted to turn our left wing was subjected to the cross-fire of our artifularly and was impetuously attacked by our infantry. The Turks fled into the mountains in complete disorder, pursued by our cavalry.

"Under the protection of the fortified positions of Devobommu the Turks continue to concentrate troops at Erzerum. They apparently are receiving reinforcements by way of Trebizond."
