

signs to her that I was hungry, and tried to make her understand there were twelve more coming. I found she had about 20 pounds of flour, but no meat of any kind, so she started in to make "slap jacks." I did not eat and encouraged her to make more until about three miles off our men were in sight. I took her out and showed her the crowd, and she held up her hands in despair. I put aside enough for herself and children for one day and made her understand I would send her plenty the following day, so she went to work and baked the balance of the flour. To my surprise she went out into the snow and dug up a white fish three feet long and put it into a pot of boiling water, scales, insides and all. This was as sweet a fish as I ever tasted.

In the meantime, I saw the very slow progress of the men. I got some birch bark and made a big smoke. The effect was magical and I could see them immediately begin to step out. When they came they ate everything in sight and I had a hard time to pre-
