Field Notes.

EVERYONE with a missionary heart is sure to read all that appears under the heading "ALONG THE LINE." Nothing stirs the heart like these bulletins from the field of battle, and we could wish which he incidentally refers to the good work among the Japanese on the Pacific Coast, under the self-denying labors of a native convert from San Francisco. Let prayer be offered for these strangers on our shores.

LAST month's picture of the reward books for 1893-94 is having a good effect. A letter from a minister's there were more of them; but let them be like Wellington's despatches— terse vigorous, and right to the point.

IN this number of the OUTLOOK are some letters that will be read with interest, and not the least interesting is one from the Rev. Thomas Crosby, in wife has the following: "I felt like coming over to Toronto on purpose to congratulate and thank you when I saw the first page of January OUTLOOK. It is a grand idea having the children's rewards there, and will help along the children's work wonderfully. At once our Eugenie decided on the book she wanted and would try for."
