

PAGE BLURRED /
PAGE PARBOUILLEE

C164587 17

Here -- we have the former Canadian Secretary of State -- concisely expressing the essence of the issue -- which arises between the two schools of thought -- which we shall find in the General Assembly of the United Nations -- when that body comes to pass upon the International Bill of Rights.

At the same time -- with his profound philosophical pessimism -- the late Mr. Cahan pointed out -- that the ultimate objective "may never be fully attained."