

CONCERNING
HAROLD BINDLOSS,

AUTHOR OF
"THE IMPOSTOR," "THE LIBERATIONIST," ETC.

"MR. BINDLOSS writes books which are always good to read. His writing is uniformly good, and his books are always sane, intensely interesting, and dealing with subjects that cannot fail to concern a wide public. He has a real gift for telling stories, and the interest that he arouses in the reader's mind on the first page he sustains up till the last page in the volume."—The Queen.

"One can always depend upon a novel of adventure from MR. BINDLOSS, and, whether the scene is set amid the lonely prairies of the great North-West or the fever swamps of the hinterland of the West Coast of Africa, he is equally at home."—The Glasgow Herald.
