

Local Budget

Mrs. Cyril Daniel has entered St. Joseph's Hospital.

Walter Verrall, of Detroit, spent Sunday in the city.

Jerrold Waddell has returned from two weeks' shooting at the Bay.

The Wagon Works is closed down, as the company is taking stock.

Mrs. Wm. Tighe, has purchased the residence of A. F. Falls, on Wellington street.

A telephone has been placed in the barrister's room at the court house. It is No. 3B.

One of Drader's horses, pulling a 3,000 pound load, got stuck in the road on Head street yesterday afternoon.

Mrs. A. F. Falls leaves for Lakeside on Thursday, with her son, Sydney, who will enter the Rev. W. McKenzie's school in that place.

Wait & Sons have closed the contract with Manager McCormick, of the Beet Sugar Company at Wallaceburg, for the plumbing of Mr. McCormick's new residence.

Mr. and Mrs. A. F. Falls leave for Winnipeg and Victoria on Friday for a two month visit. Unless Mr. Falls is benefitted by the change he will prolong his absence.

School section No. 7, Chatham Tp., will give a grand school concert at Chatham Centre on Friday, Nov. 22. The program will consist of dialogues, recitations, drills and songs. James Clancy, M. P., will occupy the chair.

John Piggott, Sr., has returned from a trip to Georgian Bay District. He reports five inches of snow in Owen Sound Saturday. He says the trip in Georgian Bay was the roughest he ever experienced in those parts. But he enjoyed the sail very much, the rocking of the boat giving him a good appetite.

J. Beardon, advance agent for Mr. Reeves-Smith, in a "Brace of Particles," was in the city yesterday and placed his order for his entire printing for his return Canadian trip with The Planet Show Printing Department.

The company will appear in this city on the 25th inst., and this most interesting and attractive play should draw a large house.

Walter Piggott was in Wallaceburg on Saturday and says the building operations of the beet sugar factory are progressing rapidly. Most of the concrete work for the foundation and part of the stone work being done. The contractors intend pushing the work through the winter months to be ready for operations next season. "The bill of lumber and factory work is the largest that the firm has ever received for one particular building," said Mr. Piggott.

IT'S CHILD'S PLAY

To treat a woman for a disease year after year and give her no permanent relief. Yet that has been the case with scores of women who have "doctored" for year after year.

unhelped and unhealed to find at last that a few bottles of Doctor Pierce's Favorite Prescription would have saved years of suffering and a great deal of money.

For the regulation of the periods, the stopping of disagreeable drains, the healing of inflammation and ulceration, and the cure of female weakness, there is no medicine can equal Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

It makes weak women strong and sick women well.

"About five years ago I had very poor health," writes Mrs. S. E. Whalen, of Holden, Johnson Co., Missouri, "after doctoring four years with our town doctors they gave me up; said they had done all they could. I had been confined to my bed half my time, the other half could hardly drag around. I had such pains in my back and abdomen I could not stand for more than a few minutes. My feet were cold or burning, and my periods came too often. The doctors said it was change of life, so, as I had heard of Dr. Pierce's medicine, my husband got me a bottle of 'Favorite Prescription.' I took it and it helped me in some ways, so I wrote to you and followed your advice. I commenced 'Favorite Prescription,' 'Golden Medical Discovery' and the 'Pellets,' as I was so constituted all the time and pills would weaken me so that I would have to go to bed. To the great surprise of everybody I got well, and when I met my friends they would say, 'We never thought you would be here now.' But I can say it was your medicine which no doubt is the best in the world. Have had no use for doctors since I tried your medicine."

ON CHURCH HYMNODY

REV. ALEX. McMILLAN'S INTERESTING LECTURE IN RORONTO.

Old St. Andrew's Church Choir Illustrated the Various Forms of Church Music From the Earliest Times—Marked Dignity of Setting and Expressive of Reverence.

The second of the series of lectures inaugurated by the Toronto Conservatory of Music proved of great interest. The lecturer was the Rev. Alexander McMillan, pastor of St. Enoch's Presbyterian church, and his subject, "Church Hymnody."

Mr. McMillan succeeded in inspiring his hearers, with something of his own enthusiasm, and throughout the entire evening the interest never flagged. He was rendered excellent assistance by the choir of Old St. Andrew's church, which contributed a program illustrative of various forms of church music from the earliest days. It was noticeable that from the Gregorian chant to the present day hymn tune the music was marked by a strange dignity of setting, and was expressive of that reverence and spirituality which the lecturer deemed the fitting characteristics of his theme.

The first Scriptural reference to the singing of a hymn is found in the Gospels. We are told that before going to the Mount of Olives, "the same night on which He was betrayed, the Master, with His disciples, soon to be separated from Him, sang a hymn." This was their custom. For many years the Hebrew mothers had taught their children the magnificent words of the Psalms, and in the temple services and impressive antiphonal singing, voice answering voice, had long been used in the "Song of Miriam," "When Israel Came Out of Egypt," and similar odes containing much of the history of the Jewish people.

The formation of the Christian Church was accompanied by congregational and home singing. From an authenticated source it is learned that in the first centuries "a body calling themselves Christians met at sunrise and joined in singing together."

The Gregorian chant is the earliest form of church music, the voices being entirely in unison without any harmony as known to-day. In this form were sung strains of the old synagogue music, used by the Hebrews in the celebration of their various feasts. Later were introduced other portions of Scripture, such as the doxologies of the New Testament, the Song of the Seraphim, "Holy, Holy, Holy," the song of the angels on the night of Christ's birth, "Glory to God in the Highest," the Song of Mary, "My Soul Doth Magnify the Lord," the prayer of Simon, "Lord, now lettest Thou Thy servant depart in peace." These were sung in the next form of church music—the plain song, a chant without metrical form.

In addition to Bible words writers soon began to express their thoughts in verse. Beginning in the Eastern or Greek church this spread to the Latin or the West. It was Dr. Mason Neil, of London, England, who first attempted the translation of these verses, thus giving to the whole English speaking world, a rich heritage of hymnology.

Prior to the Reformation congregational singing had to some extent suffered an eclipse, the music in church services being confined to trained male choirs. But with the spiritual revival came a return to the original method. To the English and Scotch refugees Geneva offered a safe hiding place, and the Psalms were first placed in metrical form. The first English Psalter contained sixty-one selections and the second eighty-seven. In addition to these there were retained from the Gloria, the Benedictus, the Nunc Dimittis, the Benedictus, and the Jubilate of the early days.

The first Scotch Psalter was published in 1564, and in 1615 appeared an edition with music, and of this the lecturer exhibited an original, the fortunate owner being Mr. A. T. Cringan, of so-far fame. For three centuries the Scotch church continued the exclusive use of metrical Psalms, a divine public worship, while in England the chant was fully developed and the singing of hymns became universal.

Coming to the threshold of modern hymnology, the lecturer referred briefly to the writings of Thomas Ken, who, among many others of merit, wrote the well known hymn, "Glory to Thee, my God, this Night," which in its original form reads, "All praise to Thee, my God, from whom all blessings flow." From a great number, mediocre as well as great, written by Isaac Watts, there were instanced. "When I Survey the Wondrous Cross," "Jesus Shall Reign Where'er the Sun," "There is a Land of Pure Delight," etc. Charles Wesley was Isaac Watts' worthy successor. To him the church owes such hymns as "Jesus Lover of My Soul," "Love Divine All Love Excelling," "O, for a Thousand Tongues to Sing," "Hark, the Herald Angels Sing," "Christ, the Lord, is Risen To-day," and a host of others well known and beloved.

English Women as Physicians.

That the English woman is establishing a reputation in the profession of medicine is evidenced by the fact that at the last intermediate examination of the University of London for the degree of bachelor of medicine twenty-one women students who presented themselves, passed with credit, two taking honors. Also encouraging is the increasing number of women receiving public appointments in institutions where women and children are treated and serving on hospital staffs. The Metropolitan Hospital for Women at Euston road is managed almost wholly by women physicians. The London Royal Free hospital has appointed two resident medical officers who are women.
