

Did you ever have your range grates burn out?

If you did you will know what that means in common ranges—it means plumbers, delay, muss and big bills—because common ranges are built that way. As range grates must some time burn out you are certain to have that kind of trouble if yours is a common range.

If you have the Pandora you won't have any trouble, because you can take out the old grates and put in the new ones in ten minutes, and a ten cent piece for a screw-driver does it easier in the Pandora than a whole kit of plumbers' tools will do it in common ranges.

A ten cent piece for a screw-driver is all you need to take out old and put in new Pandora grates.

It is related of Baron Alphonse de Rothschild, who died recently in Paris, that on one occasion three strangers called at his banking house. They said they had been deputed by a committee to inform him that a movement then on foot at no distant day would compel all rich men to aid in redistribution of wealth and that his name headed the list. The Baron listened patiently and drew a sheet of paper toward him.

"Please tell me the population of France and her colonies," he said. One of his visitors gave the desired information, whereupon M. de Rothschild made some calculations, at the conclusion of which he said:

"According to your estimate, gentlemen, my fortune, divided equally, represents three cents to each man. I have much pleasure in giving you your share now."

So saying, and to the astonishment of his visitors, he tendered three cents to each, and politely bowed them out.

We come upon the auto, standing at the brow of the hill.

"Hello," we say to the chauffeur.

"Broken down?"

"No, sir," he responds.

"Out of gasoline?"

"No, sir. We have plenty."

"Tire punctured?"

"No, sir. The tires are in perfect condition."

"Lost your way?"

"No, sir. The country hereabouts is very familiar."

"Dropped something from the auto?"

"No, sir. Nothing of the sort."

"Then why are you standing here?"

Why are you not shooting down the hill and across the level at a terrific speed?"

"I do not care to do that," says the owner of the machine, who has been silent until this moment. "I had my auto stopped here so that I might enjoy the magnificent view from this elevation."

With a frightened glance at him, we turn and hasten to the nearest town, to warn the officials that an evidently insane person is at large in an automobile.

THE SPICE OF LIFE.

"When W. D. Howells," said a publisher, "was the editor of Harper's, a young man of humble and rough exterior one day submitted personally to him a poem.

"Mr. Howells looked over the poem. Then he said to the young man:

"Did you write this poem yourself?"

"Yes, sir. Do you like it?" the youth asked.

"I think it is magnificent," said Mr. Howells. Did you compose it unaided?"

"I certainly did," said the young man firmly. "I wrote every line of it out of my own head."

Mr. Howells rose and said:

"Then, Lord Byron, I am very glad to meet you. I was under the impression that you had died at Missolonghi a good many years ago."

There is no greater handicap to success than a gloomy face and a pessimistic disposition. Many a man has made his way quickly simply because men like to see a happy face, and they are glad to help one that faces life pluckily and cheerfully.

The kind of man picked out by a Morgan, or a Rockefeller for hard and important work is the cheerful man.

If you see Morgan, Rockefeller, Harriman, you will see types of the gloomy, pessimistic man. For money does not make them happy, and with no one to control them they indulge their tendency to gloom.

But the men that they pick out as good workers are cheerful.

Morgan's young partners and Rockefeller's young partners are men who actually make it a business to be cheerful.—Arthur Brisbane.

HOW TO DRINK A FARM.

Bob Burdette gives this simple recipe: "My homeless friend with a chromatic nose, while you are stirring up the sugar in a ten-cent glass of gin, let me give you a fact to wash down with it. You may say you have longed for years for the free, independent life of the farmer, but have never been able to get money enough together to buy a farm. But that is just where you are mistaken. For some years you have been drinking a good, improved farm at the rate of a hundred square feet a gulp. If you doubt this statement, figure it out yourself. An acre of land contains 43,560 square feet. Estimating, for convenience, the land at $43.56 an acre, you will see that it brings the land to just one mill per square foot. Now, pour down the fiery dose and imagine you are swallowing a strawberry patch. Call in five of your friends and have them help you pulp down that five-hundred-foot garden. Go on a prolonged spree some day, and see how long it requires to swallow enough pasture land to feed a cow. Put down that glass of gin! there is dirt in it—one hundred feet of good, rich dirt, worth $43.56 per acre."

Lieut. Peary was praising tea as a cold-weather drink.

"In our dash for the pole," he said, "it will be hot tea that we will rely on rather than Peebles ham."

"Peebles ham?"

"Yes, Peebles ham," said Lieut. Peary. "Did you never hear of Peebles ham?"

"Well, this is the story:

"There were two old Scotch women, Mrs. MacWhirter and Mrs. McBean, who met on the road one day, and Mrs. MacWhirter says:

"Losh me, woman, yer far frae hame the day."

"Aye," says Mrs. McBean. "I was just yont at Peebles. Sanders MacNabb o' Peebles keeps rale guid ham. Oor John, ye ken, likes a bit guid ham, and is aye yammerin' about the ham bein' ower fat and ower saut."

"Oor Tom," says Mrs. MacWhirter, "is the same way. There's nae pleasin' o' him wi' his ham. Faith, I'll hae to gi' MacNabb a trial."

"So Mrs. MacWhirter journeys to Peebles, and she says to Sanders MacNabb, the grocer:

"Gie's a pound o' yer ham."

"What kind," says Sanders, "wad ye like?"

"Oh, just the kind that Mrs. McBean gets," says the lady.

MacNabb packed family.

"A richt," says the lady. "Wham's yer pack?"
