On December 11, 1916, the SUPREME COURT OF THE UNITED STATES adjudged our basic patent for air-froth flotation to be valid, holding that this patent covers any process of froth flotation wherein the results obtained are such results as are secured by the use of a fraction of one per cent., on the ore, of an oily frothing agent in an ore-pulp, with agitation. Three of the thirteen claims which specified the use of "a small quantity of oil" and which the Court held to be invalid have since, by proper disclaimer, been brought within the scope of the Supreme Court's decision and, at a recent trial in the United States District Court at Butte, Montana, Judge Bourquin admitted these claims as amended.

On May 24, 1917, the UNITED STATES CIRCUIT COURT OF APPEALS at Philadelphia, in the case of Minerals Separation, Ltd., against Miami Copper Company, unanimously sustained the validity and broadly construed a second basic patent, owned by us, for the use of all "Soluble Frothing Agents." In the same opinion, the Court also validated a third patent for the use of cresols and phenols in the cold and without acid. The defendants, Miami Copper Company, endeavored to avoid infringement of these patents by using Callow pneumatic cells, but the Court held that the operations of the defendant company infringed all three patents.

Prospective users of our flotation processes are earnestly requested not to be misled by the mistaken views disseminated by interested parties that any of these BASIC PROCESS PATENTS can be evaded by a mere variation of apparatus for agitating and aerating the pulp, or by the simple addition of oils or other materials in excess of a fraction of one per cent. on the weight of the ore treated.
