In Order to Appease Fanaticism of Turkish People.

London, Oct. 3-A dispatch to the news agencies from Rome states that the bombardment of Tripoli by the Italian fleet has begun. The message was timed at the Italian capital at 11.30 o'clock this morning, but the hour at which the bombardment be gan is left in doubt. Up to this afternoon no confirmation had been recety ed of the report though last night's advices indicated that the attack cn the Tripolitan fort might begin to-

Tripoli Is Three Times Italy's Size And Is Bigger Than British Columbia.

Tripoli, the present province of the Ottoman empire, which is gaining universal attention as the struggle between Italy and Turkey for possession becomes more of a possibility, is on the northern portion of Africa, bounded by the Mediterranean sea.

Few people would imagine that the province of Tripoli has an rea of 899,000 square miles, bigger than British Columbia, and over three times as big as Italy, yet such seems to be the case.

Tripoli is subdivided into four livas, or provinces, Tripoli, Benghazi, Mesurata and Gadanus. The governor-general has the title, rank and authority of a pasha of the Ottoman empire The population is believed to be over 1,300,000, Lebyan Berbers, Moors, a few Arabs, with 3,000 Europeans, and some 24,000 Jews. Tripoli is rich in history. From the Phoenicians Tripoli passed to the rulers of Cyrenaica, from whom it was wrested by the Carthaginians. It afterwards belonged to the Romans, the Arabs, Spain and After 1551 it belonged to the Turks, and of late Italy has extended her interests there. The capital city, Tripoli, lies on the edge of the desert, on point of rocky land, jutting into the Mediterranean sea. It is a typical Moorish city with high walls, beautiful gardens, many mosques and several large churches. Several anti-Turkish rebellions have taken place, notably in 1842 and 1844, but they have always been suppressed The religious movement set on foot by the Prophet Senusi, in the middle of the 19th century, is the most remarkable feature in the recent history of Tripoli. The first Senusi died in 1860, and was succeeded by his son, 1849 to 1902. He was called the Mahdi, and commanded the devotion of a large following in Northern Africa, something similar to the better known Mahdi in the Soudan.
