

The Brigade Parade.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir.—I notice on last Friday evening there was a grand turnout amongst the three brigades, namely the "Church Lads," the "Catholic Cadets" and the "Newfoundland Highlanders," but there seemed to be a want to make it a great parade and notwithstanding the nonappearance of the Methodist Guards the other three brigades turned out in full kit. It would seem to carry one's mind to other climes to listen to the beautiful strains of the C. L. B. band, the grand patriotic tunes and appearance of the Lads was beautiful to witness. The squad that represented Newfoundland at the Toronto exhibition was the chief attraction for their many appearance although they did not take first place they made a splendid showing. Congratulations for future success. I am wondering particularly why the Guards did not participate in the turnout, is it that they are ashamed of their sister brigades or is it prejudice. I would not think there would be any ill feeling amongst them. The Guards, so I am informed, are a sporting lot, but I fail to see where the sportsmanlike figures in that instance of last Friday as well as the Coronation Sports in not participating. I like to see unity existing among the brigades respectively. If the Guards have any grievance with the brigades let them come to an immediate settlement or not participate in any other function in connection with the other brigades. They not only failed to turn up in the square but even failed to give them a welcome home. I am extremely sorry for the Guards that their officers should treat them so undeservingly. Thanking you for valuable space in the "People's Paper."

Yours truly,

G. C. KENNEDY.

Wedding Bells.

ANDREWS-ANTLE.

The marriage of Miss Annie Louise Antle to Mr. George H. Andrews of the Daily News staff, was solemnized yesterday afternoon at George Street church, Rev. J. W. Bartlett officiating. The bride was neatly attired and was attended by her cousin, Miss Carrie Parsons, daughter of Capt. Parsons of the S. S. Solway, while the groom was supported by his brother Charles. After the ceremony a reception was held at the residence of the groom on Freshwater Road. At 5:30 Mr. and Mrs. Andrews, accompanied by their guests, drove to Waterford Bridge where they joined the train for Bay Roberts to spend their honeymoon.

Sciatica and Lumbago

Sciatica, neuralgia and sciatic rheumatism are the result of a run-down nervous system. For this reason all treatments must necessarily fail which do not build up the nervous system.

Mr. W. T. Collins, Morpeth, Ont., writes: "It affords me pleasure to be able to speak favorably of two of Dr. Chase's medicines—the Nerve Food and Kidney-Liver Pills. I had been a sufferer for twenty-five years from sciatica, lumbago and neuralgia and tried almost all the medicine I could hear of, without one particle of benefit, until I commenced to use Dr. Chase's. I noticed an improvement before I had used two boxes, and the benefits obtained by continued use have been wonderful. I have so much confidence in these two medicines that I have recommended them to dozens of my friends, and I have yet to hear of a single case in which they failed to give satisfaction."

Dr. Chase's medicines are for sale by all dealers, or by direct order to Dr. Chase, Ltd., London, England.

Conversation.

BY H. L. RANN.

Conversation is a method of polite articulation which is sometimes accompanied by thought. This is not necessary, however, as thousands of people are able to converse for hours at a stretch without making any perceptible drain upon the mental faculties.

A conversationalist is a person who is invited to a social gathering for the purpose of plugging up embarrassing pauses in the conversation with bright sayings which are so bright that they have worn shiny. A good conversationalist is a rare bird, and can put everybody at his ease by springing a risqué story with an apologetic cough at the psychological moment.

The most popular form of conversation is the uninterrupted variety which has no particular destination. This kind usually begins with an argument about the ingredients of corn starch pudding and winds up with some critical remarks relative to the new minister. Some people are low-minded enough to call this form of long-distance conversation "the gift of gab."

A great many people are able to converse intelligently upon any topic without raising their voice higher than the door sill, while others tune up to high G and secure added emphasis by waving their hands and feet. Most of the political conversation now in vogue is conducted on the latter plan.

Owing to the innate sense of courtesy and lack of opportunity, men do not rush into conversation when there are no women present. No man ever attempted to monopolize the conversation in the presence of several undaunted females without contributing his mite to the mortuary records. This is one reason why so many men never start to say anything in a mixed company without dodging.

The most unbridled forms of conversation is that which attacks a swivel-tongued employee on a rush job. This has a discouraging effect upon most employers and cause them to utter mournful cuss words in a savage tone of voice.

Discovered New Comet

Boston, Sept. 14.—A new comet was discovered on the night of September 8th, according to an announcement by the astronomers at the Harvard Observatory. The news of the discovery of the comet, was contained in a cablegram from the observatory at Kiel, Germany, who said that Astronomer Gale at Sydney, Australia, had made the first observations. The comet's position, according to Gale was right ascension 13 hours, 37 minutes, and one-tenth seconds, declination minus 26 degrees, 31 minutes, two-tenths seconds.

WHY THEY NEEDED HIM.

When Senator Taylor was Governor of Tennessee, he issued a great many pardons to men and women confined in penitentiaries or jails in that State. His reputation as a "pardoning Governor" resulted in his being besieged by everybody who had a relative incarcerated. One morning an old negro woman made her way into the executive offices and asked Taylor to pardon her husband, who was in jail. "What's he in for?" asked the Governor.

"For nothin' but stealin' a ham," explained the wife.

"You don't want me to pardon him," argued the Governor. "If he got out he would only make trouble for you again."

"Deed I does want him out ob dat place!" she objected. "I needs 'dat man."

"Why do you need him?" inquired Taylor, patiently.

"Me an' de chillun," she said, seriously, "needs another ham."

Two Fishermen in Peril.

Rescued by Motor Boat—Thrilling Experience.

Last evening two fishermen belonging to Blackhead, were driven off from the land near their homes and had a narrow escape from a watery grave. One man was named Shortall. Both are twenty years of age.

During the afternoon the weather was rough and many skiffs were in the "gulches" near Blackhead for shelter, awaiting for the wind and sea to subside. Shortall and his companion, being more venturesome than the others, rowed away from the shore. They reached the vicinity of Cape Spear, anchored and started to fish. Scarcely had they done so when the wind came up from a high point and a very heavy sea began running. Realising their predicament the fishermen attempted to take in their grapple, but were unsuccessful. Next they endeavoured to row close to the land, but their efforts were unavailing. At last the little craft became unmanageable and gradually drifted out to sea. The occupants put up signals of distress which were noticed by fishermen from the shore. The latter were alarmed, but were powerless to give assistance. The report of the two men being missing quickly spread around Blackhead, causing much uneasiness. Soon the boat was lost from view. Hopes of the unfortunate fellows surviving were being abandoned, when a motor boat, which was returning from the Cape Shore grounds, came in sight. The motor was manned by two men named Drudge and Pretty who were on their way to St. John's. They were hailed and asked to go and look for the missing men. They agreed and hastened out. They soon saw the two men and bore down on them, picking them up and bringing them safely to their homes. On arrival at Blackhead men, women and children, from a cliff, cheered lustily for Messrs. Drudge and Pretty for their gallant deed which will not soon be forgotten by the people of Blackhead. Shortall and his chum would never have survived but for the presence of the motor boat, as when picked up they were exhausted from exposure and their boat was nearly filled with water.

FRANK DISCUSSION.

A young man, who had just married, suggested to his wife that they should argue some question fully and frankly every morning. This he thought would help them to gain a fuller insight into each others' nature, thus making for increased happiness. The first question happened to be: "Can a woman dress on fifteen pounds a year?" He took the affirmative. And when last seen he had climbed into a hay-loft, and was pulling the ladder up after him.

PENSIIVISM.

A certain country visitor was one day visiting some of his church members, among whom was an old gossiping woman, who was always complaining of something. No sooner had he sat down than she began with her grumbling. "But," said the minister, "I don't see what you are always grumbling at." "For instance, your potatoes are the best I have seen in the village." "Ah," replied the woman, "but what's the bad ones for the pigs?"

BY EXTRACTION.

"You display a great knowledge of Scotland, Mr. X," once remarked a judge to a lawyer who has since held very high legal office; "are you a Scotsman?" "No, my lord," was the reply; "but I receive a great many fees from Scotsmen." "Ah," retorted the judge, "then you are a Scotsman by extraction."

INSULTED.

A city visitor heard a farmer's wife say that she got up at four every morning, and the city visitor said, "You must go to bed with the chickens to be able to do that."

"Indeed, I have a nice house of my own," was the indignant reply.

A SOFT ANSWER.

With a sigh she laid down the magazine article upon Daniel O'Connell. "The day of great men," she said, "is gone for ever." "But the day of beautiful women is not," he responded. She smiled and blushed. "I was only joking," she explained hurriedly.

PATIENCE.

Millie (watching a revolving light on the coast)—"How patient sails are Jack?" Jack—"Are they dear?" Millie—"They must be! The wind has blown out that light six times, and they still keep on lighting it again."

HOW IT AFFECTED HIM.

Customer—"How is that clerk of yours that got hurt when the soda fountain exploded?" Druggist—"I'm sorry to say, sir, that he's what you might call a fizical wreck!"

DEPENDS ON HOW YOU SAY IT.

Bill (cheerfully): "Hello, Jack! Married yet?" Jack (sadly): "Yes, married yet."
