Victory Through fice. Is it right America?.... Put your patriotism before your profits, play the game." Sacrifice.

A British officer recently stood be ore a great meeting of American bankers in Minneapolis and warned them, not against the pessimists but against "the optimists who, since the Inited States entered the war, are oo much inclined to think it is all ver but the shouting." "There are," said the British officer, "days of great slaughter before the day of great outing, and tens of thousands, perhaps hundreds of thousands of gallant nen must go down, down to the Valley of the Shadow, ere the day of victory dawns. It is a blood-red pathway that eads to the final triumph."

The Minnesota Bankers' Association hought so highly of this speech, and vere so impressed that Americans everywhere would be steadied by it, they had it reprinted in pamphlet form general distribution. The British who delivered it was Captain Edwards of the Royal Fusiliers, th African veteran who has servofficers sent from England at the recampaign of war publicity. Capt. dwards impresed upon his audience hat the only road to victory lies arough sacrifice, and that American sacrifices must be great before a durble peace can be conquered. He told

Often he found than his wife and three children at home in England could possibly hope to have in a whole week. "You don't know war yet, America!" he cried.

And he continued "A man asked me the other day, there were a large number of bankers gathered together: 'Have you ever seen so many bankers together before in one room. . . . gentlemen I have seen many more bankers than this, assembled together. British bankers. Where? I will tell you-on the fields of France marching into action I have seen a battalion of a thousand men marching into action to fight and to die, and every man a banker."

"You don't know what it has cost us in man power. A man said to me the other day in America: 'You know since we have come into this war we are going to show the world what we can do, and this American nation is going to startle the world in this war. If needs be we are going to put into the fields of France five millions of men. Five million men!
