 litle over a million and a quarter to bill balders, while the omount due to other beake is only $$ 400,391$. Tts assete are comprised as follows:-Coin, bullion, and Pomprised as foliows:-Coin, bullion, an other property of the bank, $$ 277,687$ cory notes, or bills of of other banke, promis, $$ 106$, 284; balances due from other bank C174,231; notes and bills discounted debts due to the bank, , ont inicluded under the foregoing heade, 8498,783 ; total, $\% 9$ the foregoing heads, 8498,788 ; total, $\% 9$, 140,982. From this it will be seen that the other banks in the Province will no page of the Commercial, and there is therefore no fear lowed by others.
The Montreal Gazette, referring to the meeting of bank managers in that city, 辛 anys the feeling was so urgent ihat he last, and met again on Monday morning In the British North American Bank. All the managers expressed themselves quite *he Commercial Bank in proportion to their capital ; the Bank of Montreel alone refusig. This Bank had made an ad vance of $$ 300,000$ some weeks ago, upo capital and ability to do more, unless the other banks would guarantee; the othe banks standing quite ready to do their eshare, could not consent to any special treal; a and soanafter holding during the ayy four protracted and anxiousmeetings ahy entire matter had to come to a failure inc consequence of the action of the Bank, of Montreal, and Mr. King, its manager. of Montreal, and Mr. King, its manager The conduct of this manager was most dogmatic, and hai it not been that the meeting was so strongly impressed wit Ehe immense importance of the occasio the immense importanee of the occasion, and the necessity for petient discussion and calm and right action, Mr. Kin and chit have beetrshewn a proper appre ciation of his conduct.

The press and pubc opinion seem to circumstances, and the sefisis Mr. King, the Manager of the Bank o Montreal, been compelled to suspend pay ment, still the consequently its bllis in circelataion will bo paid dollar for dollar. It is the interest of brokers and money.shavers to depre ciate the bills of the bank, in order the cinte the bills of the bank, in order that they may be able to buy them up at they may be able to buy them up at a heavy discount, and afterwards get them redeemed at their par value, and thus redeemed at their par value, and thus make a handsome profit of the unfoi iunate bill holders. We see no reason why a single bill ehould be passed or sold a over one per cent discount.

The Revolt in Crete.

 Tha State of Italy has absorbed so muchattention lately that the efforts of the Cretan insurgents to shate oft the Cretan insurgents to shake orfs the yoke of the Turks have been almost forgoten. of the Turks have been almost forgotten.
The visit of the Sultan to England has not been without good results. He saw people living and exulting in freedom, and he rather liked the picture. It was a asetul journey to His Majesty, and it may be of immense beneitit to the people ove whom he sways despotic authority. Would appear to have rendered his min and too offen been but a synonym fo unrelenting cruelty and barbarity, that one greatt thing accomplished. He saw the Cretan insurrection in a differen light light; he was not so indignant as former under foreign despotism, should still evine the spirit of their progenitorss an struggle earnestly, energetically for th tan has endeavored to treat with h Cretan subjects, but it is reported tha they refuse to accept any terms short o annexation to Greece. It must be re of Crete are not exclusively of the Hel would be by no meession of the ieland Thammedan portion of the population the history of civilized, or even of chris ap 1 the magnanimity and human of the Sultan. But the proverbial treeach. ery of the Turkish race has negatived the effect which such a proclamation migh offect which such a proclamation might otherwise have had. We hear that the Cretans regard the promises as delusory Cretans regard the promises as delusory, and that hostilities have been renewed and that hostilities have been renewed.

Such a report is not incredible if we reflect on the former tyranny of the Porte, an descendants of the men who maintaine their libe
