LONDON, MONDAY, OCT. 12.

A JANUS-FACED CAMPAIGN.

The Ontario Minister of Public Works, Dr. Reame, is Mr. Borden's latest platform recruit from the ranks of the Provincial politicians. Dr. Reame's speech was an epitome to Mr. Ames' lantern show at Montreal Thursday night. The Montreal Herald says:

"Dr. Reame spoke in French and discussed the general record of the Laurier Government, which, he said, had begun its career by sacrificing the interests of Manitoba to satisfy fanaticalism, and has gone on in the last Parliament and done the same thing for the French of Alberta and Saskatchewan. The Government was inundating the west with Doukhobors and such characters to destroy French influence. The French-Canadians in Ontario had knocked at the doors of the Liberal administration for thirty years without getting their rights, and did not get them until Ontario put in power Sir James Whitney, who would speak in Montreal on Friday, and should be heard by all French-Canadians."

Dr. Reame dare not repeat these remarks before an English-speaking audience in Ontario. Fancy addressing such an argument to a Conservative meeting in this city! What a commentary it would be upon the local Conservative campaign in 1905! The electors of London were told in screaming newspaper headlines that "A vote for Hyman was a vote for Laurier, Sbarretti and the Hierarchy," and the speeches of the Conservative candidate and his platform associates teemed with similar appeals to race and creed bigotry. This was the fanaticism of the Liberals of London had to contend with then—a fanaticism directed against the very policy which Dr. Reame says sacrificed the interests of Laurier's co-religionists. Laurier has had to fight another group of fanatics in his own province. It was to this class that Dr. Reame addressed himself. By the Conservative press and politicians in Quebec Laurier has been always assailed as a traitor to his race and religion; but it is something new to have an Ontario Conservative tell them the same thing. He will not do it in Ontario. Laurier's enemies have one story for this Province and another for Quebec. This Janus-faced campaign is his vindication.

THE ARCTIC "SCANDAL."

Another stale slander, which is being warmed over by the Opposition for campaign purposes, is that growing out of the voyage of the Arctic expedition.

The object of the expedition, it will be remembered, was to proceed to the northern waters around Hudson Bay, Baffin Bay, Davis Strait and other waters adjacent to the northern portion of the American continent, and exercise Canadian sovereignty, collect customs dues and generally to establish Canadian rights to northern waters and islands. Incidentally a body of Royal Northwest Mounted Police, with necessary supplies, was taken to a point on Hudson Bay.

It was estimated that the voyage would last three years, and the Arctic was provisioned accordingly. In consequence of a breakdown in her machinery the vessel returned, at the end of one year, with two-thirds of her supplies intact.

During the session of 1906, while an item of the estimates for maintenance and repairs to Government steamers, was under discussion, charges were made by members of the Opposition that more goods had been purchased than would go aboard the steamer, and that extravagant prices had been paid. Mr. Reid, of Grenville, went so far as to declare his ability to prove the charges if given a committee.

The challenge was at once accepted by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, who declared the Government could not allow such serious charges to be made without giving those who made them an opportunity to substantiate them. He was anxious that the fullest investigation should be made.

Days passed, but nothing further was heard from the Opposition on the subject. The Government did not propose to allow such a grave accusation to hang over its head without investigation, and on May 16, 1906, the Premier moved the following resolution:

"Whereas, specific charges have been made by members of this House from their seats to the effect that the supplies which were purchased by the department of marine and fisheries for the Government steamer Arctic, were not all put on board the said steamer, but were in part diverted for other uses, by and for the benefit of persons still unknown; and whereas, like charges have also been made that excessive prices were corruptly paid for said supplies; and that in connection herewith pecuniary benefits were received by officials of the said department."

"Be it resolved that a special committee be appointed to inquire fully into all the circumstances connected with the purchase of said supplies. Strange though it may appear, this resolution was strenuously opposed by the very men who had been loudest in denunciation and pretended to be most eager for investigation. With a view to evading the issue, Mr. Borden moved an amendment asking for a committee "to investigate all expenditures of public moneys in the department of marine and fisheries from June 30, 1902, to date." Very properly the House rejected the amendment and adopted the resolution.

The committee was accordingly appointed, heard witnesses under oath, examined original documents, and went thoroughly into the whole matter. The result was to show conclusively that the charges had all failed for want of evidence; that the prices paid were reasonable and just, the only exception being that the prices paid for 805 pounds of smoking tobacco at 95 cents, and 200 pounds of chewing tobacco at 75 cents, were considered excessive; that no excessive quantities of goods were ordered, and that all the goods purchased duly reached the vessel and were checked up on board. The committee further found that no officers, agents or servants of the department unjustly, unlawfully or corruptly profited in connection with the purchase or disposition of any of the stores, merchandise, supplies and provisions purchased and placed on board the steamer.

Of further significance is the fact that while the expedition fitted out for a similar voyage in 1888, when Mr. Foster was minister of marine and fisheries, cost $130 per man per day, the cost of the Arctic expedition was $193 per man per day.

Thus was the Arctic "scandal" buried and the only wonder is that at this late day Conservative speakers are to be found trying to exhumate it.

LAURIER WILL SWEEP THE WEST.

In the Provincial election, the Conservative press quoted with gusto the opinions of Mr. E. W. Thomson, the Canadian correspondent of the Boston Transcript. He is a gifted writer, and a man of such independence of spirit that he has on more than one occasion thrown up lucrative positions in which he was not free to express his own convictions. The Conservative party thought so well of him that they asked him to write their campaign literature in 1904, but he had no taste for such hack-work and declined. There are 80,000 Canadians in and around Boston, for whose benefit the Transcript of that city has for years enlisted Mr. Thomson's brilliant pen. He favored the Whitney Government in June last, and predicted its victory. He has travelled extensively in the Dominion during the present campaign on a tour of observation, and his readers know that his conclusions are impartial. Writing from Winnipeg, he makes this forecast:

"Dangerous though it be, the duty of correctly informing the many Canadians and other Transcript readers of Boston, requires here AN UNDOUBTED PROGNOSTICATION THAT LAURIER WILL SWEEP THE WEST ALMOST HARE OF OPPOSITION MEMBERS. All his friends here say so, and his eyes and ears scarcely venture to minimize the calculations. But, really, it is not necessary to indicate results, since NOTHING IN THE FUTURE CAN BE SEEN MORE CERTAIN THAN THAT THE 26TH OF OCTOBER WILL GIVE SIR WILFRID LAURIER A DOMINION MAJORITY FULLY AS EFFECTIVE AS HE GAINED IN NOVEMBER, 1904."

HOW CAN BORDEN WIN?

Predictions of a Conservative victory in the general elections now approaching are as common as they were in the three preceding federal campaigns, with just about as much cause for them. Almost every Conservative organ in the Dominion has tried its hand at figuring out a majority for Mr. Borden in the next House, while Conservative politicians, big and little, including that ancient but erratic prophet, Sir Charles Tupper, Bart., have been serving out statistics of cheer to the faithful.

Mr. George Taylor, the chief Opposition whip in the late Parliament, is quite circumstantial in his estimates. He is as confident as he was four years ago that Borden will win, and places the majority at twenty-one. Every intelligent Grit or Tory knows that nothing less than a landslide, an earthquake, or a tidal wave, will shake the Laurier Government, with its majority of 70, out of office. But the elements which usually conspire to produce such a catastrophe are not in evidence at the present time.

As a rule no Federal Government has been turned out of office except when these two causes were operative together: First, business depression or hard times; second, the presence of some strong general issue adverse to the government of the day, some cry effective throughout the entire country.

The Laurier regime has coincided with a wonderful burst of prosperity. There is a temporary depression, which is world-wide, but it is passing away. The condition of the country is thoroughly sound, and the outlook is bright.

and cheerful. Nor is there any other cry with which the Conservatives can hope to move the country. Desperately, indeed, have opponents of the Government attempted to concoct scandals with a view to its undoing, but no member of the administration has been smirched.

The Laurier Government has a record of practical achievement, and against it the Opposition has placed not a single constructive idea, issue, or measure to appeal to the imagination of the people.

Fighting or Fostering? Which man would the taxpayers prefer to trust with their money?

What a mess Mr. Borden's Provincial recruits have made of their platform performances!

Dan McGillicuddy dealt the Opposition in the west a body blow when he got after the Calgary Eye-Opener.

Isn't it significant that not one of Mr. Borden's lieutenants has accompanied him on his extended tour of Ontario?

The first free rural mail delivery route has been established in Ontario. It is a Liberal performance, not a mere promise.

The Opposition must be mentally bankrupt in the west, when it has to put Hon. Thomas Mifflin Daily in the field against Mr. Sifton. Mr. Daily's administration of the Immigration Department will be forever a shining example of How-not-to-do-it.

Rev. Dr. Barclay, the Presbyterian divine of Montreal, says that public positions should not be given to men who betray their trust. However, there is not much likelihood that Mr. Borden will have a chance to give public positions to his tainted lieutenants.

The number of British periodicals sent to Canada this year has increased by 5,000,000, thanks largely to reduced postal rates effected by Mr. Lemieux. The British preference, imperial penny postage, and the all-red line project, testify that the Liberal party of Canada is the true imperial party.

INVOLVED FIGURES.

HOW "SCANDALS" ARE MADE.

(Hamilton Times.)
A local contemporary says that it has been discovered that Hal McGillicuddy is a Liberal candidate in Ottawa, "got a $1,000 fee for a few minutes' work in bidding for some property that the Government wanted." Mr. McGillicuddy's statement of the case puts quite a different face on that story. Mr. McGillicuddy and his partner were commissioned by the Government to purchase a certain piece of property which was being sold under mortgage, and for which the Government was asked $20,000. When Mr. McGillicuddy's firm was retained, the minister of public works intimated that on no consideration would the Government pay a price exceeding $4,000. Mr. McGillicuddy attended the sale, supposedly in the interest of other clients, when it was withdrawn from sale, and remained in the hands of the master of the high court. After several days' negotiations his firm put in a bid for $4,000, and after holding out for some time the master and the liquidator accepted this offer, as the bid was about to be withdrawn. The commission paid to Mr. McGillicuddy's firm was 2 1/2 per cent. The Government thus obtained for $4,000 the property which had been held at $20,000, and which, local real estate men advised it was worth $40,000 at any time. Mr. McGillicuddy refers the public to the officials of the master and the liquidator for corroboration of his statement.

SEPARATED BRETHREN.
(Ottawa Free Press.)
Mr. Foster got nearer to Mr. Borden last night than at any time during the campaign, but still he was 7 miles away, being at Hamilton, while the leader was at Brantford. Ain't it funny how they dodge one another?

DEBS ON ROOSEVELT
Noted "Red" Says Teddy Has Done Nothing but Shoot a Spaniard.

Philadelphia, Oct. 11.—Eugene V. Debs, Socialist candidate for president, addressed two meetings here today. Thousands of working men heard him. Mr. Debs denounced the present form of government, the social system, and the Democratic and Republican parties. Among other things, he said:

"We are on the verge of the greatest organic change in all history. First we abolished kings, and then slavery, and now we are to abolish the capitalists, and save the working man from the terrible system. Let us hope that the third step will come in peace—but come it will!"

Paying his respects to President Roosevelt, he said:

"Roosevelt is the 'Don Quixote' of American politics. He wears a Rough Rider hat and enjoys looking ferocious. If he ever did anything beside shoot a Spaniard in the back, I have not heard of it. He has reduced the office of president of the United States to the level of the ward-healing politician."

"With the Republican it is 'Wall street and Taft,'" declared the speaker, "and with the Democrats it is 'Tammany and Grant.'"

The show at Bennett's this week, judging from the splendid names on their bill, should be the one best offering of the present season. The bill includes the following acts, Bradlee Martin & Co., including Arthur Holman, of this city, Lotta Gladstone, Five Proscios, Martini and Maximilian, Carita Day and her dancing boys, and John Felix, or as he is more familiarly known, "Mr. Quick," the fast cartoonist. This show should do record business throughout the coming week.

CARTER'S LITTLE LIVER PILLS.

Rich and healthy and relieve all the troubles that lead to a bilious state of the system, such as Dizziness, Nausea, Browsedness, Distress after eating, and all the ailments that the most reasonable success has been shown in curing.

CURE SICK HEADACHE.
Headache, yet Carter's Little Liver Pills are equally valuable in constipation, curing and preventing this annoying complaint, while they also cure all disorders of the digestive system, the liver and regulate the bowels. Even if they only soothe.

Ask the druggist for the smallest price to those who suffer from this distressing complaint, but before you buy, be sure you get the genuine. The pills are small, and they will not hurt the stomach, and they will not hurt the bowels. Even if they only soothe.

LONGBOAT WINS WARD MARATHON

Toronto, Oct. 10. — Tom Longboat, the great Indian runner of the Irish-Canadian Athletic Club, won the Ward Marathon race held here today, thus proving he is yet far from spent as a runner. This is the third consecutive time Longboat has won the Ward race, the trophy thus becoming his permanent property.

Longboat ran a magnificent race, completing the course, which was slightly over eighteen miles, in 1:51:29, just a little more than eight minutes faster than the time of John Roe, who finished second.

Meadows, the five-miler, who was expected to press Longboat, finished a good third. At the start Sellen took the lead, followed by Longboat, Green, and Woods. By the time the runners took the road after covering a mile on the track, the field had begun to spread out. At five miles Meadows and Longboat were together, but at the half-way mark the Indian led and finished an easy winner in 1:51:29. John Roe, West End Y. M. C. A., was second, 1:58:30, and Meadows, of the same club, third, in 2:02:56, and John Near, Central Y. M. C. A. fourth, in 2:04:33. Other runners finished in the following order: Sellers, Black, Thomas, Sellen, Warwick, Lister, Howard, Day, Woodstock, Breen, W. Jones, Foster, G. S. Willis, Hubbard, Hilger, Dunn, H. Field, P. Richard, A. Warren, Watts, Brice Woods, H. Fort, James Corkery, Setz, W. H. Price, McCool, Puttock, F. A. Bragg, Meade, W. Turley, McCormick, G. E. Hunt, Lightwood, R. Barr, Ray Price, J. DUNDAS OUTPLAYS LONDON ting the ball and going over for a touchdown. 15-6. Mason failed to convert. Raymond made a nice run following an exchange of punts, and London lost the ball on a fumble near the center of the field, and Dundas soon punted down to London's five-yard line. The locals held their own here, and at half-time had the ball on the 25-yard mark.

The second half was practically a repetition of the preceding one, London leading at kicking the ball, and Dundas winning by better kicking, and more consistent playing.

Dundas almost scored soon after the whistle blew, when, with the ball near London's goal, Sage tried a pass to De Witt, who was tackled and nearly carried down. When Sage tried to kick he was blocked, the ball rebounding inside London's goal, and he was forced to punt. The ball struck Craig in the stomach, and he was out several minutes, 15-0.

With the ball ten yards out and a fake back later enabled Craig to go over for a touchdown, and the Dundas were so surprised and bewildered that they allowed the runner to set the ball between the goal posts instead of at one side, making Mason's subsequent attempt to convert easy, 24-0.

London fumbled, and consequent lack of return kicks enabled Dundas to get within twenty yards of the goal, when Quackenbush was sent around the end on a clever trick play for a touchdown, 29-0. Mason failed to convert.

During a see-saw action which followed, Harrison made a run of 30 yards, while De Witt and Raymond made some nice plunges.

Dundas' next touchdown was scored on a fake run around the end, the entire London team chasing the wrong man, while Walker went around the other end for twenty yards and a touch, 35-0. Sage blocked Mason's attempt to convert. Smith gave Dundas the ball on the 25-yard mark, and Harrison drove kicked for a goal, 35-0.

Dundas went over after a 40-yard run later, but it was on an offside. The line ups:

Dan McEwen Should Have Won Tennessee Purse Behind the Eel

Seven Heat Plan Condemned by Chicago Turf Writer—Jerry B., the Winner Not Within Three Seconds of the Eel or Minor Heir.

Discussing the Tennessee stake recently won by Jerry B. at Lexington, Henry Ten Eyck White in the Chicago Tribune, says:

The seven heat race by a lot of high class pacers for the Tennessee purse at Lexington did more to convert people to the two in three system for all events where the class is 2:10 or faster, than would an academic discussion of years.

The exposition of the possible evils of a three in five plan, with no provision for stopping after a reasonable number of heats have been contested, was a plain one. In the race there were five starters, two of which—Minor Heir and The Eel—admittedly outclassed the other three in speed to such an extent there could be no hope of a close contest between them. Therefore Minor Heir and The Eel were expected, under the rules, to go out and race their heads off in a duel, and if perchance by reason of several gruelling miles between themselves they came back to the speed rate of the rest of the field, there would be a fine chance for both of them to be beaten by a slower horse.

Just What Took Place.
That was exactly what happened. The first heat in 2:00 1/2, and the second in 2:02, resulted a lot of steam. Minor Heir, fresh from the exhibition game, at which he was asked to go but one hard heat a week, was the first to succumb. That meant The Eel, which had displayed magnificent courage and sensational speed, pacing his first heat behind the eel, and the better horse that day, and he should have won the prize for which he had fought so hard.

For all this he had fairly beaten the champion pacer of the year, he was so exhausted by the effort that Jerry B. a fast pacer and a game one, but not in the class of The Eel and Minor Heir by three seconds or so, was enabled finally to take down first money after seven heats had been paced. Jerry B. established a new world's record for a seventh heat, and he equalled the previous best sixth heat.

Due Credit.
But after he had fairly beaten the champion pacer of the year, he was so exhausted by the effort that Jerry B. a fast pacer and a game one, but not in the class of The Eel and Minor Heir by three seconds or so, was enabled finally to take down first money after seven heats had been paced. Jerry B. established a new world's record for a seventh heat, and he equalled the previous best sixth heat.

To add to his troubles he swerved into Jerry B.'s sulky when the break was made and interfered with that horse to such an extent that McMahon made no effort to keep up with the field, merely jogging around the track at a three minute gap, being allowed to start in the next heat because the mishap had occurred through no fault of his. This gave Jerry what practically was a rest while the others were going a hard mile, and it helped a little in the succeeding heats, although he would have won in any event.

JENNINGS BLAMED BY DETROIT FANS

Detroit, Mich., Oct. 10. — Hughey Jennings had been an idol to the Detroit baseball public for two years, but when the fans got on the cars after today's game they were not long in discovering that all were "sore." The reason is Jennings' failure to retire Summers in the ninth inning when it was seen that he had weakened under the strain of working in the rain and controlling a slippery ball.
