

Narrow belted-in skirts are coming teadily into favor, much as they amper the wearer's steps.

Low-cut collars and very short sleeves are also "the thing" with those who wish to be up-to-date. The frock in this sketch is of blue linen, and is laced up the side of the bodice with a heavy silk cord.

Long blue silk gloves, blue suede shoes and a drooping Persian-silkcovered hat trimmed with pastelshaded roses were worn with this costume.

CYNTHIA GREY'S CORRESPONDENTS

Dear Miss Grey: What is the best way to wash and launder a navy blue and white striped silk tie, to keep the blue from running into the white? VON YOLLA.

A .- Wash in gasoline and press out the next day with a moderately hot

Dear Miss Grey: 1. Please give me some suggestions for a picnic. I am thinking of inviting about five girls and the same number of young men. 2. Also, what would you suggest as a suitable birthday present for my gentleman friend? Would a nice Bible be a suitable gift? 3. Will salts of lemon remove stains from a linen dress, without fading the color? DOROTHY.

A .- 1. A feature which created great amusement at a picnic which I once please give us some recipes for homeattended was the using of the left made candy? 2. Is it proper for a hand exclusively while at lunch and in young man to accompany a girl home several of the games. Everyone pres-I from a concert when he does not acent had his or her right hand tied up company her there? 3. What should a In a handkerchief and was obliged to girl say when a young man asks to eat with their left hand alone. It is no accompany her home? 4. Would you easy matter, I can assure you, and please give us a recipe for canning our many awkward attempts caused green peas? I may add that the score showed many perfect but frequent trials. more "misses" than "hits." A picnic | Chocolate Funge-To three cups of while being kodaked, and the result often.

hour's boating. authors; a pretty out-of-door scene, icing sugar, lump of butter; any presnapshot preferred, with ferred kind of nuts, half-cup; half-his room. Yes, if you think he has ceed the same as with the chocolate not got one already. 3. I'm afraid not.

Dear Miss Grey: What can I do for laughing wrinkles, and to faten my dates, candied cherries, or shredded DORIS.

A .- Facial massage will tone up the skin, improve its circulation, and make the face more plump. It will remove the larger wrinkles. Wrinkles are caused by the stretching of the musone's soul. The frown and the look milk to two of sugar, and add a little of scorn should be avoided. Laughing vanilla flavoring. Fill the dates and wrinkles are things to be proud of.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. In what order should pie, pudding and fruit be served? 2. Is the lettuce leaf eaten with the salad or left on the plate? 3. When serving banana with mayonnaise, what time during the meal does A. B. t come?

A .- 1. These are desserts and served at the close of the meal-not more han one of them at a meal, however Usually left on the plate. 3. After the meat and vegetable course, and before dessert.

Dear Miss Grey: What are the first signs of consumption? READER. A .- It comes in many forms and with different symptoms. The most frequent are persistent coughing, veakness, lack of endurance, sweating at night, fever constantly. If you or one of your family suspect such a thing, consult a good physician at once.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. I wish to give a party on my 14th birthday. Should I invite all girls or half boys? 2. What shall I serve for refreshments?

A .-- 1. Of course, your mother will be present, and I suggest inviting boys, too. 2. Fruit punch, nut cheese sandwiches and olives first, then an ice and your birthday cake with the fourteen candles.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. When one receives a wedding announcement how should it be recognized? 2. Is it necessary to send a present? 3. Which s taking the lead in fancy work, eyelet or solid embroidery? 4. Will braiding be as popular as ever this fall? 5. How and when should a lunch cloth MILDRED be used?

A .- 1. Wedding invitations do not require any answer, unless one is requested—or if a "sit-down" dinner or breakfast is to be given. Friends at a distance acknowledge a wedding invitation by sending their visiting cards in an envelope addressed to the bride's parents, or the gerson in whose name the invitations are issued. 2. Not unless you are a particular friend.

3. Either is very popular. Wallachian and coronation braid designs are also much in demand, especially for cushion tops. Crocheting is "all the rage" this summer for trimming underwear, table and toilet mats, etc. 4. Yes.

5. Use a lunch cloth for afternoon teas, served either on the verandah indoors, and for an evening lunch of any kind where the table is to be set.

Dear Miss Grey: 1. Would you THREE GIRLS.

much merriment. The idea was fur- A.-1. Fudge is about the only ther carried out in several of the candy I have ever had actual exper-Our hostess had provided ience in making, so will give you my several small hoops of wire. A stout recipe for two kinds. To be success twig was placed upright in the ful in making fudge the main thing ground, and a game of quoits follow- is not to boil it too long, nor to beat it ed, all throwing with their left hand, too much, and nothing will make one nowadays seems incomplete without granulated sugar and two tablespoonhaving a picture taken of the group. fuls of cocoa, add half a cup of milk. At a club picnic recently given, the Bring slowly to the boiling point and boys and girls changed hats and coats allow to boil very fast, stirring Boil hard ten minutes, or was funny in the extreme. For lunch, until it will form a soft ball when nothing is nicer than a good variety dropped into water. Add a lump of of sandwiches: an iced cake or two; butter, remove from the fire and flamickles and olives: devilled eggs: ice vor with one teaspoon vanilla. Beat cream, if possible, and lemonade or steadily until it begins to get smooth If you are holding your picnic and glassy; then pour into buttered beside water, nothing adds more to pan. Walnuts are nice in this fudge. the enjoyment of the evening than an Add them along with the vanilla. Cream Nut Fudge-Two cupfuls of 2. A book by one of his favorite granulated sugar, half-cup white

(Copyright, 1910, Newspaper Enterprise Association.)

Carl's Improvement. Carl and Uncle John were walking through the woods one day, when they met a snail. They stopped to watch it, and Uncle John told Carl how the snail carried its house right on its back. so, if anything came along that startled it, it could just slip back into its home and be safe.

And then the snail moves so slowly that if it didn't have its house with it. it could never go anywhere and get home the same day. Carl thought that was very interesting. How nice it was to go as far as one liked and have your home right there!

How often he and his little dog Rex had gone rambling over the town until they were both so tired it seemed as though they couldn't get again.

He thought about it for some time Of course, it was out of the question for him to carry his home about with sure if he tied it on well it would be ed with the basket, got much the worst So the next day after many strugthe next day after many strugless and much coaxing of Rex to keep no basket at all. Poor Rex! He not array.

The next day after many strugno basket at all. Poor Rex! He not only didn't have a home with him, but he had none at all; and he needed one,

When they met laughed and asked Carl if too—lame and bruised as he was.

Carl got a new basket and begged another cushion from mother, and put white house, where his old enemy, that provements, him, but was there any real reason horrid bulldog, lived. Yes, there he was why Rex couldn't have his? His home coming out! Angered at the sight of was just a basket, with a cushion in this strange-looking animal, the bullit. It wasn't very heavy, and Carl was dog pitched into him, and Rex, burden-of it. When the bulldog finished there was Rex to bed. After thinking it over he And now they were passing the big decided he wouldn't try any more im-

A pleasing variety is given by omitting the nut-meats in this cream fudge, and using instead chopped

A dainty confection, and one which we are all fond, is stuffed dates. Procure the largest and firmest dates possible and remove the stones. Make a fondant by stirring icing sugar into cles which reflect the emotions of a little warm milk, a tablespoon of roll in granulated sugar. A walnut meat may also be stuffed into each date.

> 2. Yes. -3. "Thank you." Shell and pack closely in jars Add to each quart one teaspoon sait, and one teaspoon sugar. Fill full of water and put covers on loosely. Set in a boiler, using a cloth pad or strips of wood beneath, and between the jars to prevent them cracking. Fill water in around them to the necks; bring to a boil and keep boiling vigorously for fiften minutes. Remove from fire, and when cool seal the jars tightly.

ADVERTISER PATTERNS BEAUTY PATTERN COMPANY

No. 8437-A Dainty Lingerie Blouse. Cut in sizes 32 to 42 inches, bust measure. Size 36 will require 21/2 yards of 24-inch material. Embroidered flouncing was used with charming results in the carrying out of this design. It would also be pretty made of lawn, chiffon, taffeta and pongee. Tucks at the shoulders throw a graceful fullness across the front and the use of the vest gives scope for individuality in the way of trimming. The sleeve may be full length or shorter. A pattern of this illustration will be mailed to any address on receipt of 10 cents in gilver or stamps PATTERN DEPARTMENT OF THE ADVERTISER.

Please send above-mentioned pattern, as per directions given below, to Name Street Address

Provin e Measurement-Bust

Age (if child's or misses' pattern)..... CAUTION-Be careful to inclose above Illustration and send size of pattern wanted. When the pattern is bust measure you need only make it.

It may be. When in waist measure, 22, 24, 26, or whatever it may be. If a skirt, give waist and length measure. When misses' or child's pattern, write only the figure representing the age. It is not representing the age. It is not that envelope to you tomorrof," I answered. one week from the date of order. The price of each pattern is 10 cents in cash in postage stamps.

> PATTERN DEPARTMENT. LOPDON ADVERTISER.

FASHIONS

All white gloves are worn less than they have been for some time.

The newest tailored shirtwaists are made with the yoke in the back.

The one-seam small bishop sleeve is the favorite for the tailored shirt-

Pumps and slippers owe much of their effect to their bows, buckles or rosettes.

Cotton voiles are among the most useful materials for simple afternoon frocks.

The most popular white footwear this summer will be a high boot of canvas or kid. The Paisley tie is a pretty touch which will add richness to the midsummer shirtwaist. Suede gloves are more worn than a glace kid, probably because the fit is much better and the hand looks smaller in them. A scarlet patent leather belt and a tie of scarlet worn with a plain tailored waist and a white linen skirt will be one of the season's fads. Persian silk covered cord put on in braid patterns is one of the uses of the many colored silks that are here this season in such brilliant

When half-shoes are worn be particular about laces. Heavy ribbon, such as is used for the silk bow, looks well on broad silk laces.

One of the smartest fixings for the shirtwaist is the Persian trimmed silk Ascot or bow. There is no end to the schemes to which it lends itself. A belt with a slender buckle gives longer waist; a white belt should cials on the road, or the ship, or of pobe orn with a white waist, unless one is long-waisted.

The graceful Gainsberough is still disposed and kind. the leader among evening hats.

Some of the colored silk stockings from over the sea are elaborately embroidered with wonderful flowers and conventional designs.

THE DAILY MENU

BREAKFAST. Cantaloupes. Corn Flakes and Cream. Hot Rolls, French Omelet. Coffee.

LUNCHEON. Swiss Potatoes. Olive Salad with Egyptian Dressing. Blueberry Muffins. Temperance Punch

DINNER.

Stewed Lambs' Tongues, Tartare Sauce. Potato Crisps, Smothered Cucumber: Peas in Tomato Baskets Peach Shortcake.

Don't travel unless you can afford Don't ask questions, except of offi-licemen on the street. Don't carry a chip on your shoulder. Most of the people you meet are well-

Don't permit your children, if you have any with you, to annoy people by ill-bred behavior. Don't exchange visiting cards with strangers, unless this is justified by exceptional circumstances. Don't refuse courtesies when offered by strangers if exceptional circumstances occasion them. Don't return civility with its op-

Don't forget that you owe a duty to every human being, the duty of look-ing pleasant and being gracious. Don't fail to assist any infirm, crippled or aged fellow-traveller who may need a helping hand. Don't by a single thought or action add to the burden of sorrow pressing so heavily upon many fellow-pil-

To clean water jars or small neck bottles or pitchers, fill with cut lemon peel in small pieces. Put in jar and fill with cold water and let stand a few hours or over night. Will be perfectly clean in the morn-

Gooseberries when stewed make an

An easy way to shrink gingham without unfolding. Let soak in lukewarm rainwater to which a cupful

When canning fruit, if a silver

If the hands have become very

"You might come by an accident that could not be traced to them."

not to go."
"We'll laugh about it tomorrow," I an-

the waiting cart.

I knew she feared for me because I

I felt she knew what I might have said, don't come out in an hour's time you're to come in."

Karl nodded and Barnsmurk looked at me and nodded also. He knew nothing of the matter, but had simply been told by Kurlmurt to come and obey orders. Like a good soldier and the brave fellow that he was, he stood prepared to except to get me ready for my coffin one side, just such a hall as one would expect to see in such a house, but no one stood in the hallway, and yet the door swung back. Realizing I must not appear suspicious, I entered instantly, and I did so the street door swung to.

A strange door, I thought, as I turned and watched it silently shut without ap-strange house where strange things might nappen.

A low lamp hung overhead, hardly lighting the hall and narrow stairs which Ighting the hall and harrow stairs which led into the darkness above.

As the street door closed with a final click a door at my right moved slowly and then swung open, revealing the smiling face of the countess.

"You are prompt!" she said.

"You have strange doors," I answered, taking a pother look at the front door.

taking another look at the front door
She laughed softly and pointed to spring in the wall.

"This is not a usual Wurtsmurton house," she said.

"I judge not."

The small room that opened off the hall was furnished as one would expect

Mrs. Winslow's Soothing Syrus

has been used for over THIRTY YEARS by MILLIONS OF MOTHERS for their CHILDREN WHILE TEETHING, with PERFECT SUCCESS. IT SOOTHES THE CHILD SOFTENS THE GUMS, ALLAYS ALL PAIN, CURES WIND COLIC and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Sold over the world.

parent agency—a strange taking much stained with ink, they should be rubbed with lemon juice.

sure. And then, too, they' an English under secretary."

tablespoon is placed in a glass jar mackerel and roast mutton.

will not run.

swered.

said

ALL AROUND THE HOME

BY CYNTHIA GREY.

In buying fish see that the flesh is till all taken up; this prevents the firm so that if pressed by the finger starch sticking. it will rise again instantly, that the eyes are bright, the gills red and the excellent accompaniment for broiled cales not easily rubbed off.

If fruit and vegetables are peeled in a pan of cold water the hands will is to lay the cloth in a large tub,

If a bodkin is not at hand, an ex- of salt has been added, until all the cellent substitute consists of a wooden folds are thoroughly wet through; match. The tape and ribbon should be wringing, and pin on the line where folded over the end of the match, there is a brisk wind. When the when the latter can be pushed through cloth is dry you will never know the hem, as is done with a bodkin, and if held firmly will not allow the tape Colored goods treated in this way

Coffee makes an excellent polish for furniture. Drain off the left-over cof- before pouring in the hot fruit, it fee, and when there is a quart mix will prevent the jar from breaking. it with a tablespoonful of sweet oil. This also applies when it is desired Rub the furniture over with this and to put hot dessert in a cut glass polish it with a dry cloth. If the coffee is strong it will help to conceal

To have a nice, smooth starch, put a few drops of kerosene in and stir

William Tillinghast Eldridge.

CHAPTER XV. Exit a Table. When I considered what had occurred,

I could but conclude there was a great deal to be gained from the coming interview, even if both Karl and Kurlmurt shook their heads and talked of a trap. "He could have blown my head off last night," I said. We three were seated in Kurimurt's office in the old castle the morning after my encounter with Heinrich and my tete-a-tete dinner with the "And he hesitated when you mentioned "And he hesitated when you mentioned you were under secretary to the British Legation?" Karl asked.

"And that statement prompted the countess' request that I see her again before saying anything to Sir Charles." "Well, you'll keep your word as to that," Karl chuckled.
"But what can the woman want?" Kurlmurt growled. I shrugged my shoulders.

"All I know is, she's the one to whom I handed the envelope. She knows Heinrich's plans well enough to speak for him, so certainly she must know the real destination of the documents. Under the circumstances a talk with her may be procumstances, a talk with her may be profitable. There can be little danger, as they must have an axe to grind somewhere."
"Still I don't like the rendezvous—21 Wurtsmurton," Kurlmurt protested. 'The countess doesn't like to be seen in the city, I suppose."

"She could have had you come to her "She could have had you come to her villa," Karl suggested.
"Possibly Heinrich is not to know of "You told us he was in love with her."
"But I didn't say she was in love with "Heinrich has it, not the countess," put in Kurlmurt. in Kurlmurt.

"Well, we'll see," I said. And while the discussion went a bit farther, we very soon dropped the subject.
There was nothing to do but to wait until night, and at the princess' request Karl and I drove out in the afternoon for Again as we sat on the terrace spoke of my coming interview, and Kurlmurt tried to persuade me to take Karl and young Barnsmurk with me. and young Barnsmurk with me.

"But the countess stipulated I was to come alone," I said.
"More need for them to go."
I tried to laugh the suggestion one side, but the older man stuck to it. Finally he but the older man stuck to it. Finally he appealed to the princess.

If fear there is danger," she srid, speaking slowly, "and I do not like Mr. Converse to go. It is more Karl's pare or yours, uncle, but neither of you can do this thing tonight. The countess would only talk to Mr. Converse, certainly to neither of you—yet she might to mr. I have thought of going myself."

Kurlmurt stared at his niece as if he could not believe his ears. I saw her way of looking at it, and resolved to end the matter at once.

"There is no need for anyone to go but out before me. my knock was mechanical, and yet the first rap brought me to myself. In-stantly I shifted my right hand to my matter at once.

"There is no need for anyone to go but myself, yet to satisfy you all I'll take Karl and Barnsmurk." And as I said it I Karl a nod, for he looked at me in astonishment. I meant what I said some astonishment. I meant what I said, that I would take them, but how far I had not stipulated. That I would settle later when I left them on the pavement outside No. 21.

when I left them on the patches of side No. 21.

The thing, however, seemed to satisfy Kurlmurt, and as for the princess I realize to sooner had I spoken than she saw through my scheme. However, she said nothing, and so the matter ended. When it began to grow late I rose to go, and Karl and Barnsmurk having got of their uniforms were ready to account the same and the same account of their uniforms were ready to account of their uniforms were ready to account the same account of their uniforms were ready to account the same account of their uniforms. out of their uniforms were ready to accompany me. Each had a pistol tucked away in his oat pocket, for while I hardly expected danger, I was not going to play the fool and rush in unarmed after the fair warn-ing Heinrich had given me the night be-

Soon we were ready, and a dog-cart Soon we were ready, and a dog-cart waited at the castle door to drive us into town. When we came down the hall the princess met us, and I think she looked lovelier than the night I first saw her, as she stood by the huge fireplace, the light from its flickering log falling on her face.

face.

Karl and the lieutenant kissed her hard and the neutenant kissed her hand as they parsed and went on out the door, followed by kurimur', who linked his arm in Karl's, giving him, I had no doubt, some final instructions as to my welfare. opped, watching the three pass on.

and then turned to make my adieu. As I took her hand she looked into my eyes, and I saws here were full of tears and that her hand trembled.
"They have frightened you quite unin such a house. It would have sised no suspicion in any one's mind that No. 21 was out of the usual run.

"You got my note?" the countess asked as she seated herself and motioned me to a chair.
"I did, of course," I answered, declining the chair, but standing with my back to the wall which was between me and the street. No secret door could be beind me there.

"I'll tell you then why I asked you

"I'll tell you then why I asked you to say nothing to Sir Charles and also why I have invited you here," the countess went on instantly.

I bowed and waited for her to speak again. As I stood there I could but think of this same woman as I saw her on the Chicago train, so eager to see Karl's papers. She leaned forward now as she had then and spoke quickly.

"You saw the effect of your statement?" she asked.

"I did," I answered, smiling slightly.

"Zergald is endeavoring to get Sir Charles to help him in securing a loan through some English capitalists, and I feared you would say something to him feared you would say something to him of last night's occurrence, and thus prevent the matter going through."

"You're pretty careful of Zergald's interests," I answered, "when you don't even report to him on the result of your mission." "That's not a very polite way to accept my explanation."

"I'm afraid that I'm given to blunt "Heinrich's interests might be affected if Sir Charles were offended," she exrelaimed.
"I see!" I said. "Now really that sounds more plausible. Perhaps, too, you feared if I said anything at all the news of your return might reach Zergald's ears?"

"I don't really think Zergald would be interested to learn of my return," the countess replied with a smile.
"No?" I questioned. "Then perhaps he doesn't know who Heinrich sent to You shouldn't try to solve every riddle. Mr. Converse.'

Mr. Converse."
"There is one I would like to solve though," I answered.
"And that?"
"Why should I refrain from speaking to Sir Charles?"
"Is it not enough that I ask you?" Her smile was full of coquetry.
"I fear," I answered, "I cannot allow my pattern! tellistics."

my natural inclinations to govern my ac-"Of course not, Mr. Converse," the countess answered quickly, her whole attitude changing. "But I will tell you why there will be no need for you to speak of last night's occurrence to any one. "I shall be only too glad to learn how I can keep silent and not jeopardize our nterests," I answered.

And then she told me how she had just And then she told me how she had just learned the contents of the envelope stolen from Karl von Merider. That, knowing the truth, and how such evidences withheld would prevent the princess from coming to her rights, she had resolved to undo what she had done.

At first I was suspicious. I had come looking for a treen and yet I had come looking for a trap, and yet I began to believe in this woman the more she (To be Continued.)

WESTERN FAIR BUILDINGS

Are Being Prepared for Exhibition.

These are busy days at Queen's Park, where a number of workmen, under the superintendent, Mr. James H. Brown, are preparing the buildings "Be careful," she answered, speaking slowly. "Heinrich is not to be trusted."
"If it makes you feel easier," I answered, "I'm taking no chances, I know Heinrich would do anything, but this time there is little need for fear. The countess has something to tell me, I'm sure. And then, too, they'd not harm an English under secretary."

H. Brown, are preparing the buildings and grounds for the exhibition, which is now only six weeks off. The new structure for cement machinery and similar exhibits is about completed, and is a model exhibition building. The space in it is all allotted long ago. The machinery hall has been reblocked, and is now solid and in first class condition. Changes have also "If it were any use, I would ask you been made in the horticultural and agricultural buildings, which will improve them for both exhibitors and swered.

"No matter what the hour is when it's over, send me word. I will be waiting."

"I'll think of you waiting, and that will make me doubly careful."

"I care little about the papers," she building. This in addition to the fine building. This in addition to the fine building. her eyes searching mine almost building. This in addition to the fine front for the cheese exhibit makes defiantly.

For a moment I gazed deep into her face, holding back by a mighty effort what I would have answered her.

Then with my heart leaping madly I carried her hand to my lips, as had Karl and Barnsmurk, turned and hurried to the main building. The art annex of former years has been made into a "Made in London" exhibition, where the manufacturers of this city will have an opportunity of showing to the was on her business and for that reason have an opportunity of showing to the would not have harm come to me. And thousands of visitors the finished yet as we drove away toward the city, articles of their own production. The art exhibit and decorated china will be provided for in the main building Assuredly, had sale hot been a princess and am gallery. The management with Mr. what there was in my look.

During the drive to the city few words

During the drive to the city few words partment, are determined that this part of the exhibition will be away in passed between us. I had my thoughts part of the exhibition will be away in wild enough ones, too—and I presume advance of anything ever seen before Karl had his. Barnsmurk was silent beause neither of us spoke.

Finally we crossed the Wurtsmurton will be promptly silent to the exhibition far up and there stopped.

"I'll go ahead," I said as we got down, to the secretary. will be promptly given on application

"and you two follow a block apart, be-hind me. You can find some nook or corner near the house to wait. If I AS GATES SWING do so, come what might.

Sing Sing Convicts Make One of the Boldest Breaks in the Prison's History.

I went on quickly and covered fifteen blocks without looking back until I stood opposite No. 21. I knew that my two friends were behind me ready to follow Ossining, N. Y., July 30. - The most daring escape in the history of Sing Sing prison was attempted into anything that might come. But I this morning, and four convicts enalso knew that the one hour limit, if joyed a brief leave of liberty beharm came to me, might as well be ten fore they were recaptured. About fore they were recaptured. About 9 o'clock a gate on the north wall And yet while I had a thought of what swung back to allow a cart to pass and yet while I had a thought of what swing back to allow a cart to passed to knock on the door, it was really not overmuch on my mind. The old wormeaten door was set a step below the level of the sidewalk, but it faded below the sidewalk of the sidewalk to the ice house located outside the walls, and at the same moment a large body of convicts, known as level of the sidewalk to the ice house located outside the walls, and at the same moment a large body of convicts, known as the "idle gang," lounging about the fore me as I waited for my knock to yard in charge of a keeper, made a tore me as I waited for my knock to be answered, and I saw only a tall girl standing by an open fire.

One side of her face was in the firelight, the other side in shadow. The high color in her cheeks, the flash of the eye, the golden gleam of her wonderful hair all stood forth, and it seemed as if my hand could touch hers if I but reached out hefore me.

eral shots were fired at the fugiwith before me.

My knock was mechanical, and yet the irst rap brought me to myself. Infect. Warden Frost was notified coat pocket and my fingers closed on my pistol, while my knuckles fell a second time on the panel. I was not over-confident of the reception I was to receive the shadows of the reception I was to receive the shadows of the the shado rection. One of the men was captured while lurking in the shadows and believed if my furrow was to be finished, as I was determined it should be. I had best be on the safe side. Slowly the door swung open, and I stepped back one step to better see who had opened it. A small hall was before me, a narrow hall with narrow stairs on one side, just such a hall as one would two miles away, while riding between two cars on a freight train.

Meanwhile the convicts had been recalled from the shops and were marched back to their cells to be counted so that it could be determined just how many got away. The number tallied just 1,836, including the four fugitives, and this corresponded with the figures as shown on the records for the day.

ALL teas may look alike to you—but the difference in Red Rose Tea is in the taste and the smell. Another marked difference is the agreeable strength that puts real quality in the cup with less tea in the pot. Will you try it.

NEVER SOLD IN BULK Your Grocer Will Recommend It

DROWNED CAMPING. Perth, July 29 .- A young lad, eight years of age, a grandson of Mrs. (Rev.) Dr. Campbellton, of this town, drowned at Rideau Ferry. He and his mother, Mrs. Wilson, of Renfrew, were camping with his grandmother at the ferry. The young lad was missing, and on a search being made for him his body was found in about five feet of water.

One week free trial in Edison, Victor and Columbia phonographs from Williams Piano Company, Limited, 194 15-tf Dundas street.

DANDRUFF IS NOW THING OF THE PAST.

To be troubled with the pest Dandruff, is merely through ignorance. There has lately been discovered a preparation called SALVIA that absolutely destroys the germ. This preparation is sold with a strict guarantee to cure Dandruff and to make the hair grow, or your money is refunded. SALVIA makes the hair grow in bundance. The hair becomes soft and fluffy. A non-sticky, daintly-perfumed, guaranteed preparation, used and indorsed by the elite of England and Paris. Mr. Strong has just imported another shipment of SALVIA. A large by New Absorption Method. If you suffer from bleeding, itching, blind or protruding Piles, send me your address, and I will tell you how to cure yourseif at home by the absorption treatment; and will also send some of this home treatment free for trial, with references from your own locality if requested. Immediate relief and permanent cure assured. Send no money, but tell others of this offer. Write to-day to Mrs. M. Summers, Box 801 Windsor.

PILES CURED at HOME

EDUCATIONAL.

ONTARIO (Trafalgar Castle)

WHITBY, ONT. CANADA. COLLEGE Opens Sept. 8th, 1910

REV. J. J. HARE, Ph.D. Whitby, Ont

PERFECT SURROUNDINGS

FULL COURSES IN Elocution Literature Fine Arts Household Science, etc. Rates moderate plendid organization. WRITE THE PRINCIPAL FOR CALENDAR

Havergal Ladies' College

Principal, MISS KNOX

Thorough education on modern lines. Preparation for honour matriculation and other examinations. Separate Junior School. Domestic science department, gymnasium, out-door games, skating rink and swimming bath.

For illustrated calendar and prospectus, apply to the Bursar. R. Millichamp, Hon. Sec.-Treas.

UPPER CANADA COLLEGE TORONTO

CANADA'S OLDEST RESIDENTIAL SCHOOL

Autumn Term begins on Tuesday; September 13th,

Examinations for Entrance Scholarships;
Saturday, September 17th.

Courses for University, Royal Military College, etc.
Senior and Preparatory Schools in separate buildings. Every modern equipment. H. W. AUDEN, M.A. (Cambridge), Principal