WILL CONTROL BROADCASTING TO AID STATIONS

Radio Telegraph Branch of Naval Department Confronted With Problem.

ISSUE 2 LONDON PERMITS

Officials Predict 50,000 Sets Will Be Installed Before Year Ends.

BY RANDOLPH J. CHURCHILL.

Ottawa, April 28.—So rapidly is the use of the wireless telephone spreading throughout Canada, and so numerous are the applications for licenses for powerful broadcasting stations, that the radio-telegraph, a sub-department of the naval department, is confronted with the problem of controlling wireless stations so that other waves in certain districts will not become tangled.

At the present time there are between 2,000 and 3,000 licensed receiving stations in the Dominion. Taking the number of applications received daily as the basis of his estimation, an official of the department stated today that 50,000 at least would be in use before the end of the year.

The increasing number of radiophones has created a demand for broadcasting stations, and already twenty-five or so enterprising newsmen and business houses have been given permission to build powerful apparatus capable of reaching a radius of 200 miles and more. Several of these stations are already in operation.

No difficulty would have been encountered if the broadcasting stations were located at different points separated by a distance great enough to allow each a field. This has not been the case, however, for in almost every instance the stations are to be installed in bunches, and the department has at once been plunged into a serious problem.

London Granted Two. Licenses for sending stations on a commercial basis have been issued, while three stations already have been installed in Vancouver. If these stations, all of them powerful, are allowed to use the same wavelength, and are allowed to operate at the same time, the result will be a confusion of messages and sounds within their radius.

No permanent solution is in sight, but the department is endeavoring to control the situation to a certain extent.

In London only two commercial sending stations will be allowed, and both of them, it has been issued, have been granted the same wave length, the two operators will be asked to arrange different hours for broadcasting. The same arrangement, it is hoped, will be made at other points where the same conditions prevail.

The six stations in Toronto have been granted waves of different lengths. Although the differences are slight, it is hoped it will save much confusion. Realizing the danger of amateur senders breaking in on the licensed powerful waves by using the use of too great a wavelength, inspectors will be employed in each district to listen in and check up on all broadcasting stations.

In the near future it is expected that licenses for radiophone receiving stations will be issued by the postoffice throughout the country at a cost of $1 each. It is feared that at present times many who have obtained permits from the government are installing such apparatus, but it is hoped that by facilitating the securing of licenses by the abolition of the red tape, the difficulty will be overcome.

Will Pay Inspectors. The money obtained from licensing receiving stations will be used to employ inspectors, for in this way it is hoped the shoddy line will become self-supporting as far as the government is concerned.

One other great problem in connection with the radiophone which awaits a solution is the question of patents. Owing to the fact that patents in Canada must be tested in court before they become valid, and because many patents covering the mechanism in the radio are manufacturing or installing apparatus other than those manufactured by well-established houses, it is feared that the difficulty will be severe.

CROWDS SWARM TO TAX OFFICE

Mark Eleventh Hour Rush to File Income Returns.

Bags of Mail Are Delivered Every Twenty Minutes.

Hundreds of citizens of London and of the vicinity are today swarming around the doors of the income tax office in an eleventh-hour rush to file their income tax returns and so escape the penalty the government says must be met if the returns fail to reach the office before May 1, or to be mailed before that date.

This morning's sacks of registered mail were being brought from the postoffice into the income tax office at intervals of twenty minutes or so. "The postoffice is giving us very efficient service," stated George Tann, president of the local branch of the Middlesex Motors of London, Ont. Associated with Mr. Isaacs in the London company will be his brother, Frederick D. Isaacs, and A. C. Mitchell, also former employees of the Ford Company.

"On Thursday," he continued, "twenty-five of our staff were working from eight in the morning until 11 at night opening the registered mail, and a few minutes after nine when the last records were brought down stairs."

"But our biggest mail of the season will come in on Monday. You remember the old saying: 'The morning after the night before.' Well, that holds good in our business also. The returns can be mailed and naturally the heaviest mail will be on the day following."

Mr. Tann explained that deposits are made in almost every bank in the downtown district. "The rush is on 22 deposits are made each day in 11 banks. Two mountainous bags of mail are brought down stairs each day. One of the 'red-coats' at the top of the stairs keeps the crowd in two lines and sees that there is no confusion as possible, while Sergeant Mundy keeps a watchful eye on everybody."

When asked if there was any danger of his registered mail being robbed on its way from the postoffice to the income tax office, Mr. Tann replied that the chances were small.

RECORDS SHOW $368,775 TOTAL IN PAST MONTH

Inspector Piper Issues Permits For 74 New Residences Valued At $255,100.

AVERAGE NUMBER IS 40

Combined Figures For Four Months of 1922 Give $609,320.

April's building total is the highest since 1914, and is taken as a clear evidence that the city is once again on the upward trend from the war.

During the month just ending 236 building permits were issued for a value of $368,775. This brings the total for the four months of 1922 up to $609,320, while at the end of April last year the total was $503,330. The total for April, 1921, was $246,175.

The greatest record for the month and in the history of London for that matter, is the fact that permits were issued by Inspector Piper for 74 new residences, valued at $255,100. Mr. Piper says that in the past the largest number of residence permits issued in a month had been around forty.

The largest permit issued during the month was for the new Cowan Hardware, $50,000.

The last permits issued were as follows: R. Garner, 756 1-2 William street, $3,000; brick house; Cowan Hardware Company, 10000 Star Street, $50,000; concrete foundation, 364130, J. M. Moore, architect, R. G. Wilson & Son, builders, $50,000; A. Garsides, 247 Hamilton street, new foundation and veranda, $1,200; E. R. Talbot, Wharmcliffe road, cottage, $4,200; G. E. Parisian Scientists Include Seaweed and Turtle Steaks on Banquet Menu

Paris, France, April 29.—Seaweed and turtle steak formed the prime delicacies offered to the epicureans of Paris yesterday at a banquet arranged by the association of about 1,000 persons prominent in the world of science. General Messimy, formerly minister of war, and Princess Murat sat at the speakers' table. The menu of the banquet read approximately as follows:

Appetizer—Pheasant, seaweed, truffle and deviled crab from Morocco. Scrambled eggs of the South American emu.

Entrée—Terrapin steak with curry sauce. New Caledonia. Dried salt mutton, Mohammedan style.

Sherbet.

Roast Japanese venison with yam croquettes.

Siamese squash au gratin.

Salad.

Dessert—Ice cream made of goat's milk. Nut cookies.

Three kinds of wine, champagne, Chinese coffee with palm sugar, and old brandy liqueur.

The "Societe d'Acclimation de France," which organizes unusual repasts, is an organization formed for the purpose of acclimating in France foreign birds, plants, animals and fishes calculated to enrich the noble art of cooking, for which the French are already famous. Each member is expected to have a specialty of his or her own.

One woman, for instance, has undertaken to breed horned toads in France, while one of her man friends has decided to devote his leisure to the popularization of goat's milk.

Once a year the organization gives a banquet made up largely of unusual dishes.

Fixes Blame For Brutal Killing of Romanoffs on Moscow

Sokoloff's Gruesome Evidence.

PARIS, April 29.—Responsibility for the murder and burning of Former Emperor Nicholas of Russia and all the members of his family is placed by Nicholas Sokoloff on the leaders of the Bolshevik government in Moscow. He makes his statement after a three-year inquiry officially ordered by the Kolchak government. M. Sokoloff was for many years investigating magistrate under the imperial regime in Russia, and is generally described as the best living authority on the circumstances surrounding the death of the Russian imperial family.

In support of his accusation, Sokoloff has gathered more than 3,000 pages of testimony and a gruesome collection of photographs, bones and clothes. Among the evidence is a code telegram represented as an official report of the murders to the Moscow government by the Soviet officials at Ekaterinburg, where the crime is said to have occurred. It reads:

"Inform Sverdloff that the entire family has endured the same fate as the head. Officially, the family will perish during the evacuation."

The question of the Moscow soviet's responsibility for the death of Nicholas and his family was revived this week by M. Tchitcherine's statement at Genoa that responsibility rested with the local soviet, and that Moscow did not know of the executions until after they happened, because communication between Moscow and Ekaterinburg was cut off through Czechoslovakian occupation. The statement has been the subject of agitation and denial among Russian exiles in Paris, and Sokoloff issued his report with the intention of furnishing final and definite proof that full responsibility not only for the murder of the former emperor, but of his wife and four daughters, is upon the Moscow government.

FIRE DAMAGES TOTAL $50,000

Flames Sweep Upper Floor of the National Poolroom Building.

Four Firms Suffer Heavy Losses in Blaze On Dundas Street.

Fire, originating in a pile of waste, excelsior and tags on the top floor of the National Poolroom Building, 197 Dundas street, late Friday night, caused a total estimated damage of $50,000 to the several business concerns occupying the block, the National Poolroom, the Starr Phonograph Company, the Campbell Hosiery Company, and the Owen Shoe Store.

The several losses incurred by the occupants of the building are as follows:

Charles Catalano, owner of the National Poolroom, $25,000; Starr Phonograph Company, $10,000; Campbell Hosiery Company, $5,000; Owen Shoe Store, $10,000.

Totals, $50,000. Most of the loss is covered by insurance. The building itself is held under lease by Charles Catalano, who rents the parts of the building not used by bowling alleys and billiard tables to the above-mentioned companies.

Alarm Given at 10:43.

The first alarm was turned in at 10:43 by Constable Frank Graham from the alarm box at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets. No. 1 wagon from the central fire hall arrived on the scene four minutes later exactly. An alarm was turned in simultaneously with the one Eastmount avenue, brick-veneer cottage, $2,500; F. Hill, 132 Adelaide street, 2-story brick, $4,200; J. B. Campbell, 197 General avenue, remodel duplex, $1,500.

Stanton's combustion of the waste or else a match or cigarette butt, thrown away by workmen before 6 o'clock, is the cause attributed by Fire Chief Aitken for the fire.

Most of the damage done to the stocks of the various companies was by water, since the flames were confined to the upper story only. Four lines of hose were directed on the fire, which centered largely in the east end of the building.

Two lines were taken up the stairway through the Owen Shoe Store, one from a ladder placed on Dundas street.

Winnipeg Labor Men Decide To Hold Monster Demonstration on May Day

Winnipeg, April 29.—At a meeting of Winnipeg radical labor men last night it was decided to hold a monster parade on May Day.

The majority of labor men in Winnipeg belong to the radical element as they did in days of the big strike. These include all street railway employees, all workers in the vast railway shops located here, outside of international organizations, garment workers, who are very strong in membership here, cigarmakers, and many of the building trades and teamsters associations.

The O. R. U. and workers' party of Canada will finance the demonstration.

The chief banner will be "Communism is only cure for disease of capitalism." All labor men who served terms in penitentiary and jail following the last strike, will be the principal speakers at the close of the parade. Another banner will be labelled, "Greetings to Soviet Republic." Red flags will be prominent throughout the parade, but in accordance with bylaws of the city and Union Jacks of large design must head the parade.

There has been no mass movement of Christianity in Japan as in India and Korea, but there is a constant winning of converts. The great work to be done is amongst the women and teen age boys. They are naturally clever and if proper facilities are provided for a Christian education, I am firmly convinced Japan will make progress which will amaze the Western hemisphere.

DECLARES UNCHRISTIANIZED JAPAN MENACE TO WORLD

TWENTY-THREE years experience in the mission fields of Japan, has given Miss A. L. Archer, who is spending a short furlough with her brother, H. B. Archer, 452 St. James street, an intimate knowledge of the conditions in that country affecting the political and religious situation.

"A Japan, educated, but unchristianized, is a great menace," stated Miss Archer, "but a Japan, both educated and Christianized, would prove a magnificent boon to the whole world. But a small proportion of the missionary efforts are made in the cause of Japan, and yet people of this country are amazed to learn that there are still eight million idols in Japan and superstition and ignorance still retain firm hold upon a vast amount of the population. However, on the other hand educational facilities, of which the younger generation are not slow to take advantage, are constantly advancing. But in the education of the young Japanese, there arises the greatest danger of the race falling into the hands of the Japanese agnosticism. Educated, the Japanese if Christianity is not presented to him, he becomes a devotee of materialism.

"The Japanese have been depending on education for progress, and in scientific knowledge they have advanced rapidly. It yet remains for them to make similar progress in the Christian religion. At present, the conditions of idolatry and immorality are unspeakable. The city of Isis, known as the Mecca of Japan, where are supposed to rest the spirits of all the emperors, is a city of the greatest religious fervor and idol worship and at the same time, immorality is rampant.

"And yet in the face of all these difficulties, Christianity is silently, almost imperceptibly gaining a sure foothold. One of the most encouraging signs is the fashion in which the Buddhists are imitating the practices

WANTS ALLIES TO GUARANTEE RUSSIAN CREDIT

Tchitcherine Sends Note to Premier Facta of Italy Demanding Assurance.

FUNDS FOR RESTORATION

British Propose That Country Recognize All Her Debts.

BULLETIN.

Paris, April 29.—A meeting of the entire French cabinet has been called for Sunday night, when Vice-Premier Louis Barthou, head of the French Genoa delegation will outline the conference situation.

Genoa, April 29.—Foreign Minister Tchitcherine of Russia today sent Premier Facta of Italy, as president of the economic conference, a note expressing the dissatisfaction of the Russian delegation with the delay in saying the note would be withdrawn and the Russians would resume their initial position unless they were assured that the credits necessary to restore Russia would be granted.

The correspondent of the Central News says he learns that the British draft proposals to Russia set forth eight points, the principal of which is that Russia shall recognize all her debts, and after a moratorium of five years, pay two per cent interest for five years, and then four per cent for another five years.

Private Ownership.

The document does not specify that Russia must accept the principle of ownership, but demands long leases of private property to its former owners. A credit scheme to finance trade would be favorably considered if Russia accepted the proposals.

M. Tchitcherine, chief soviet delegate at first refused to comment on the proposals, according to the correspondent. Later, he said, the British draft might be a basis for negotiation, and then, looking at the French draft, he shook his head as though dismissing it entirely.

France would demand that, if private property cannot be restored, the former owners be indemnified. The French further desire an arrangement for payment of interest on the Russian state bonds. Failing an agreement before Dec. 31, next, the matter would be decided by a mixed arbitration tribunal with an impartial chairman.

The sub-committee on credits of the economic conference under the presidency of Sir Basil Blackett yesterday adopted the following resolutions:

Depends on Credits.

First, the restoration of Europe depends largely on conditions under which private credits can flow from countries in a position to make loans to countries having need of outside help. Such loans should be made from government to government only in exceptional cases. In order to develop this flow of private credits it is necessary that all countries put their public finances and currency in their proper perspective and that countries seeking loans should offer sufficient guarantees. It is necessary to adopt a special system during the present transitory period in order immediately to cause the flow of capital, permitting the richer countries to Turn to Page 18, Column 3.

FATHER WRITES WINNIPEG CHIEF OF SUSPICIONS

Blind Musician Husband Arrested by Toronto Police in Vancouver.

FACES ABORTION CHARGE

J. H. Duncan Alleges Prisoner Insured Life of Daughter.

Special to London Advertiser.

Winnipeg, April 29.—Fear that his daughter, Marion Duncan, who left London, Ontario, as the bride of a supposedly blind musician, is no longer alive, is entertained by J. H. Duncan of London.

Clarence Lloyd, the musician, left Vancouver today in charge of an officer from the Toronto police department, who arrested him on a charge of abortion. He is being taken to Ontario for trial.

According to Police Chief Chris H. Newton of this city, information charging Lloyd with crimes ranging from drug peddling to murder has been filed with him.

Of the girl, who went through the form of marriage with Lloyd in Edmonton last July, no trace has been found. In fact, her father claims she has been missing since last October. Played In Street.

During the fall of 1921 Lloyd played his banjo and guitar on the streets of Winnipeg for five weeks, obtaining a fair living from generous passersby.

Information regarding Lloyd has been piling up in the office of Police Chief Newton, and a series of communications led to the arrest of the street minstrel on the coast a few days ago.

On the streets, as he accepted several prominent citizens of this city, Lloyd appeared to be nothing more than an unfortunate blind man who had been robbed of much of his life's joy by the loss of his sight, but according to the letters Mr. Duncan has written Newton, Lloyd lived another life crowded with mysterious circumstances.

Lloyd Not Blind.

Lloyd is not blind, Duncan states. It is claimed that he obtained the Duncan girl by advertising for an assistant with musical ability.

With him at the time he met Miss Duncan was a ten-year-old girl alleged to have been his daughter, of whom he has been trying to rid himself, the missing girl's father alleges.

Further, the distracted parent charges, Lloyd previously had two other wives and several children, all of whom disappeared.

The musician's little daughter, Duncan believes, is concealed in a school or convent in the vicinity of Winnipeg.

To support his firm conviction that his daughter is dead, the parent alleges Lloyd insured her life against accident or death.

FEAR REPRISAL FROM BELFAST

Cork Aroused Over Outrages and Government Promises Justice.

Believed It Is Sequel to McMahon Killings in North.

Dublin, April 29.—The slaying of several prominent citizens of Cork yesterday has aroused a sensation here equal to that caused when several members of the family of Owen MacMahon were killed in Belfast last month. The full story of the outrages is still lacking, especially the one in which either Rev. Richard Harbord of the Murragh rectory, or his son was the victim. Several reports agree that the son was the one killed, but none relates the circumstances.

It is widely believed here that the murders were intended in reprisal for the MacMahon killings, or rather for the impunity with which their authors remain at large, as many southerners have voiced their conviction that the MacMahons were killed by members of the special police.

The provisional government is credited with the declaration that these guilty for the Cork outrages will be brought to justice regardless of the time and effort this may take. The public here fears more terrible counter-reprisals in Belfast, which in their turn would have a sequel elsewhere.

The peace conference called by Lord Mayor O'Neill of Dublin held another meeting here today, but after a three-hour session it dissolved without any agreement having been reached.
