

Yesterday's Municipal Elections.

We give below a full statement of the polling in the various wards yesterday, as we have been able to obtain. In No. 1 the result is divided between the two parties. In No. 2 we are informed that the contest was quite bitter. In No. 4 and 11 the elections went off calmly.

Ward 1. R. A. Baker, John Hawkins. Ward 2. J. R. Elliott, A. C. G. Ward 3. J. R. Elliott, A. C. G. Ward 4. A. C. G., Majority 82. Ward 5. George Leitch, Majority 72. Ward 6. S. W. W. Pickap, Acia. Ward 7. Ward 8. James P. Ross, Acia. Ward 9. Richard Clark, Acia. Ward 10. William Healy, James J. Rifeha, Acia. Ward 11. W. A. Fowler, Maj. 34. Ward 12. John Shaffer, Majority 14. Ward 13. Ward 14. Ward 15. Joshua Backler, Maj. 10.

LAWRENCE ITEMS. A light fall of snow on Saturday evening. W. G. Best's home to be sold Sunday. West, Pettis, of the S. A., travels from here on Sunday, 23rd.

T. G. Bishop opens a general store in this town soon. The late showers of rain have put our roads in a muddy condition. The Agricultural Society have a meeting on the evening of the 21st.

Mr. Robert Warwick, who has been quite ill of late, is somewhat better. J. R. Elliott, Esq., lectures in Temperance Hall next Monday evening, the 24th. We all deeply regret the loss sustained by Mr. Byron Chesley. His many friends are sure to help him out.

Several petitions have come very near being injured by our very bad weather and snowfalls. They should be looked after. Miss Landers, who has been ill of late, is now able to be around. Her many friends will be pleased to hear this. The river bridge, and the road, are now in the most dangerous condition, and if not looked after soon some serious accident will happen.

Provincial Paragraphs. The Shelburne Budget says that some New York capitalists desire to secure a tract of land in Shelburne County for fishing and hunting purposes.

Hon. L. E. Baker and Mrs. Baker arrived here at Yarmouth from England, Wednesday, and in the evening were escorted by the Milton Band.

DEATHS.—Mr. Nicholson, of Ottawa, has secured the contract for building the Digby pier. His tender was the lowest and the amount is said to be $67,000.

The Dan and Raleigh agencies report 42 Canadian fishers during the past seven days and 20 for the corresponding week of last year. Bradford reports 46 this week.

ARRIVALS.—A Halifax dealer, wishing to procure a thousand barrels of winter wheat of good quality, received a dispatch from Montreal on Tuesday, October 24th, stating that he had secured 2000 barrels of the same.

ASSASSIN.—Byron F. Lead of Yarmouth, who has been doing business at Meteghan River has assigned for the benefit of his creditors to Edgar K. Spinyard of Yarmouth.

The work connecting the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick telephone lines is being proceeded with the utmost rapidity. Halifax will be able to talk with St. John and Fredericton.

James McKeever, a Nova Scotia agent, 40, one of the Western Union construction gang, was killed last Thursday at Hyde Park, Mass., by being struck by a train while lifting a pole of the track.

Judge Steadman's libel suit against the St. John Sun was finished last Thursday night and the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant. Steadman is said to have been fined $1000.

Mr. John McArthur, first officer on the steamer City of Montreal, has resigned. Mr. Lawson, formerly second officer, has been promoted to the vacancy. Mr. Charles McArthur, Digby, succeeds Mr. Lawson.

In response to an invitation from Archbishop O'Brien of Halifax, several Anabaptist parishes in Nova Scotia, the intention is to open at once a college for the Canadian youth of the province.

BREWER.—The remains of Mrs. C. Shaw, formerly of Berwick, who died in Halifax, last week, Mr. Shaw, accompanied by the mother of his deceased wife, Mrs. Skinner, arrived in Berwick on Thursday.

Charges have been brought to the notice of the provincial government against B. Yachilcom, high sheriff for Digby county, by certain parties in the county. The government has ordered an investigation to come off shortly, and the name will be watched with interest by both sides of the political divide.

SUNDAY DRUNKENESS is on the increase in Halifax, according to the Report of the Board of Health. There is an unusual amount of drunkenness observable on the streets on recent Sundays, especially in the forenoon, many men reeling around as the churches are coming out. There is no doubt a great deal of unwholesome liquor-selling, particularly on Sundays.

STEAMER FANCHON, of the Dominion Line, passed Father Point, Quebec, on Wednesday and reported having succeeded in effecting a successful voyage. The bridge and chart books were washed away, and Captain Lindsay and one of the ship's quartermasters were lost on Friday morning last. The Fanchon left Liverpool on October 29th.

REVENUE $10,000 A YEAR.—Monestonians will remember Rev. A. M. Milligan, then the student, who conducted services in the Presbyterian church for four years. It is stated that this gentleman has refused the pastorate of the Park St. Congregational church. A block with a three-quarter inch rope through it was placed near that which the chain was hung, and by means of this chain and tackle the weight was run up, until the fastenings of some of these presents, to be attached to the chain. The weight hung to a chain held by an iron pin, which, when pulled out of place by a small rope, released the weight. Inside the jail, in the rotunda, a line of iron rods extended from the door of the corridor leading to the west ward. For half an hour a couple of hundred people were in the yard, for the crowd had been able to secure admittance numbered so many, stood about kicking their toes to keep away the front rank which still glittered on the grass. Deputy Sheriff Perry was officiating in the uniform and sword of his office, was to the governor's office before the execution, and followed the procession out to see his convict, the hangman do the job. Dr. Rice, god son of the man, went up to Birichall's cell early in the morning and joined Rev. Rival Dean. Birichall's main friend and college chum, of Montreal, met him and went to the cell at 7:45 o'clock. Dr. Rice came down the corridor of the prison at once with his friend and his spiritual adviser. At 8:10 o'clock the hangman, having completed preparations outside, came in with Birichall in a black veil, long black Prince Albert coat, and, removing his hat, walked about in the goal barbed. At 8:23 inspector, Deputy Sheriff Perry and Campt, the day guard, and George Perry entered the cell, and the executioner was beckoned to go up. He had been walking around the rotunda, having Birichall in his hands the straps with which to fasten Birichall's arms, waiting for the signal to go up. A minute or two only took to strap the prisoner's arms behind his back. Then the awful march to death began at 8:23 o'clock.

First done Rural Dean Wade in surplice, and reading the Church of England service for the dead, behind him Dr. Chamberlain, followed by A. D. Stewart and Deputy Sheriff Perry. The prisoner came next, dressed in black, with his hands down, the stars with one hand on the railing, for on his elbows down his arms were free.

Birichall Hangs.

COULD DO HIS DUTY AND MARRY DEATH BRACKET.

Woodstock, Ont., Nov. 14.—Prisoners Birichall ate a good supper to fortify himself for the last night. It was after midnight when he rose and dressed himself. His first meal of the day was also at 2 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The afternoon was spent receiving the visits of the bishop of Huron and Rev. Rural Dean Wade. Afterward Dr. Rice, the god surgeon, was with him for a considerable time. At 7 o'clock Birichall had just finished supper when carriage drove up to the door of the prison. It contained Mrs. Birichall, Mrs. West-Jones and Mr. Lesham. All three went into the goal, but only Mrs. Birichall climbed the circular iron stairs to her husband's corridor. Her sister and Mr. Lesham went into the governor's office to wait for Mrs. Birichall and did not themselves see the prisoner. In the office, lying under the desk, but in plain view of them, was a pile of ropes and tackle suspiciously like the hangman's apparatus. This Mrs. Birichall saw and almost fainted. She could no longer remain in the office and for a time waited in the rotunda of the goal. At 8 o'clock she and her companion left the goal and returned to the hotel, leaving Mrs. Birichall in the corridor with the prisoner. At 8 o'clock they entered their carriage at the hotel and again went to the goal, dismounting at the driver with instructions to come at 10 o'clock for them.

A light fall of snow on Saturday evening. W. G. Best's home to be sold Sunday. West, Pettis, of the S. A., travels from here on Sunday, 23rd. T. G. Bishop opens a general store in this town soon. The late showers of rain have put our roads in a muddy condition. The Agricultural Society have a meeting on the evening of the 21st. Mr. Robert Warwick, who has been quite ill of late, is somewhat better. J. R. Elliott, Esq., lectures in Temperance Hall next Monday evening, the 24th. We all deeply regret the loss sustained by Mr. Byron Chesley. His many friends are sure to help him out. Several petitions have come very near being injured by our very bad weather and snowfalls. They should be looked after. Miss Landers, who has been ill of late, is now able to be around. Her many friends will be pleased to hear this. The river bridge, and the road, are now in the most dangerous condition, and if not looked after soon some serious accident will happen.

Provincial Paragraphs. The Shelburne Budget says that some New York capitalists desire to secure a tract of land in Shelburne County for fishing and hunting purposes.

Hon. L. E. Baker and Mrs. Baker arrived here at Yarmouth from England, Wednesday, and in the evening were escorted by the Milton Band.

DEATHS.—Mr. Nicholson, of Ottawa, has secured the contract for building the Digby pier. His tender was the lowest and the amount is said to be $67,000.

The Dan and Raleigh agencies report 42 Canadian fishers during the past seven days and 20 for the corresponding week of last year. Bradford reports 46 this week.

ARRIVALS.—A Halifax dealer, wishing to procure a thousand barrels of winter wheat of good quality, received a dispatch from Montreal on Tuesday, October 24th, stating that he had secured 2000 barrels of the same.

ASSASSIN.—Byron F. Lead of Yarmouth, who has been doing business at Meteghan River has assigned for the benefit of his creditors to Edgar K. Spinyard of Yarmouth.

The work connecting the Nova Scotia and New Brunswick telephone lines is being proceeded with the utmost rapidity. Halifax will be able to talk with St. John and Fredericton.

James McKeever, a Nova Scotia agent, 40, one of the Western Union construction gang, was killed last Thursday at Hyde Park, Mass., by being struck by a train while lifting a pole of the track.

Judge Steadman's libel suit against the St. John Sun was finished last Thursday night and the jury returned a verdict in favor of the defendant. Steadman is said to have been fined $1000.

Mr. John McArthur, first officer on the steamer City of Montreal, has resigned. Mr. Lawson, formerly second officer, has been promoted to the vacancy. Mr. Charles McArthur, Digby, succeeds Mr. Lawson.

In response to an invitation from Archbishop O'Brien of Halifax, several Anabaptist parishes in Nova Scotia, the intention is to open at once a college for the Canadian youth of the province.

BREWER.—The remains of Mrs. C. Shaw, formerly of Berwick, who died in Halifax, last week, Mr. Shaw, accompanied by the mother of his deceased wife, Mrs. Skinner, arrived in Berwick on Thursday.

Charges have been brought to the notice of the provincial government against B. Yachilcom, high sheriff for Digby county, by certain parties in the county. The government has ordered an investigation to come off shortly, and the name will be watched with interest by both sides of the political divide.

SUNDAY DRUNKENESS is on the increase in Halifax, according to the Report of the Board of Health. There is an unusual amount of drunkenness observable on the streets on recent Sundays, especially in the forenoon, many men reeling around as the churches are coming out. There is no doubt a great deal of unwholesome liquor-selling, particularly on Sundays.

STEAMER FANCHON, of the Dominion Line, passed Father Point, Quebec, on Wednesday and reported having succeeded in effecting a successful voyage. The bridge and chart books were washed away, and Captain Lindsay and one of the ship's quartermasters were lost on Friday morning last. The Fanchon left Liverpool on October 29th.

REVENUE $10,000 A YEAR.—Monestonians will remember Rev. A. M. Milligan, then the student, who conducted services in the Presbyterian church for four years. It is stated that this gentleman has refused the pastorate of the Park St. Congregational church. A block with a three-quarter inch rope through it was placed near that which the chain was hung, and by means of this chain and tackle the weight was run up, until the fastenings of some of these presents, to be attached to the chain. The weight hung to a chain held by an iron pin, which, when pulled out of place by a small rope, released the weight. Inside the jail, in the rotunda, a line of iron rods extended from the door of the corridor leading to the west ward. For half an hour a couple of hundred people were in the yard, for the crowd had been able to secure admittance numbered so many, stood about kicking their toes to keep away the front rank which still glittered on the grass. Deputy Sheriff Perry was officiating in the uniform and sword of his office, was to the governor's office before the execution, and followed the procession out to see his convict, the hangman do the job. Dr. Rice, god son of the man, went up to Birichall's cell early in the morning and joined Rev. Rival Dean. Birichall's main friend and college chum, of Montreal, met him and went to the cell at 7:45 o'clock. Dr. Rice came down the corridor of the prison at once with his friend and his spiritual adviser. At 8:10 o'clock the hangman, having completed preparations outside, came in with Birichall in a black veil, long black Prince Albert coat, and, removing his hat, walked about in the goal barbed. At 8:23 inspector, Deputy Sheriff Perry and Campt, the day guard, and George Perry entered the cell, and the executioner was beckoned to go up. He had been walking around the rotunda, having Birichall in his hands the straps with which to fasten Birichall's arms, waiting for the signal to go up. A minute or two only took to strap the prisoner's arms behind his back. Then the awful march to death began at 8:23 o'clock.

First done Rural Dean Wade in surplice, and reading the Church of England service for the dead, behind him Dr. Chamberlain, followed by A. D. Stewart and Deputy Sheriff Perry. The prisoner came next, dressed in black, with his hands down, the stars with one hand on the railing, for on his elbows down his arms were free.

His step was steady. His jet black hair and mustache made the pallor of his face like marble. He was dressed in dark clothing, a white flannel shirt with black bow tie and collar and light patent leather shoes. He looked so young and so much like a man of the world, that it was not surprising that he had so many admirers. He had a fine figure, a good complexion, and a pleasant expression. He was a man of the world, and a man of the world.

At the foot of the spiral staircase the procession reformed and his friend Mr. Lesham walked on one side with the day guard, George Perry on the other. Gorder followed them, and after the hangman had closed the door of the corridor overlooking the west ward. On one side of the prisoner Leatham walked close and held onto him in both of his hands with the assurance of a man's heart. On the right side Day Guard Perry held Birichall's arm, walking in front and partly backward. The hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about 15 feet from the gallows. On the right side of the gallows stood the day guard, George Perry, and on the left side of the gallows stood the hangman, a burly deputy sheriff, grasped Birichall's right hand. Outside, the witnesses were gathered in a semicircle 40 feet from the gallows. The chief witnesses were the principal actors in the tragedy stopped with their charge about