schools in Manitoba during seventy-five schools in Manitoba during seventy-five years," when commenting on this change of front, said: "What a pity that this most learned doctor did not persevere in so just an appreciation of what can assure the social happiness of a country! What a misfortune he has what he so properly calls, a bone of contention to disturb the prevailing harmony! But let the incomp rable doctor analyze his bone. Who knows, it is perhaps a relic of immense ethnographic value unearthed since 1882, in exploring some Indian Mound." Much as we value any opinion coming from so shrewed an observer of men and things The Cheapest Place to Buy as was the great Archbishop of St. Boniface, yet we believe that the whole blame of the Rev. Doctor's changing moods and many peculiarities is to be laid at the door of the higher education. This suggests the question, is higher education conducive, in all persons, to the welfare of the state?

Blessing of the Bell.

o Sunday October 21 was a red letter day for the parish of St. Joachim's, Edmon-ton. His Lordship, Bishop V. Grandin was there on a special visit, the occasion being the blessing of the bell that His Lordship has so liberally given to the congregation. At 3 o'clock p. m., the provisory church was crowded by the parishioners to witness the ceremony. parishments to witness the ceremony. Appropriate hymns were sung, after which the bishop gave a few explanatory words in French relative to the ceremony about to be performed. Rev. Father Leduc then delivered an able and forcible address in English in which the gold that a hell is a voice and messhe said that a bell is a voice and messhe said that a bell is a voice and mess-enger for the parish. It is a messenger of joy and of mourning; of joy announc-ing the good tidings of the birth of citi-zens, after baptism, of rejoicing after the happy marriage; but of mourning when telling to the world the departure of your fellow men from this earth. After the performance of the blessing, the bishop and the clergy rang the bell, followed by the sponsors and the con-gregation. The offerings amounted to $70. Rev. Father Lacombe feels very thankful for the generosity and large thankful for the generosity and large attendance of his parishioners.
