The Lord Bishop of Ontario and Mrs. Mills sailed for England on Friday last. Colonel Albert Gooderham and Mrs. Gooderham, Deancroft, are staying at the Hotel Metropole in London.

Mrs. Cawthra Mulock spent the weend with Sir William Mulock at country place.

Captain Basil Pantazzi, who married Miss Greening, is in command of a Roumanian gunboat. His uncle is admiral of the Roumanian fleet.

Mrs. Norman Allen earned the thanks of the many guests who thronged her drawing rooms on Saturday aftermoon for a very designiful hour, the hostess looking extremely well in black satin, with chiffon and real lace on the corbage. Her sisters, Mrs. Pirie and Mrs. Hirschfelder, were with her, and Mrs. Rorke and Mrs. Henry presided over the tea and coffee at tables decorated with roses and carnations. Their assistants were the Misses Hearst, Marjorle Ritchie, H. Pyne, Audrey Hale, Enid Snow, Hilda Newman, Pegsy Foster, Constance Henderson and Miss Richardson. There were a number of men present, even busy Dr. Allen coming in for a few minutes to introduce Mrs. Henshaw, who gave a short address on the subject so dear to her heart, as agent of the National Service Commission, namely the procuring of the Christmas wallets for the Canadian soldiers serving abroad. The musical part of the program was contributed by Mrs. Pirie (Montreal), Mrs. Chadwick, Mr. Macqueen, Miss Grey, Mrs. Hirschfelder and Mrs. C'Mara.

Mrs. and Miss McKissop (Sudbury) have come to spend the winter in Toronto. Mr. McKissop has been a prisoner in many since May last.

The Sunday evening meeting of the Citizens' Recruiting League took place last night in the Arena, even its capacity being taxed to accommodate the crowd. The Rev. Mr. Price (New York), rabbi of the synagogue in University avenue, in making an impassioned plea to the young men to do their bit, was very emphatic on the absolute neutrality of himself and his fellow-citizens of the United States, but equally emphatic in his statement that for the world's good "Germany must be beaten." Mrs. Henshaw expects to sail for England on the Baltic Dec. 1.

Mrs. Houston, Sir Mackenzie Bowell's niece, has returned from Tweed.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Macklem have come to Toronto from Niagara-on-the-Lake, where Mr. Macklem was manager of the Imperial Bank for many years. They have taken a house in Algonquin Mrs. Moore, from Woodstock, is staying with her sister, Mrs. Heber Phillips.

EACH MAN TO GET A CHRISTMAS GIFT

Announcement Made at Recruiting Meeting in Arena Last Night.

Several Addresses and Fine Musical Program Heard By Audience.

"To every fighting Canadian, Christmas gift." An announcement showing how this could be accomplished was made at last night's recruiting meeting at the Arena, by Mrs. J. W. Henshaw, Vancouver. The Canadian branch of the National Service Committee wanted 100,000 quarters for 100,000 gifts. Where to send the money would be announced later thru the newspapers. General Alderson, head of the Canadians in France, had suggested that the gift consist of a "wellet of stationery" (paper, pencils "wallet of stationery" (paper, pencils and envelopes). Mrs. Henshaw said she expected to sail for overseas on December 1 with the gifts, and intend-ed to try and deliver every parcel per-

The meeting was attended by about 2000 people. A fine musical program was given by the band of the 109th Regiment. Dr. Norman Allen presided.

In an address Rev. Dr. Price, rabbi of University Avenue Synegative of University Avenue Synagogue, ridiculed Prussia's recent declaration, that it would not sign peace articles unless "freedom for the Jews all the world over" was assured. He quoted statements by leading Prussians, which proved that as a matter of fact anti-Semitism really emanated from Prussia. It was true the United States president had told the citizens to be neutral. "They were neutral," Dr. Price said, but "they don't give a

Dr. Cameron, pastor of Bloor Street Baptist Church, gave an address in which he said "the present war will be the wonder and horror of future generations." To those who thought he should not speak at recruiting meetings on Sunday nights, his answer was a quotation from Shakspere, "Write me down an ass." The rifles sent to the front from this country, he declared, would be used by the Canadians as "Canadian Bibles" by strong men in the protection of the

Ruse Worked Fine to Amazement of Fifty-Eighth Battalion.

TROOPS IN COAL CARS Got Right Into Port Credit

Camp and Cap-

Genet, and encamped at Port Credit. Saturday afternoon about 4 c'clock is not quite clear-in military termsbut an eye-witness, not official, says it was one of the most complete routs ever an army suffered. He says that one of the slickest ruses that was TWO THOUSAND THERE ever carried to a successful conclusion was that perpetrated by the so-called "enemy."

In this case it was a real enemy in so far as tactics were concerned, and it had a scheming commander, for he chose one of the simplest of ways to surprise the main body, and as is usually the case, the simple way won.
Outposts were stationed, to be sure,
out either they were too tired to pay much attention to an enemy or else the tactics were too much for them. At any rate the camp presented a strange appearance for a few minutes, and those who were responsible have undoubtedly explained the situation long before this.

ong before this.
On the arrival of the 58th Battalion at Port Credit, having seen few if any signs of the enemy all the way from Nlagara, the leg-weary lads pulled of Niagara, the leg-weary lads pulled off their boots, that is many of them did, and set about to administer a good washing. Others fell "kerfiop" in the sung, and an appropriate sermon, preached by Rev. G. R. Williams of St. John's Parish. washing. Others fell "kerfiop" in the shade of a tent or tree and were soon fast asleep. They worried not at all about an enemy, having put complete and unrestricted confidence in the outings, and after the camp had taken on an altogether "all rest" appearance (O, didn't the enemy have things timed right), along came a train of ordinary every day coal cars. There weren't many, but enough, and it looked very much as the a second-hand shunting engine was performing its regular daily tasks. How the crew must have laughed as nearer and nearer it approached without even a hint that the main body knew what was up.

On it came, just a few coal cars and an old shunting engine, past scouts, past sentries, not a sneeze was heard, not a titter or a groan, until at last it was fairly opposite the camp, then-care who licks the Germans."

A. E. Donovan, M.L.A., for Brock-ville, announced that this afternoon a committee would meet to start arrangements for the building of an Edith Cavell Home, possibly in connection with the Western Hospital.

Mayor Church in a brief speech reexerywhere—too surprised to know exactly what to do—the main troops, the brave lads who had come to the conclusion that no "enemy" existed, or if it did, was too scared to put in an appearance, scattered. Scattered is the word, none other could describe the melee. Out of the cars, over the fence, helter skelter the enemy flew, and as fast as thy could travel the troopers headed for a near-by woods.

They grabbed their guns but that was all. Bare footed, bare backed, some with only a towel to their credit, they had but one thought—the woods. everywhere—too surprised to know they had but one thought-the woods. In the meantime, prisoners were captured, equipment confiscated. Imaginary bullets flew from blank shells, a regular fusilade of "lead" ripped into the ranks of the fleeing scram-

That's all. The eye witness didn't wait for anything more. Orders filled the air. The coup had been a success. One thing tho, is sure, if the overseas men who were thus taken unawares ever come across a train of coal cars when they get to the battlefield, it will not get past and woe-betide the enemy found therein.

Commercial Travelers' Association Honors Mr. and Mrs. J. Sargent, at Golden Wedding.

The presentation of a handsome phonograph was made to Mrs. Sargent, wife of James Sargent, secretary of the Commercial Travelers' Association, Saturday afternoon on behalf of the board of directors. Mr. and Mrs. Sargent celebrate this year the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding, and it was in honor of this event that the gift was arranged, as well as in recognition of the services rendered the association by the secretary.

Among those present were Past Presidents H. Blain, J. C. Black, M. C. Ellis, J. Burns, A. A. Alian, R. Orr, T. McQuillan, J. Gibson, R. Gemmell and S. M. Sterling. An address was read which spoke very highly of the work accomprished by Mr. Sargent, who made a suitable reply.

CHRISTMAS BOXES TO TRENCHES. Last Christmas many availed themselves of the opportunity given them thru the Woman's Patriodic League of sending gifts to the soldiers direct thru an English firm. From letters received from the men these boxes all arrived in good condition. This year the same firm have sent out lists of Christmas boxes to be sent either to England or France. These can be obtained from $1.25 up, including postage, and contain cooked chickens, partridges, game pies, hams, canned meats and fruits, Christmas puddings and cakes, nuts and raisins, candies, pickles, dates, figs, tins of cocca, and coffee and smoking material or articles to suit individual tastes. This method not only saves heavy postal rates from Canada, but ensures freshness of goods. Orders should be sent by Nov. 15, and delivery on Christmas morning is guaranteed. Further information will be given at the Woman's Patriotic League, Sherbourne street, or a price list will be forwarded from 246 Huron street.

MUST NOT PUBLISH PICTURES OF NAVY

Photographs of His Majesty's Ships Forbidden to Be Sold or Handled.

Thru The Toronto World, the chief censor for Canada of the admiralty department wishes to draw the attention of booksellers and publishers to the fact that the publication or sale of picture post cards or photographs of His Majesty's ships is forbidden during the continuance of the war.
Such publications or sale of post cards of a character that might in any way assist enemy agents in their iden-tification of H.M. ships, is prohibited. Under the defence of the realm regulations, therefore dealings in articles of this character, whether by sale or otherwise, is prohibited for the time being.
