A most remarkable case of skin graft. ing has been accomplished here on little Wilhelmina, the three-year-old daughter of Mr. Simpson, Grantavenue. Six weeks ago, while playing with a companion, the little girl set fire to her dress with matches, and was badly burned about the body. She was immediately pur into an antisettic before burned about the body. She was immediately put into an antiseptic bath and then placed in bed. In a few days the doctors saw that the only hope for the child's life was in grafting. He accordingly procurred a perfectly healthy chicken and had it treated specially for the purpose. The small pieces of skin were then put on the burned parts of the child's body, and now it is expected that within two months the patient will have recoverd.

Time Well Chosen.

W. D. Macpherson thought the time was well chosen, as the by-elections could hardly take place before Aug. 12. because, while holding the by-elections before or about that date would inconvenience the Conservatives, it would trouble the government more, and he thought that the latter were not likely to run any risks by hurrying the likely to run any risks by hurrying the elections on during the harvesting time, especially as they desired to hold on to power as long as they could.

After some discussion, the report of the Geounds Committee, fixing on the oval at Hanlan's Point, was carried.

After considering the various arguments for and against the date fixed, it was unanimously decided not to change it from Aug. 12. Where to Spend Sunday. Take the steamer Argyle, leaving
